Yanks Battle Each Other In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam, (AP) — Apparently mistaking each other for Communist guerrillas, U.S. soldiers fought a battle against each other at an airstrip 65 miles south of Saigon Thursday night.

One was killed and another was wounded.

U.S. military authorities, disclosing the gun battle Saturday, classified the incident as accidental.

The Army in Washington identified the dead soldier as Spec. 5 Carl Ballard of Madill, Okla., and the wounded man as Spec. 4 Donald L. Whitehouse, Crofton, Ky.

Details of the incident were sketchy.

Council to Face Decision in Sign Ordinance Dispute

One of the most important agendas to face the Colorado Springs City Council in recent months is scheduled for the City Council meeting at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Little Theatre of the City Auditorium.

Decisions will be made on the controversial amendment to the city's freeway sign ordinance, and on the City Planning Commission's proposed Land Use Plan for the Peterson Field vicinity.

The planning commission has voiced its dissatisfaction with the freeway sign ordinance amendment. It has approved the Land Use Plan.

The meeting Tuesday will be held in the Little Theatre because of remodeling at City Hall.

Unfinished business will be:

Annexation of Garden of the Gods Addition No. 1, which consists of 50 acres southwest of the intersection of Gateway Road and North 30th Street (second reading).

Amending ordinance concerning the investment of police department relief funds (second reading), plus a similar one for the fire department (also on second reading).

Ordinance providing for the issurance and prescribing the form of bonds for Improvement District No. 63 (second reading).

Proposal by Attorney Donald LaMora, in behalf of Ramada Inn, for an amendment to the freeway sign ordinance.

Proposal by the Planning Commission in connection with a land use plan for that area in the vicinity of Peterson Field. The commission approved such a plan in public session May 29.

Appointment to the Park and Recreation Advisory Board.

Application by Melba Ives for a beer, wine and liquor license for the Shamrock Restaurant and Bar, the license for which has been ransferred by Council to 118 S. Tejon St.

New council business will be:

JUNIOR COWPOKES—All dressed up and ready for the Kiddies Dress-Up Revue slated for 9 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 3 at Acacia Park, are Gary Bales, 7, and Bambi French, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. French of 3018 N. Prospect St. Both children are wearing cowboy outfits typical of that worn by working cowboys and cowgirls in the west. Whether or not the two youngsters win an engraved horse trophy or belt buckle designated for the top three cowboys and cowgirls, they will be treated to a Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo ticket and an ice cream bar just for participating in the annual revue sponsored by the Gazette Telegraph and the Pikes Peak Rodeo Assn. Kids Dress-Up Revue Set for Acacia Park

Beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, Acacia Park will be busier than a dude on a buckin' horse as hundreds of boys and girls parade in the annual Kiddies Dress-up Revue.

Object of the gala western event is to select the most typically-dressed working cowboy and cowgirl from the herd of kids who will parade across the big stage in hopes of winning one of the many prizes.

The contest is open to every child in the area with the maximum age set at 15. Minimum age can vary as the judges ask that participants be old enough to walk across the big platform without assistance.

To enter the revue and vie for one of the prizes, children need only to arrive at park at 9 a.m. and get in line. The rest of the morning's program is pretty much up to the judges, local ranchers who know just how a cowboy and cowgirl need to dress to round up cattle or rope a calf.

This year there will be three divisions in the contest. The main event is for the working cowboy and cowgirl. The boy and girl selected by the judges in that division as winners will each receive a handsome engraved horse trophy. The second and third place winners will each receive an engraved belt buckle.

Another division will be limited to riding club members who have been selected by their clubs to represent them in the big revue. In this division, the top boy and girl from each club will compete with the winners receiving an engraved horse trophy.

Another division, open to all children is called the western costume class. In this class, one child will be selected as winner and receive a horse trophy and the second and third place winners will receive belt buckles.

But every kid who walks across the stage before the judges and who is dressed appropriately, will receive a free ticket to the big Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo slated for Aug. 7-10 at Penrose Stadium.

A special bonus to all participants this year will be an ice cream bar treat — given to each child after the dress revue.

Emergency Drought Aid Distributed in 15 States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said Saturday the government is providing emergency assistance to farmers in drought areas of 15 states.

The states hit by drought are Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Wisconsin.

In a roundup of drought damage the department said:

—Abandonment of winter wheat has been heavy in the Southern Plains where winter - injured wheat fields were subjected to severe spring drought. June rainfall in the area replenished soil moisture but generally came too late to help winter wheat.

—Severe drought in Colorado limited the acreage seeded to spring wheat, while dry soils during May delayed spring wheat seeding in parts of the Northern Plains, including areas in Montana. A substantial portion of winter wheat acreage in Colorado was abandoned, and yields were seriously reduced on winter wheat acreage remaining for harvest.

—Severe winter kill coupled with drought during April and early May resulted in generally poor production of oats in the Southern Plains. Dry soil conditions hindered oats development in northwest Montana and the Eastern Slope of Colorado. Recent widespread showers relieved dry topsoil conditions that had been developing in the heavy producing corn belt.

—Sorghums in the coastal bend area of Texas were damaged by drought. Cotton prospects in the same area also were reduced by drought. High temperatures and short moisture helped lower yield prospects for southern Maryland tobacco.

The June report on wind erosion in the Great Plains gave

Scheduled Central Airlines Walkout Is Called Off

DENVER (UPI)— A scheduled walkout against Central Airlines at airports in Denver, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and in five other states was called off Friday.

The Airline Employes Association, AFL-CIO, made its decision at the request of the National Mediation Board. The strike had been scheduled for next Wednesday.

The AEA agreed to meet with Federal Mediator James Holaren and Central officials in Fort Worth next Friday.

Herst Reported 'Much Better'

Ray Herst, Gazette Telegraph reporter who was seriously injured Wednesday night in an auto accident near Wetmore, was reported "much improved" Saturday.

Herst is in St. Joseph's Hospital in Florence where he has been under medical care since the accident.

It was reported that Herst showed no signs of internal injuries and that the partially collapsed lung which he suffered in the crash has now been expanded. His temperature also had gone down.

Herst's doctor said that he had only a trace of congestion.

The reporter is expected to be moved to a Colorado Springs hospital later this week, if his condition continues to improve.

Herst was injured in a jeep accident which took the life of Hollings C. Renton Jr., the Gazette Telegraph cirulation manager. Funeral services for Mr. Renton were held at St. Mary's Church at 9 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be at 11 a.m. Monday at the Fort Logan National Cemetery.

Defense Pact With Red China May Be Scrapped by Russians

LONDON (UPI) — Russia was reported here today to have threatened to scrap its 30-year defense treaty with Red China.

Well-placed Communist diplomats, who do not wish to be identified, said Moscow has warned Peking that the Soviet Union will not come to Red China's rescue if the Peking regime's militant policies land it in war.

The defense treaty of mutual assistance and friendship, concluded in Moscow early in 1950 with Mao Tze-tung, is the backbone of the Sino-Soviet alignment.

The Kremlin, the sources indicated, has made it clear to the Chinese Communist regime it will not consider itself bound by the treaty provisions for automatic assistance in the light of the Peking's rejection of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's policy of peaceful co-existence.

The Russians, according to the sources, are increasingly worried that Red China's mounting belligerency could lead to military clashes in Asia and the Far East, and they do not want to get involved.

The warning to Red China was said to be intended to put the Peking leaders on firm notice that — treaty or no treaty — Russia will not allow its hand to be forced by the Mao regime.

The Kremlin was said to be prepared to scrap the defense pact altogether. This, the sources indicated, would almost certainly follow a break between the two Communist giants, now considered imminent.

Test Ban Pact in Sight, Nikita Says in Moscow

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Saturday night a nuclear test ban agreement is in sight if Big Three negoatiations in Moscow continue their present course.

Real progress clearly has been made on drafting a ban on test explosions in the earth's atmosphere, outer space and under water. The delegates have shelved the idea of trying to agree on banning underground tests. The Americans say such a ban would require a thorough inspection system. Khrushchev has refused to accept this, calling it espionage.

Going even beyond his statement Friday that "we are under the impression that there is hope now of achieving agreement," the Soviet leader told diplomats at a Kremlin reception for Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar:

"The talks have been going on well. There have been no obstacles. If they go on as they have, an agreement is in sight."

Khrushchev seemed to want to be sure his optimism got attention.

With a wave of a hand, he summoned Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman to hear the comment. Harriman, chief of the U.S. delegation in the American-British-Soviet parley, was leaving to attend a Russian-American track meet.

It was one of the few moments of serious talk at the reception, held in the Kremlin's big Czarist period St. George Hall.

This was the second time Khrushchev had talked to Harriman about the test ban negotiations. Khrushchev opened the talks last Monday with a long session at which apparently he outlined a lot of ideas about things he wanted to come from the conference.

Khrushchev's proposals complicated the negotiations, but clearly opened the way to later talks which apparently are headed for a summit meeting, perhaps in the fall.

There is no agreement on a summit meeting. But President Kennedy has indicated he is ready for such talks, provided there is something to be accomplished. And both Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain ordinarily like face-to-face meetings at high level.

Nevertheless Khrushchev Friday revived a Russian proposal of 1958 for an inspection system of

18 Seamen Perish, 16 Missing in Ship Collision

QUEBEC (AP)—A big British ore carrier making its way through heavy fog collided with a freighter half its size and sank in the St. Lawrence River early Saturday. Late Saturday night Quebec police counted at least 18 dead, 16 missing and 17 survivors in the river tragedy.

Maritime officials said the carrier went down so swiftly there was no time for an SOS.

A marine radio estimate earlier had put the toll at 22 dead based on a report from the tug Foundation Valiant, which was directing the search for survivors. Authorities said a final tally was still to come.

Coloradoan Lone Survivor in Plane Disaster

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (UPI) —A Colorado man, the lone survivor of a private plane crash in northern Saskatchewan, was in good condition Saturday but "extremely exhausted" after spending five nights in wild Canadian country.

Gilbert Foster of Littleton told Royal Canadian Mounted Police here that none of his three companions died in the crash on Lake Haultain, but drowned trying to reach shore.

An RCFA search and rescue team in an amphibious Albatross reportedly recovered and brought out the three bodies. The dead have been identified as Mr. and Mrs. Ted Oiller of Granby, Colo., and Edward Quick of Aurora, Colo.

Foster's Cessna 310 disappeared on a 300-mile flight July 13 between La Ronge and Stoney Rapids, Sask.

The plane was sighted by an RCAF CF-104 Starfighter Thursday and reconfirmed by another jet Friday.

Brazilian Beauty Wins Crown as 'Miss Universe'

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— Eighteen-year-old Teda Maria Vargas, a dark-haired candidate from Porto Alegre, Brazil, with a cheering section all of her own, was named Miss Universe of 1963 Saturday night.

The brown-eyed college coed was the first winner from her Country, and one of three Latin American beauties among the 15 semifinalists in the week-long pageant to pick "the prettiest girl in the world."

She was crowned by outgoing queen Norma Nolan of Argentina before about 5,000 cheering onlookers in the Miami Beach Conventios Hall and a nationwide television audience.

Runnersup in order were: Miss Denmark, blonde Aino Korwa of Copenhagen; Miss Ireland, Marlene McKeown of Belfast; Miss Phillippines, Lalaine Bennett, of Quezon City, and Miss Korea, Kim Myung-Ja, of Seoul.

Ted Maria, who is now going to a teachers' college in Brazil, won, besides the glittering Miss Universe crown, $7,500 in cash plus a $10,000 personal appearance contract.

She will also take home thousands of dollars worth of other prizes.

The girls went on with the finals after a sit-down strike during afternoon rehearsals. It was touched off then officials said the girls would not be named when presented during the 90-minute telecast, except for the 15 semi-finalists. But the girls won their point and each of the 92 entries was named.

Nikita No. 3 Enemy, Say Red Chinese

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chinese Communist party cadres listed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as "Chinese peoples common enemy No. 3" recently in a series of public meetings in Canton, the New Life Evening Post reported Saturday.

The independent Chinese language newspaper said that President Kennedy was ranked as "Chinese peoples common enemy No. 1" and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, received second billing.

Under-16 Curfew Is Adopted by N. Adams, Mass.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UPI) — Children under 16 were banned Saturday from the streets of the western Massachusetts city after 10 p.m.

Acting Police Chief William H. Garner, with the approval of the city council, enforced the curfew law "because a certain segment of our parents cannot keep their children under control . . .

"Our merchants have been plagued by children who hang around main street using abusive language, blocking doors and display windows and refusing to move when asked by store owners or policemen," he said.

At 9:45 p.m. Friday the city's fire whistle sounded, marking the start of the curfew for the first time in 20 years.

"The kids don't like it, but it was good enough for their fathers and their grandfathers and it will be good for them. There is no reason why anyone under 16 should be loitering on street carners after 10 p.m.," Garner said.

Czechs Release Three Bishops From Prison

VIENNA (UPI) — In an apparent move to improve relations with the Vatican, Communist Czechoslovakia announced Saturday the release of three imprisoned Roman Catholic bishops.

At least nine more are known to be under detention.

The Czech news agency CTK identified the released prelates as Msgr. Josef Hlouch, 61-year-old Bishop of Ceske Budejovice (Budweis); Stepan Trochta, 58, bishop of Litomerice (Leitmeritz), and Msgr. Karel Otcenasek, 43, administrator of Hradec Kralove (Koeniggraetz) and titular archbishop of Chersoneso Di Creta.

Hlouch apparently was released recently. CTK said Trochta and Otcenasek was freed in 1960, but this was the first known word of their release.

The move raised hopes that Pague Archbishop Josef Beran, one of the most prominent churchmen still imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain, and other Czech bishops would be released. The Czech news agency made no mention of Beran, who has been under detention since 1949.

Although two of the Czech bishops were said to have been freed three years ago, timing of the announcement was regarded here as significant. The Vatican has been negotiating with several Iron Curtain nations in an effort to improve the lot of Catholics.

Perturbed

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—The woman who called a local radio station today apparently was perturbed by warnings that direct viewing of the solar eclipse could cause serious eye damage.

More than a bit peevishly, she demanded:

"Why are they having an eclipse if you can't watch it?"

State Seeks Plan to Attack Bubonic Plague Problem

DENVER (UPI)—The Colorado State Health Department Friday called a meeting to decide the plan of attack against an outbreak of bubonic plague in animals.

The department called local, state and federal officials to the meeting, to chart efforts to keep the disease from spreading to humans.

Dr. Roy Cleere, state health director, called the meeting to coordinate information and efforts following recent disclosures that plague had been discovered in prairie dogs in Arapahoe and Park counties.

Cleere said two insect and rodent control specialists from the U.S. Public Health Service communicable disease center at Atlanta, Ga., were en route to Denver to train local personnel.

Some 100 prairie dogs were removed from the Lowry bombing range in Arapahoe County southeast of Denver and from other areas and sent to the PHS plague laboratory in San Francisco.

A prairie dog was found dead of the plague on the Lowry range three weeks ago. Plague earlier was found in prairie dogs on a ranch in Park County near Como.

Eight Men Seek Post of State's Highway Chief

DENVER (UPI)—The Colorado Civil Service Commission Friday announced the names of eight men who have applied for the job of retiring Chief Highway Engineer Mark U. Watrous.

Watrous retires Aug. 1.

The commission president Mike Di Nunzio, said the applicants would be interviewed Aug. 8 and 9 by a five-man board, made up of out-of-state highway experts.

Those named by the board as vying for the $1,306 to $1,667-a-month job were:

Charles Shumate, 60, deputy chief engineer; Laurence Bower, 53, district engineer; John Kreiling, 54, staff construction engineer; Robert Livingston, 57, planning and research engineer; Charles R. Lowrie Jr., 52, assistant principal highway engineer; Fred Merten, 52, district engineer; George Miles, 56, district engineer, and Adolph Julian, 55, surveys and plans engineer.

Shumate will take over the job as acting chief engineer until the commission names a successor to the 72-year-old Watrous, a 17-year veteran of the top highway post.

Red Chinese Fail To Patch Split With Muscovites

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist China's mission to Moscow suddenly broke up camp Saturday night and flew home to Peking, apparently failing to patch up the ideological feud which has split the Communist world.

Premier Khrushchev gave the mission a farewell dinner at the last minute. But he showed no sign of giving in to Peking's demand that he drop his policy of peaceful coexistence with the West and follow a line of militant Communist revolutions.

The dinner ended Khrushchev's monumental public snub of the Chinese since they had arrived here July 5 in an attempt to persuade the Kremlin to back down to Peking demands.

But the Soviet Premier was be-

Chinese Charge Soviets Tried to Wreck Economy

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China accused the Soviet Union Saturday of virtually wrecking its economy by suddenly withdrawing aid and technicians three years ago and then squared off against Czechoslovakia in the widening split in the Communist camp.

The series of bitter and indignant charges by Peking Radio made it appear Red China was determined to push the Sino-Soviet quarrel until it results in Soviet concessions to Peking's hard line or in a final split.

The broadcasts coincided with reports that 14 Peking movie houses were showing a picture "The Naval Battle of 1894" depicting how Czarist Russia and other powers intervened in China to gain concessions as a result of a Japanese war with China.

In another development, the Chinese Communists repeated their warning to the Soviet Union and the United States that it regards the "war of liberation" in South Viet Nam as its own and that it will tolerate no "deal" to end it.

The blast against Russia said the Soviet Union virtually wrecked China's economy by abruptly withdrawing technicians, cutting off essential supplies and tearing up "hundreds" of agreements three years ago.

The Chinese also broadcast the text of an abusive Soviet letter dated July 14 which castigated the Chinese "hard line" policies and indicated Peking was lying the base for a sharper and more detailed reply.

Extensive Cloud Cover Hides Eclipse Sight Here

Nature hid one of its most spectacular shows Saturday from residents thruout the Pikes Peak region.

The long-awaited eclipse did occur, right on schedule, but at 2:23 p.m. the U.S. Weather Bureau at Peterson Field reported extensive cloud cover in the area which prevented a notable detection of darkness caused by the eclipse.

The only local residents who could observe the eclipse in action were those watching TV at 3 p.m. The network show was filmed in Canada and broadcast here about an hour after the actual staging.

The clouds which covered the eclipse here did a double good turn by producing much-needed rain Saturday afternoon.

Security Water District officials reported 1.50 inches of rain had been recorded from their three region guages placed thruout the area, but the U.S. Weather Bureau tallied only .02 inches at Peterson Field.

Heavy rain fell in the Ute Pass area and an estimated one inch of hail peppered Manitou Springs.

The hail mixed with hard rain caused considerable washing of hillsides in Manitou and city crews worked thruout the afternoon clearing Manitou Avenue of its cover of red clay and silt.

Thunder and lightening accompanied the rain and the Colorado Springs Fire Dept. reported that lightening struck a tree at 806 S. Cascade Ave. The tree was shattered but did not burn.

The Public Utilities Dept. was called after the tree limbs fell on nearby wires disrupting service in that area for a brief time.

Young People's Reading Course Now Offered

Students in grades 8-12 may now register for the course, "Reading Improvement for Young People," to be offered by the University of Colorado Extension Center during the second half of the summer semester.

Dr. Hallack McCord will teach this special course which is designed to help young people read better and faster and to study more effectively. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday, 6:10 to 7:50 p.m., from Tuesday thru Aug. 22.

Rapid Reading is offered for any person who needs to make the most of his reading time and to improve his retention.

Dr. McCord utilizes the tachistoscope and the Harvard and Iowa reading improvement films as teaching aids. This class will meet Tuesday and Thursday, 8:20 to 10:00 p.m. from Tuesday thru Aug. 22.

Registration for both classes is still open at the University of Colorado Extension Center, 1105 N. Nevada Ave.

RENDEZVOUS DOCKING — Two research pilots operate controls in a full scale model of Gemini spacecraft (rear) to bring the spacecraft into a gentle final contact with Agena rocket engine (foreground) as both travel on an overhead track. This Space Vehicle Rendezvous Docking Space facility at the NASA Langely Research Center, Hampton, Va., is used to simulate the final 200 feet of a rendezvous and joining in space by two orbiting vehicles.

* * *

Docking Ability Tested By Space Device Facility

A device in use at the NASA Langley Research Center enables scientists to see how well astronauts can guide a spacecraft in orbit so that it can meet and become connected with another orbiting vehicle.

The device, called a Space Vehicle Rendezvous Docking Facility, simulates the final 200 feet of the docking procedure in either earth or lunar orbit.

Knowledge of the problems involved is essential to the success of such future manned flight programs as Gemini and the Apollo lunar missions.

Thru the use of the simulator, NASA scientists are able to investigate various alternatives in the rendezvous and docking maneuver and to develop flight techniques for astronauts.

Current research with the simulator is in support of the two-man Gemini, the nation's next manned space flight project. One of the main objectives of Gemini will be to carry out manned rendezvous and docking maneuvers in Earth orbit.

In actual flight, the Gemini and the Agena rocket engine — the rendezvous target vehicle — will be orbiting along nearly parallel paths, but miles apart at speeds near 18,000 miles an hour.

The two Gemini pilots will attempt to guide their spacecraft into a hookup with the Agena.

During the simulated flights, two NASA research pilots ride in a full-size model of the Gemini spacecrart. They operate its controls to reduce the 100-feet-per-second relative velocity of approach and bring the spacecraft into gentle, final contact with the full-scale Agena target vehicle.

The simulator spacecraft and the Agena target hang on cables from an overhead track located in a large hangar.

The target moves only vertically and laterally, but the spacecraft can move in any direction on any axis.

More on the use of indentifying numbers by individuals — I am a widow drawing social security benefits and have no number of my own. Must I apply for my own social security number or may I use my deceased husband's number for income tax purposes? Answer: Ordinarily, each individual needing a number must have his own number. There is one exception, however.

Under this exception, you may use your deceased husband's number for income tax purposes if you are drawing social security benefits as a widow age 62 or over, as of Jan. 1, 1963, and have no number of your own. If you obtain your own social security number for any reason, you will then begin to use your own number rather than the benefit number.

Should the account number of each individual be furnished to payers in cases where two or more individuals jointly own the account? Answer: No. Only one number need be furnished. Ordinarily, the number of any one of the payees (clearly linked with the name of the payee to whom it belongs when the surnames are different) will be sufficient, except that if the choice is between husband and wife, furnish the account number of the husband, or if between adult and minor, furnish the account number of the adult.

Should I furnish my social security number to payers if I receive dividends as the guardian of my brother's child? Answer: When an account is in the name of a guardian or committee for a named or otherwise designated ward, minor or incompetent, you should furnish the social security number of the minor, ward, or incompetent.

I have two accounts for my minor son. One is set up as follows: "A custodian for B, a minor." in this case the money represents a gift I made to him under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act in effect in my State. The other account "A guardian for B, minor" represents an inheritance received by the minor. The account is maintained in a manner that is consistant with State Law that recognized the account as belonging to the minor. Should my number or number of my child be furnished to the banks for these accounts? Answer: Since, in both instances, the accounts are the property of your son, his account number should be furnished for each account.

Whose number should be furfished to payers in the case where I own stock and arrange for the dividends to be paid to my mother? Answer: your social security number should be furnished to payers since you are the registered owner of the stock.

I have a savings account set up in my name as trustee for my niece. It can be revoked at any time and I freely make deposits in and withdraw from the account. Whose number should be furnished to the bank? Answer: This is the usual revocable savings trust account in which the person named as trustee has both legal and equitable title.

Ordinarily, such an account is not recognized by State law as as a legal or valid trust during the trustee's lifetime nor is it a valid gift to the beneficiary.

Therefore, the account number of the person names as trustee is required. If this account were recognized as a valid trust by State law, an employer identification number for the trust would be required.

On the other hand, if this account were recognized as a gift by State law or as being the property of the named beneficiary the account number of the niece would be required.

Korean Vets Can Still Qualify For Insurance

Veterans of the Korean Conflict holding GI "RS" insurance policies have just over one month remaining to qualify for a special dividend by exchanging these policies for "W" term policies or converting to permanent insurance.

Approximately 1,500 Colorado veterans are eligible for this dividend, according to E. R. Benke, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Denver. The special dividend, authorized for this purpose expires September 13, 1963, he said. After that date, "RS" policyholders may still convert or exchange their policies, but they will no longer be eligible for the dividend payment.

Only Korean Conflict GI insurance policyholders with "RS" insurance are eligible for this dividend. On or before Sept. 13, 1963, they must:

1. Exchange the "RS" term policy for a "W" term policy, generally costing about one-third of what they are now paying; or

2. Convert the "RS" policy to a low-cost permanent plan of insurance.

The "W" term insurance cannot be renewed after age 50 but the insured may at any time while term insurance is in force, convert to any of the six permanent plans. These have fixed premiums higher than for term insurance but they do not increase in cost every five years as term insurance premiums do.

ADC Units Set To Take Part in Swift, Strike III

Eleven Air Defense Command units will take part in the forthcoming joint Army-Tactical Air Command Exercise to be held from July 2 to August 6.

"Swift Strike III" is the second STRIKE Command operation in which ADC has participated. The first, "Coulee Crest" was held in the Pacific Northwest earlier this year.

Ft. Carson's 5th Infantry Division is one of the primary Army units participating in this major exercise.

"Swift Strike III," with an estimated 75,000 personnel expected to take part, has been called the largest airborne exercise since World War II and will cover a three state area — North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. It will be conducted as a two sided maneuver simulating theatre or limited war.

ADC's 325th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Truax Field, Wisconsin, will deploy aircraft and personnel to McEntire Air National Guard Base in South Carolina as a part of the Red Forces. The 428th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, augmented by six aircraft and crews from the 328th Fighter Wing based at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo., will operate out of Seymour-Johnson AFB, N. C., for the Blue Forces.

The three units' Convair F-102 Delta Daggers will fly intercept missions on attacking and reconnaissance aircraft. ADC's major role will ome in phase one of the two phase exercise. This phase will be devoted to offense-defense air superiority operations and will run from July 21 to August 3. Phase two, — close support and interdiction operations — will last from Aug. 4 to 16.

For a 36-hour period during phase one, ground radar stations will cease to function and airborne RC-121 Warning Stars of the 552d Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing operating from McCoy AFB, Fla., will feed battle information to the Air Defense direction centers.

Additionally, the 4650th Combat Support Squadron based at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo. will provide air logistics support to meet ADC airlift requirements. Air Defense Command Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) Radar Squadrons taking part in "Swift Strike" are 701st Radar Sq (SAGE), Ft. Fisher AFS, N. C.; 810 Radar Sq (SAGE), Winston Salem AFS, N. C.; 861st Radar Sq (SAGE), Aiken AFS, S. C.; 792d Radar Sq (SAGE), N. Charleston AFS, S. C.; 702d Radar Sq. (SAGE), Hunter AFB, Georgia; 908th Radar Sq. (SAGE), Dobbins AFB, Ga.

Two staff officers from ADC Headquarters will play key roles in the Air Defense portion of "Swift Strike III." Lt. Col. Robert Friend of the Command Inspector General's Office will act as senior ADC offictr-in-charge at the Blue Forces Control and Reporting Center at Camden, S. C. Lt. Col. E. I. Kirschbaum, Office of the Director of Operations, DCS-Operations will act in the same capacity for the Red Forces Control and Reporting Center at Northfield, S. C.

Mysterious Message Is Dropped by Plane

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — Here's a message for Louise and Junior—whoever they are:

Ruby has buzzed off to Myrtle Beach for a couple of days.

John Farmer, 12, and Ronnie Begley, 11, said they were playing in farmer's yard when a red and white light plane circled overhead a couple of times, then dropped a small package.

The boys ran to a nearby field and found the note wrapped in cloth. It said: "Louise and Jr.: Going to Myrtle Beach for a few days. (signed) Ruby."

No one in the neighborhood has any idea who Louise and Junior are—or Ruby, for that matter.

Staph Infection Course Traced in Community

Ordinary housekeeping and laundry practices can serve to perpetuate a high level of staphylococcal infections in a community, a Boston research team reported today.

A study of the factors involved in the high rate of staph disease among 129 families in a housing project for married graduate students was reported in the current Journal of the American Medical Association by Ruth B. Kundsin, Sc. D., Carl W. Walter, M. D., Johannes Ipsen, M. D., and Mary Day Brubaker.

Staphylococci are the cause of most of the superficial pusforming skin infections in man and have become increasingly important because of their ability to develop resistance to antibacterial drugs.

The study implicated the hospital as the origin of the staphylococci with newborn infants introducing the bacteria into the family when they are brought home, the researchers said. It was also found that bacteria strains introduced into a family more often spread among members of that family than to friends or neighbors, they said.

Thirty-one per cent of the families with children two years old or younger had staph infections, compared with 10 per cent of families with no children or children over two years of age, the researchers said.

"Staphylococci are brought into the family through experience associated with having very young children," they said. "The only obviously common experience is the hospitalization associated with childbirth."

The study revealed a significant difference between the infection rate of families using a community self-service laundry and those using other facilities, usually their own washing machine, the researchers said.

Seventeen per cent of those using the community laundry had staph infections, compared with eight per cent of those who did not, they said.

Other studies have indicated that the detergents used and temperatures attained in home laundering cannot be relied upon to control the transmission of bacteria on textiles and clothing, they said. A combination of soap and water at a high temperature and either sodium hypochlorite or laundry sour or both is required for complete destruction of bacteria on textiles, they said.

Temperatures attained in the wash water of the community laundry ranged from 120 to 149 degrees Fahrenheit, they said, adding:

"This temperature is inadequate for disinfection. Consequently, bacteria must have been redistributed in the family laundry rather than destroyed."

Another aspect of the study revealed that the mother who spends more time in the home than the rest of her family is the most frequent carrier of staphylococci, the researchers said.

"She handles the linen and dishes, cares for infections in others, and by habitual practices of housekeeping apparently determines the dissemination of the family's bacterial population," the ysaid.

A "Calorie" is merely a convenient unit for measurement of energy. It's not food or heat as such, but a measure of the amount of energy produced by different foods by their combustion in the body.

Carson Ticket Sale for Rodeo To Start Aug. 7

Ft. Carson ticket sales for Armed Forces night, Aug. 7, at the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo are being directed by Maj. L. B. Miller, Special Troops commander.

The reduced rate tickets from $2.50 to $1 will be on sale thru unit project officers and at Special Troops headquarters.

They are available only for military and their dependents.

Profits from the rodeo are used thru the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary in military and veterans hospitals and for veterans' rehabilitation and welfare.

The Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo is one of the top western events each summer and will feature the stars of the Bonanza TV show in addition to competitions.

SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED —At Colorado Campground off Highway 67 on Pike National Forest, Bruce Cummings, Forest Service recreation aide, was on hand to explain the $1 per day campground fee when the new regulation went into effect this week. CAPITOL STUFF

By PAUL HEALY

WASHINGTON — Ironically, the civil rights storm which threatened to beach the tax bill for this session is now seen as a reason why the tax bill must be passed before the end of the year.

The Democratic high command reasons thusly. The most controversial goodie in the Administration's rights package is the public accommodations bill, designed to desegregate hotels, restaurants, theatres, etc. A great many proprietors are sore at the idea of being told by the government what kind of customers they must serve.

Chances are that the public accommodations bill will not get thru, but the damage has been done. The Kennedy Administration has once again antagonized much of the business community, North as well as South. A tax cut, it is hoped, will ease some of the pain. After all, the argument for the tax bill is that it will stimulate business investment, keep the economy humming, and open up more jobs.

More jobs, as the administration spokesmen continually point out, is a key plank in the program to improve the lot of the Negro. (The possible falacy here is that if the new jobs that result from the tax bill are in the skilled category, that won't help the Negroes much.)

So the outlook for the tax bill has changed. Only last month Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Fanance Committee, came close to saying at a National Press Club luncheon that there might not be any bill enacted this year. Byrd pointed to the slow-motion procedure of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee and the almost certain prospect of a Senate filibuster over the civil rights legislation — which could tie up Senate committees as well as the Senate floor for weeks.

THEY'LL SEE WHAT HOUSE DOES FIRST

Byrd's committee will hold no hearing on the Kennedy tax program until it sees what the House has done — and the House will not act on the tax bill before mid-August (two months later than was originally expected). Nonetheless, Ways and Means did go back into closed session this week and is currently hammering out the final draft of its bill.

So you can expect a tax cut effective on income you earn after next Jan. 1. How much of a cut? A highly placed member of the House committee says the slashes to be voted later this week will be made in two stages during the next two years. The ultimate cut, effective on 1965 income, will drop the present highest rate of 91 per sent (for single persons with incomes of of $200,000 or more) to 70 per cent.

The lowest rates for a single person (making less than $2,000) will be dropped from 20 per cent to 15 or 16 per cent. In between the highest and lowest brackets the cuts will be graduated proportionally.

Cutting the lowest bracket to 16 per cent would allow the administration to boast it has reduced poor people's taxes by one fifth. President Kennedy has asked for a bigger one than that — he wanted the low bracket slashed to 14 per cent, which would be a 30 per cent drop in the rate. He also asked Congress to reduce the highest bracket rate to 65 per cent.

REFORMS MAY BRING IN ONLY $1 BILLION

But the House committee can't go that far in cuts after it has already kicked Kennedy's "reform" proposals all over the lot. The reforms—closing of loopholes in the laws and so forth — were designed to recoup some $3.5 billion from the $13.5 billion that would be lost through the reduced rates. The way the committee is drafting the bill the reforms will bring back only about one billion. So it plans to hold the reductions to a grand loss in revenue of some $11 billion.

Byrd's committee, in its wisdom, no doubt will see fit to inject its own ideas — and various pressure groups' ideas — on what is a tax reform. But for the average taxpayer who can't afford a tax lawyer and therefore doesn't know a loophole from a manhole, the important thing is that the rates are expected to emerge from Congress about as described above.

The plan to force a tax bill out this year flies in the face of the hardy old tradition that "you can only cut taxes in an election year." The Administration has decided to put steam behind the plan. Only the other day the President unexpectedly popped into a meeting of some 30 government lobbyists — pardon, Congressional liaison officers—in the White House office of chief lobbyist Larry O'Brien.

Kennedy gave the gathering a gung-ho talk. He said that Congress will be kept in session almost continously until the opening of the national political conventions next summer and that all departments must jointly break their necks to improve the legislative record. Kennedy assigned the No. 1 priority to the civil rights bill but said he also wants the tax bill enacted before Christmas.

THEY DON'T WANT STATUS QUO DISTURBED

Purely from the political standpoint, a tasty tax cut will not offset the bitterness caused by the civil rights bill. By and large, in the North as well as the South, Kennedy's bold move to force desegregation is not popular, and he knows it. The rank and file in Northern cities doesn't want the already shaky status quo disturbed. They are worried about race trouble in their schools, their neighborhoods and their places of business.

House members, all of whom will be up for reelection next year, have become so sensitive about this public reaction that quite a few of them are now imploring Speaker John McCormack (Mass.) to postpone floor action on the civil rights bill until the situation develops in the Senate. Then, if the Senate cuts the Kennedy bill to ribbons or gets bogged down hopelessly in a filibuster, the House may not have to stand up and be counted on strong civil rights legislation.

Well, that's how nervous members are dreaming. In any case, the tax bill is slated to be acted on before the rights measure in the House.

Final spike marking completion of the first transcontinental railroad was driven at Promontory Utah on May 10,1869.

Camp Charges Put Into Effect By Forest Service

Put into effect last week was a charge of $1 a day which will be made by the U.S. Forest Service at Colorado Campground and South Meadows Campground, north of Woodland Park. Announcement was made by G. E. Weidenhaft, supervisor of the Pike National Forest. Twenty-five per cent of the amount charged will go to the county in which the camperounds are located.

This camping charge is something new this year. The money that the Forest Service derives from it will be used toward the upkeep of the campgrounds, which have become very popular with summer visitors. Camping meters have been installed in both of these campgrounds.

The dirver who parks his car in a marked off camping space, where tables, benches and cooking facilities are provided, pays by putting two half dollars in the machine. He drops his ticket thus obtained into a windowed box provided for the purpose. They are good until 2 p.m. the following day.

In paying the dollar fee campers will be helping to pay their way for increased campground faicilities this year. Among these are to be motion pictures, lectures guided tours to places of historical or geological interest.

Only seven of the more than 600 Forest Service in the five-state Rocky Mountain Region are this year equipped with ticket vending machines.

Enrollment Tests Scheduled at Palmer, Wasson

Tests necessary for enrollment will be given to junior and senior high school pupils who are new to the public schools in Colorado Springs, or who have been away a year or more, on Aug. 22, 23, 26, or 27, at Palmer and Wasson High Schools.

Taking these tests before school opens will greatly facilitate the individual's enrollment. Information about each pupil as learned from test results is of assistance to counselors in planning his program. Any who wait until school opens to take these tests will find considerable delay in getting enrolled.

The testing program will last all morning and part of the afternoon with an intermission for lunch.

Further details will be given in the paper before the time for the tests.

Folk Show Set For Broadmoor Center Monday

The International Folk Show which opens at the Broadmoor International Theatre Monday night, for seven nights, brings together an atomic explosion of talent that results in one of the biggest night's of fun and entertainment that can possibly be packed into one evening, authorities say.

The colorful production, featuring The Chad Mitchell Trio, Miriam Makeba, and the Smothers Brothers, is a carefully put together show staged by Frank Fried of Triangle Productions. It is a presentation that offers satire, the spoofing of folk singing, the imaginative political controversy type song and just pure folk singing, according to officials.

The enjoyment is not limited to the purist, altho the purist will get his share of straight folk singing. But the spoofing high-jinks will give those who don't "go" for folk" singing a volley of hilarious crossfire.

Those who want to know what a real "Hootenanny" is like will find out, as all three acts have appeared twice on the nationally televised show. There will also be strong evidence of the African influence on American music.

Each of the three entertainment units has been presented in concert at Carnegie Hall and in the leading show places of the nation, and the best of these concerts is concentrated in this great three-shows-in-one evening.

The Chad Mitchell Trio, whose motto is "Down With Folk Singing and Up With Folksmanship" will present some very lively examples of their interpretations of folksmanship. These boys who are different, far out, and hip, will do "Blowin' in the Wind," "Midnight in Moscow," and undoubtedly their famous controversial numbers "The John Birch Society," "Billie Sol Estes," and perhaps "Miss Lizzie Borden." The trio is actually five people as they are augmented by two additional musicians, promotion officials said.

Miriam Makeba, said by the San Francisco Chronicle to be "Pure art in its greatest form," will do more than half her songs in English, but will also include her native Xosa and other African dialect songs, "Wimoweh" and "Strawberries," and many more that have made her the most sought after entertainer of the day will be on her program. She will be backed by three musicians playing bass, drums and guitar.

The hilarious Smothers Brothers are immediately spontaneous, riotous, and highly original, and they spoof folk singing with a razor sharp satire. Their droll rendition of "I Fell Into a Vat of Chocolate," is only one example of what they can do to the usual tragic ingredient found in most folk songs.

Tickets for the International Folk Show may be obtained at the Broadmoor International Center boxoffice, phone 634-1660.

ABUNDANT REBIRTHS

TORONTO, Canada (AP) — Asked to explain the rapid growth of the Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. C. Dexter Westhafer, a pastor here, said it was due to "a high rebirth rate at Nazarene altars." He added that "we receive only born-again Christians" into the church.

Pros and Cons Discussed About Breast Feeding

(Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles about your health which will appear as a public service feature.)

By The Colorado Medical Society

Should a mother breast-feed her baby?

The pros and cons, advantages and disadvantages, of the natural feeding of infants have been debated for many years, and recently increased attention has been given to the question.

There's probably no hard-and-fast answer. Too much depends upon the individual mother's desires, inclinations, motivations and willingnesses in the matter.

The most powerful single argument in favor of breast-feeding is a psychological one: breast-feeding, it has been amply demonstrated, greatly intensifies the mother-infant relationship. This is almost always to the good for both mother and baby.

On the other hand, there are some mothers who cannot and should not breast-feed, for a variety of reasons, physical, social and psychological.

The decision is one which the individual mother must make for herself in consultation with her doctor. If she decides to breast-feed, every encouragement and assistance should be given her so she can make a success of it.

Statistically, breast-feeding has undergone a tremendous decline in the last 50 to 100 years. A recent survey by the Ohio State University medical school shows that more mothers in the Rocky Mountain and West Coast regions still breast-feed than those in other parts of the country-about 44 per cent in the Rocky Mountain area as compared with 18 per cent in New England, for example.

The survey also showed that about 25 to 40 per cent of first babies are breast-fed, that there is more breast-feeding in both the lower and higher economic classes than in the middle class, and that among the 25 per cent of mothers in one group who began to breast-feed, only 7 per cent still were breast-feeding at the end of two months.

Whether all this is good or bad, no one yet knows for sure. Americans today are larger and stronger than they were a century ago, altho many factors other than breast-feeding enter into the matter. Infant and child mortality rates are down, but again multiple factors are involved. Whether lack of breast-feeding contributes to broad-range social and psychological difficulties is suspected by some but remains generally unproved.

Some of the factors which operate against breast-feeding are these:

1. Women are more emancipated these days; to breast-feed ties them down.

2. A baby's food intake can be regulated better with bottle-feeding. The bottle-fed baby gains faster, grows bigger more quickly. And we tend to equate bigness with goodness these days.

3. Modern women are more figure-conscious, and they fear breast-feeding will spoil their contours. This has not been proved.

Many women also believe that because they have to eat more when breast-feeding they will gain weight. This is not necessarily so. A woman who is breast-feeding must eat between 600 and 1200 exta calories a day, about the same amount as she would need if she were exercising or swimming every day.

4. There seems to be some basic psychological or social distaste for breast-feeding. Sometimes father objects.

5. More mothers are working today. Breast-feeding is difficult if not impossible when a mother is holding a job.

6. Complaint is sometimes made that breast-feeding "takes a lot out of" a mother. She feels tired, loses hair, loses the curl in her hair. Some of this may be true to a limited extent, but it is myth that breast-feeding causes more cavities in the mother's teeth because of excessive calcium loss. More pertinent factors are changes in the diet and the mother's loss of appetite.

7. Advertising has convinced many women that formula milk is just as good as mother's milk.

8. The efficiency of hospital routine works against breast-feeding. It takes a little more time for breast-feeding. Moreover, mothers go home from the hospital earlier these days, just about the time that breast milk is beginning to flow well.

On the other side of the issue, these are some of the advantages of breast-feeding:

1. Mother's milk is the natural food. There can be no mistake in formula when the baby is breast-fed. No tragic mistake, as in the widely reported substitution of salt for sugar in formulas; no small mistakes of not getting the formula ingredients exactly right.

2. Altho nutrition now is a fairly exact science, we still don't know everything about what is in mother's milk. The longtime effect of lack of mother's milk is still unknown.

3. There is a definitely proved relationship between the baby's sucking and the hormones of the mother, making her recovery from child-birth more rapid and easy.

4. A hormonal effect also is suspected in the mother's psychological adjustment.

5. There is a strong mother-baby relationship when the baby is nursed, and this may be a cornerstone factor.

6. There is probably less thumb-sucking in breast-fed babies.

7. Perhaps there is somewhat less possibility of infection, and it may be that the baby acquires more antibodies against infection.

8. There are definitely fewer bowel problems for the baby, less constipation, less colic.

9. Breast-feeding is time-saving. No formula preparation, sterilizing, boiling of bottles.

10. More economical? Maybe, but it's probably dubious. If the mother already is on a minimum diet, there is no more cost. But if she is placed on a good diet as she should be, her better diet may cost more than the formula ingredients.

Old Doc Experience advises: 1. To breast-feed or not to breast-feed is a decision the mother must make after close consultation with her physician.

2. Only about 2 to 3 per cent of women are physically unable to breast-feed, but success does not depend merely on physical factors.

3. Success requires enthusiasm for the process on the part of the mother, her physician, her family and, to some extent, her friends; upon a thoro understanding of lactation and how it is stimulated, upon learning how to alternate breasts and the correct postures for feeding and handling the baby, upon, in short, full information and education of the mother during the pre-natal period.

4. Mothers who start breast-feeding and then give it up offer the following explanations: Certain babies are difficult to deal with at the breast, they establish no rapport with the breast and they just don't adapt to it; some babies are ill and won't breast-feed properly; the mother didn't have enough milk (in such cases, breast-feeding should be abandoned without delay); there was breast infection, or tenderness of the nipples; the mother just plain got tired of it.

5. It is sometimes suggested that there is a higher incidence of breast cancer among women who have never lactated. There is some indication of a significantly higher risk.

6. Are women more likely to become pregnant again while nursing? No. Statistics show about half as many pregnancies among lactating women.

7. There is a direct relationship between fewer visitors and successful breast-feeding. This can be very good both for the mother and the baby.

8. A nursing mother should not become a purist on the matter. She should have a sensible approach to supplementary and complementary feedings.

Indonesia Will Build Air Bases With Red Aid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia plans to build four airbases equipped with Soviet-made guided missiles on outlying islands facing Malaya and Australia, Brig Gen. Askari, commander of Indonesia's Army Air Defense Command, told the official Antara News Agency.

Askari said the bases on Natuna, Biak, Tolidastoli and Indonesian Timor were intended to strengthen "the national defense against any eventuality of external attack."

The islands are near areas that will form the Federation of Malaysia when it is officially created Aug. 31. Indonesia has objected to the federation that will include Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.

Local Men Home On 30-Day Leave From Marines

Marine Corporals Jackie G. and James P. Quillin, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Quillin of 120 Deer Path, Manitou Springs, are visiting in the Pikes Peak region on 30-day leaves from the U. S. Marine Corps.

Jackie has just returned to the U. S. after serving two years with the First Marine Brigade in Hawaii. Three months of this time was spent in the Philippines as a guerrilla with "Aggressor" forces.

James, a "sea-going" Marine, has completed a two-year tour of duty with the Marine Detachment, USS Yorktown, an aircraft carrier of the Pacific fleet. He saw service thruout the Pacific area.

After their leaves both Marines will report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for assignment to the First Marine Division.

CZECHS SUPPORT SOVIETS

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Czechoslovak Communist party has swung its full support behind the Kremlin in the bitter ideological conflict with Communist China, the official Soviet news agency Tass said Saturday in a dispatch from Prague.

Tass said the Czech party issued a statement denouncing "the attacks by Chinese Communist leaders on the Leninist policy" of the Soviet party.

comparative figures of land damage for the blow season just ended and the 1962 season. The current season showed 3,049,585 acres were damaged by wind, compared to 1,430,000 acres damaged a year ago.

The drought assistance provided by the agriculture department consists of four emergency programs:

1. Sale of government-owned feed grains at reduced prices to livestock producers;

2. Permitting grazing and haying of land retired from crop production under supply-adjustment programs;

3. Emergency loans to finance crop production and other farming expenses;

4. Cost-sharing aid under the Agricultural Conservation program.

The department said feed grain from government stocks is being offered to livestock owners at reduced prices in 155 drought-stricken counties and parishes in Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia.

Emergency loans are being provided by the Farmers Home Administration for drought purposes in 126 counties in seven states—Arkansas, Colorado, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, New York and Texas.

Cost-sharing aid to conserve irrigation supplies is going to eight Utah counties under the ACP program.

More Liberalized Life Sought by Hungarian Reds

By HANS BENEDICT

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungary's Red masters are working on the task of reconciling the undaunted individualism of their people with the harsh laws of life under communism.

The outcome will show how far the regime can go on the road toward liberalization.

It may affect Soviet Premier Khrushchev's battle for peaceful coexistence, opposed by the Red Chinese ideology of world revolution by war.

Initial outward success is reflected in a degree of individual freedom and economic prosperity nearly unparalleled in the Communist bloc. It was obviously this that prompted Khrushchev to summon Janos Kadar, Hungarian premier and party boss, and parade him in Moscow as a model pupil of the Soviet school of communism.

Some Westerners readily testify to the efforts of the Kadar regime to build "a Socialist society" and erase the stigma which the Soviet crushing of the 1956 revolution imprinted on Kadar and his followers.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant after his recent visit to Hungary, complimented Kadar on the stability of the country and its improved standard of living.

Former U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was impressed by the frankness with which Hungarians criticize the regime.

In granting the people so much leeway, Kadar is obviously playing on the innate liberalism of Hungarians and their fierce national pride. He knows there is hardly another way to make his people believe the Soviet Union, whose armies suppressed Hungarian rebels in 1848 and 1956, is Hungary's best friend.

Kadar's philosophy led him to form a brand of communism comparatively safe from straying into the danger zones on the extreme right and left. The theme is, "He who is not against us is with us."

Israeli Interception Said Misunderstanding

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—U.S. embassy sources blamed a misunderstanding for the interception Friday of four U.S. Department of Commerce planes by Israeli fighters.

The planes, carrying 45 passengers from Dhahran in Saudi Arabi to Beirut, Lebanon, were forced to land here but were released after it was learned that their clearance had failed to go through the Israeli civil aviation department because of a mistake.

Three of the planes—two four-engine transports and a twin-engine weather craft—later continued their flight. The fourth plane, a twin-engine weather aircraft, was delayed by engine trouble.

Official Is Fined On Traffic Charges

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Assistant Dane County Dist. Atty. Curtis Kirkhuff served as his own attorney when he appeared in traffic court Friday for non-payment of 37 parking tickets, some of them a year old.

Kirkhugg said most of the tickets were for overtime parking while he was prosecuting cases in court and could not move his car.

Judge William C. Sachtjen dismissed most of the tickets but assessed Kirkhuff $32 plus $3 court costs.

Trucks Are Put On Roads After Picket Injunction

DENVER (UPI)— Consolidated Freightways put trucks back on the highways in limited numbers Saturday following issuance of a temporary injunction prohibiting Teamsters Union members from picketing the firm's operations here and at other western cities.

A spokesman for Consolidated said limited operations were started Friday night.

"We're working a short shift today, but operations should be back to normal here by Sunday midnight," he said.

The restraining order was issued Friday by U.S. Dist. Judge Hatfield Chilson at the request of the National Labor Relations Board.

Pickets were set up here last Sunday midnight and at West Coast points Wednesday in a dispute involving the alleged hiring of non-union drivers by a Consolidated sub-contractor, Western Trucking Co. of Scottsbluff, Neb., to haul missile fuel from Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver to missile sites in other parts of the country.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field.

A large area of high pressure brought clear skies accompanied by lowering humidities and pleasant temperatures to the midwest Saturday afternoon.

The western states continued mostly fair and warm except for the cool, showery Washington coast. Across the southland and northward thru the eastern states, very warm and humid weather prevailed.

Numerous bands of showers and thunderstorms broke out in the warm air along and ahead of a cold front stretching from the northern Appalachians southward to eastern Kentucky and westward to northern Arkansas. A few of these thundershowers were rather severe.

Afternoon temperatures in the 100s were common in the southern Plains and across the southwest desert area. The cool 60s and mild 70s were confined to the northern Pacific coast and to local thunderstorm areas in the Appalachian Mountains.

Otherwise, the 80s prevailed over the northern half of the country with readings in the 90s common in much of Dixie.

Renton Burial Will Be Monday At Ft. Logan

A requiem high mass for Hollings C. Renton Jr., circulation manager of the Gazette Telegraph, who was killed in a car accident near Wetmore, Colo., Wednesday night while returning from the Range Riders camp, was celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Saturday. Msgr. Robert F. Hoffman was celebrant.

Burial is to be in Ft. Logan National Cemetary, near Denver, with graveside services at 11 a.m. Monday. Military honors will be rendered. The body will be taken and members of the family will proceed to Denver in cars of the Nolan Funeral Home.

Others who wish to attend the graveside services are asked to meet at the cemetery entrance at 11 a.m., where a procession will be formed.

The Nolan Funeral Home announced Saturday that it is undesireable to have a funeral procession formed in Colorado Springs, because of highway traffic hazards.

Mill Levy Cut In Cards for District Three

The mill levy for the Widefield School district will be cut .54 mills for next year, it was announced Saturday at the July meeting.

Richard Taylor, district superintendent, said that the levy would be 42.95 mills. The drop in the tax levy was made possible by the increase in assessed valuation of the district, Taylor explained.

It was a long meeting, the directors being in session from about 8 a.m., until almost 2 p.m., with a short portion of that time being spent acting as the library board.

The meeting of the library board was set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 29. Under the law which was used to create the library, the school board also is the library board.

The special school board meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 5.

It became apparent that the special school board meeting would be needed when the board found it had used up half a day had yet before it a discussion of the curriculum and physical education program of the district.

Earlier, it was decided to set up a special committee to rewrite the student handbook, a guide book of rules and procedures given to all high school students.

Named to the committee by President of the Board Clarence Foster were Dr. Carl Roberts, head of the psychology department of Colorado College and a board member, Ted Forde, newly-elected board member and Foster. The committee will work with Robert Poole, principal of the high school.

Roberts told the board that he was very displeased with the present Handbook. After considerable discussion about the teaching of mathematics in the district next year, the board voted to approve the plan submitted to it two meetings earlier by Taylor and Richard Aspinall, director of curriculum.

That program calls for a mixed program of mathematics teaching — part of it modern and part traditional, with the aim of eventually being all modern mathematics.

The program was presented as a pilot program.

Forde voted against the plan. He said ,"I believe that the fifth and sixth grade mathematics specialists should all be teaching modern methods." He explained that he voted against the plant because he wanted to go o all modern methods as quickly as possible and that he didn't think the approved program would change to that method quickly enough.

Roberts, who had argued heavily for the modern method in discussion, voted for the plan. He said that he did not agree with the idea of mixed mathematics teaching, but a start was better than nothing.

Foster, Dr. Thomas Slack and Roger Faye also voted for the idea.

The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company was given the contract for group life insurance. It submitted the low bid of 60 cents per $1,000.

Previous holder of the contract was the New York Life Insurance company, which had the contract for three years after winning it from the John Hancock company.

BULL-DOGGER — One of the 140 contestants in the Ute Trail Stampede rodeo, which concludes today with a final performance at 1:30 p.m., swings from his horse to the head of his steer in the bull-dogging event. The thrilling event requires precision movement and perfect teamwork in the part of the dogger and the hazer as they gallop across the arena in pursuit of the fast steer. At the moment the dogger is in position he swings from the saddle onto the head of the steer and wrestles him to the ground. There'll be plenty of steer wrestling, bronc and bull riding and calf roping in today's final show.

Ute Trail Stampede Set for Final Performance

The third and final performance of the Ute Trail Stampede in Woodland Park will get under way at 1:30 p.m. today with a colorful grand entry followed by plenty of action in the arena.

Saturday's go-round set some new times and scores which the final contenders will be scrambling to beat today.

The skies threatened to pour rain and hail on the large rodeo crowd all Saturday afternoon but nothing more than a few drops fell before the show was over at 3:45 p.m.

However, thunder and lightening in the area must have affected the already-lively stock provided by Walt Alsbaugh of Alamosa as not one cowpoke could stay aboard his saddle bronc to score and only two bull riders hung on long enough to hear the buzzer.

Saddle bronc standing remain the same as Friday, therefore, with Bud Clemons in the lead with 170 points. Second place is held by Wayne Storm with a 168 and Jack Mitchell is a close third with 167 to his credit.

Ardith Bruce of Colorado Springs, who rode the barrel route in a blazing 17.5 seconds Friday is still far ahead of other contestants. Two other riders share second place with a time of 18.2. They are Mary Ann Johnson and Bobbie Tabber.

Other unofficial standings at the end of Saturday's go-round are as follows:

BAREBACK: 1. Jim Shupe, 172; 2. Willie Burback, 168; 3. Art Allen; 4. Bill Linderman, 162.

STEER WRESTLING: 1. Dean Drake, 7.5; 2. Gerald Eichelberger, 7.8 ;3. Bob Karney, 8.0; 4 (tie) Denny Mathews and Pat Scudder, 8.5.

BUL RIDING: 1. Dick Bryant, 171; 2. Terry Couch, 166; 3. Tex Furrn, 165.

The calf roping event, always the most popular from the standpoint of number of entries, continued after the rodeo performance Saturday. At the end of the Saturday afternoon event the standings were as follows: 1. Bill Jones, 11.6; 2. Joe Weir, 12.6; 3. Jay Gentry, 12.7; 4. Bill Hutto, 13.1.

U.S. Official Ordered Expelled From Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —The chief of the U.S. naval mission to Haiti and four other U.S. marines have been ordered expelled by President Francois Duvalier's regime for making unauthorized trips into the Haitian interior.

Informed sources said Friday the marines had made pleasure trips into the area which was declared off limits because of Haiti's recent dispute with the neighboring Dominican Republic.

Those declared persona non grata (unwanted) were Col. Roy Batterton, the mission chief; Capt. Don Lane of Richmond, Va., two other officers and an enlisted man. Most have already left Haiti.

FRAME OF MIND

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — (UPI) — The cast of a church group which will perform Gilbert and Sullivan's musical HMS Pinafore in Los Angeles next Thursday and Friday night should be well oriented to their roles. Director Dr. Alonzo B. Cass drove the entire crew here for a ride on the motor boat Annie.

"Nothing like getting them in a proper nautical frame of mind," said Dr. Cass of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles.

Test Ban Pact in Sight, Nikita Says in Moscow

fixed posts as a means of preventing surprise attacks. He suggested that each side station inspectors in the territory of the other—at rail centers, major airfields and ports and on principal highways.

Both the U.S. and British delegations, the latter headed by Science Minister Lord Hailsham, have repeatedly announced that, while they can talk about such things, their authority is limited to working out a test ban treaty.

Khrushchev is particularly interested in an East-West nonaggression agreement and both he and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, his chief negotiator, raised that again at the reception.

Gromyko, talking to correspondents, said both the test ban and a nonaggression pact should be worked out at this meeting. He didn't tie the two together, just associated them.

The negotiators themselves pursued their discussions about the phraseology of a test ban treaty, then recessd until Monday.

A communique said they "discussed on July 20 a draft nuclear test ban treaty covering tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water," adding:

"Discussions also continued on other matters of mutual interest."

That is what they had said for the past two days as specialists worked on the text of an agreement.

While the mood of measured optimism continued among the delegation chiefs, none was prepared to say much publicly about the talks.

"They go, they go," said Gromyko, in a line somewhat more tempered than that of his chief. "We can't say whether we are farther from the end or farther from the beginning, or just in the middle."

Hailsham agreed with a correspondent who said the impression elsewhere was that the talks were going well.

"That impression is correct," he said.

Harriman was asked for an estimate of how soon an agreement might be worked out, but declined to answer.

"Will you get back to New York in time for the World Series?" He was asked.

"Yes," he said with a grin. "And you can quote me on that."

The baseball World Series comes in October.

Red Chinese Fail To Patch Split With Muscovites

ing little more than diplomatically correct.

Two weeks of secret talks ended presumably without solution and presumably even widening the breach between the world's two Communist giants.

While the talks were still in session, the Soviet Communist party point by point rejected Peking's position in world and Communist affairs and Khrushchev himself publicly assailed the Chinese as warmongers. On its part, Red China made no secret of its desire to see Khrushchev get the boot.

Khrushchev said his farewells at the dinner and left it to his chief ideological negotiator, Mikhail Suslov, to see the Chinese party off.

The Soviet officials hesitated momentarily as the Chinese team, headed by party Secretary-General Teng Hsiao-ping, moved toward the ramp of a waiting Soviet-built jetliner. Then, they moved out to say goodby.

A western correspondent asked Teng if the talks had been successful.

"Very good," he replied in Russian.

"Did you get any results?" the correspondent asked.

Suslov then stepped in, saying: "You'll read it in the papers. Not in the papers tomorrow."

Then Teng paused and turned to the group of newsmen:

"What did you hope for?"

"For peace," replied one.

As the Chinese delegation's jet moved away from the tarmac, a group of Chinese students who had cheered Teng and his team appeared to lose heart. They stood quietly in loose formation on the tarmac waiting for the order to disperse.

Nikita Speaks Kind Words About India

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev opened the Indian National Industrial Exposition here Saturday with protestations of friendship and veiled hints of future Soviet aid.

The Soviet leader, accompanied by high ranking Soviet officials, turned up at the huge exposition in Moscow's Sokolniki Park, and obvious demonstration intended for his ideological antagonists, the Communist Chinese.

But Khrushvhev carefully steered clear of any anti-Chinese remarks.

Khrushchev boasted that the Soviet Union built independent India its first steel mill in a construction race with West Germany and the United States. India has long had a big steel mill built years ago with British aid, before independence.

Solons, Navy Secretary Develop Feud

by G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A marathon feud has developed between Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth and senators exploring his role in the TFX warplane contract award.

Repeatedly Korth has voiced resentment at the tone and content of questions fired at him by members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Repeatedly, chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., have accused Korth of giving long, rambling and repetitive testimony that had little to do with answering their questions.

There has been speculation that the sharp exchanges with Korth are just a sample of what's in store when the subcommittee gets to such bigger game as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric.

Korth has spent an officially recorded 23 hours and 51 minutes on the witness stand, scattered over seven days since June 28, and is due for further questioning when the hearings resume Tuesday. The official stenographers figure the question and answer testimony of Korth already adds up to about 10,000 words.

The subcommittee is trying to establish whether favoritism guided the Pentagon's civilian chiefs when they awarded the huge contract for a new-style fighter-bombers to the team of General Dynamics Corp. and Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. last fall over a Boeing Co., bid endorsed by Navy and Air Force officers.

Korth has protested that military evaluations were wrong; that the General Dynamics-Grumman design promises the better, cheaper plane; that the strongest military critics of the award had expressed "positive satisfaction" with the decision at the time.

Your Outdoors

By MARY SHIRER

For the Pikes Peak Group of the Colorado Mountain Club

WILD FLOWERS IN HIGH ALTITUDES

No outdoor interest brings to us more enjoyment than the acquaintance of wild flowers. The love of things that grow in the earth, gives us an enduring interest. When we speak of wild flowers in Colorado, starting with mile high including the alpine plants that grow in high peaks, down to timberline and on down to the plains, with 2,000 or more to choose from, it become a most interesting experience to study them as we climb mountains. Of course we all know that the drouth has diminished the wild flowers this year, but in recent years with the many means of transportation all over the mountains and especially the high mountains, there has been a great loss of some of our rarest specimens. All who have seen the great quantities of the blue columbine carpeting the deep shadows of spruce, the marsh marigolds lining the banks of the marshy streams. The primroses seek the moist places and are strikinkly beautiful with brilliant colors. The kingscrown and and rosecrown sub-alpine forget-me-nots which are tall grow abundantly as you walk over rocky trail. Wildflowers in the sub-alpine and alpine are entirely different. They are very delicate with a rare beauty that is not seen in other flowers.

As you walk across the alpine regions on carpets of these tiny flowers the clear, pure air and the deep blue of the sky and snow white clouds seem to reflect on the wild flowers. The tiny forget-me-nots which grow on this summit of peak attract thousands of tourists. We wonder how so much beauty could grow in the gravel soil. The wild flowers which grow lower down on the peak all have their characteristic beauty. Of course I am writing about the wild flowers of years past. They have been cut down considerably this year.

We see a picture before us in the high altitude country — a great stretch of alpine meadows dotted with wild flowers and beyond is the great snowcapped peak over 14,000 feet. W stop here and look about us. There is no vegetation except the meadow grass, the many wildflowers and tiny willows scattered among the vast stretch of meadow land and great boulders which are covered with pink saxifrage running all about the crevices. Alone in this strange country we stand and take in the magnificent view with the deep blue sky, overhead, banks of white cottony clouds too and flower gardens at our feet. The cushion pink, primula, golden saxifrage, little spring beauties are all so familiar to us as we tramp across the alpine country. Flowers of all hues carpet the gravely soil and seem to laugh at the fierce gales of the high peaks. The dashing rains and hails never seem to crash these rare beautis and when the black couds pass by, the storm leaves them sparkling with rain drops.

Fragrant, strange and wonderful these beauties of the alpine country dwell, greeting all who pass that way.

AFA Bus Drivers Complete Refresher Course

Military and civilian bus drivers at the Air Force Academy each year take a "refreshing look" at their jobs to keep a top flight safety record going.

A group of 25 drivers have just completed the annual driving safety refresher course under the direction of Henry A. Brown, safety director for the Greyhound Bus Co. The Academy operates a fleet of 15 large, highway-type buses.

Aim of the yearly program is to keep the Academy accident rate at the lowest end of the frequency chart. At present, the Academy's rate of .08 accident per 100,000 miles of operation is one of the three lowest in the entire Air Force and just a fraction of the AF-wide rate of .772 per 100,000 miles.

The day-long program offers the already skilled drivers a chance to brush up on their techniques. Topics covered include such items as defensive driving, safe driving habits etc. Stopping distance tests are also given in the big vehicles to re-check driver reaction time.

The course affords an excellent opportunity for interchange of ideas on highway safety — an interchange valuable to the Air Force and to Greyhound, Academy Ground Safety Director George Huber said.

KCMS to Feature Psychology Speaker

Radio station KCMS in Manitou Springs operating on frequency 102.7 (FM) and 1495 Kc (AM), will broadcast a lecture given by Dr. Parker Lichtenstein, one of the nation's top research psychologists, at 8 tonight.

Title of the discussion is "The Current State of Psychology" and was recorded in the Olin Lecture Hall at Colorado College when Dr. Lichtenstein lectured there on July 1, under the auspices of the psychology department at the liberal arts college.

Dr. Lichtenstein is dean of Denison University in Granville, Ohio, where he also is a professor of psychology.

Summer Concert Series Continues at CC

The fifth concert of the Colorado College Summer Series will be presented by the artist faculty on Friday, at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

A Duo, Trio, Quartet and Quintet will make up the varied ensembles for this program. In the opening number the two new members of the faculty, Abraham Skernick and Leslie Parnas, will combine their talents in the performance of Beethoven's lighthearted "Duo with two obbligato eyeglasses." The title jokingly refers to the two near-sighted players for whom the work was written.

In this respect, Friday night's performance will not be quite authentic: one pair of eyeglasses will be missing.

The program will continue with Beethoven's tensely dramatic "Quartetto Serioso" in F minor op. 95. The last quartet of his middle period, this work was written in 1810, a rather unhappy year in Beethoven's life. The turmoil in his heart and the sadness of his soul are much reflected in this somber composition.

Returning to a lighter vein the audience will next hear Nilhaud's delightful Sonata for two violins and piano, performed by Sue Fulghum, Giorgio Ciompi and Max Lanner.

Altho still a student at the Cleveland Institute of Music, talented Sue Fulghum is a seasoned member of the faculty ensemble, completing her third summer as second violinist of this group. Outstanding student of Mr. Ciompi, Sue will receive her master's degree from the Cleveland Institute at the end of the next academic year.

After intermission the program will close with the monumental string quintet by Brahms in F major op. 88. Mr. Robert Jones will again join the ensemble, providing the second viola for this work. One of the finest chamber music compositions from the pen of Brahms, this quintet has never been played on the Colorado College Concert Series and Friday night's performance may well be a "premiere" of the work for Colorado Springs.

Single tickets for the concert will be available at the evening box office.

Uncontaminated Room Used for Electronics

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — In what is believed to be the world's largest "white room" — 72,000 square feet in which temperature, humidity and dust are controlled rigidly to avoid contamination — electronic parts are prepared here for Minuteman intercontinental missiles.

Workers at the Radio Corp. of America plant where it is located wear smocks, caps and shoe covers and may not smoke, chew gum, eat or wear cosmetics while in the white room. Each must pass through a high-pressure air shower upon entering.

State Shows Manufacturing Firm Increase

Colorado has 3,522 firms engaged in manufacturing, 169 more than a year ago, the University of Colorado Bureau of Business Research reports.

The report is contained in the bureau's 1963 directory of Manufacturers which has been printed and is now available from the bureau for $7.50 a copy.

The directory classifies industrial plants by products, location and size, and lists executive officers of major plants.

Of the 169 new firms, 101 are located in the Denver Metropolitan Area — Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder, Denver and Jefferson Counties. Here 1,735 manufacturers are engaged in business, according to the directory.

There are 118 in Pueblo, an increase of 18 over a year ago, and 229 in Colorado Springs, an increase of six.

On the Western Slope, Grand Junction has added 12 new firms, for a total of 90 manufacturers, and Mesa County has added 14 companies, for a total of 104.

Food and kindred product manufacturing showed the greatest increase during the year — 23 new firms.

Next were fabricated metal products and nonelectrical machinery, with 22 new companies each. There were 17 new printing, publishing and allied industries estabmlished.

The directory was compiled with the cooperation of manufacturers chambers of commerce, county officials, local business and governmental leaders, in addition to the research files of CU.

Women's Unit Entered in Burro Race

The world championship Pack Burro Race here next Sunday will have a women's division for the first time this year. Women have participated before but now they will be in a distinct unit, with their own cash prizes.

The rugged endurance test of 23 rough mountain miles will be over 13,180-foot Mosquito Pass from Fairplay to Leadville. It is the highest regularly traveled pass in the nation.

The women's group start is set for 10 a.m., the men's division at noon. Record time for the course is 3 hours 33 minutes.

Leading the Leadville women contestants will be Martha Brown, teacher at the city school, summer swimming instructor and ski instructor winters at Arapahoe Basin.

"It is a grueling grind for women," said Miss Brown. "Fastest time for them has been a little more than five hours."

Miss Brown has been training for the race the past few weeks, as have several other Leadville women. From other cities will come more and this year, because of the separate division, there are expected to be more than the eight or 10 women entrants of previous years.

"In addition to the lure of cash prizes," Miss Brown said, "there is just as much challenge for women to try this ordeal as for men.

"Until this year the single women's prize has not been enough of an inducement for undergoing the necessary training with a burro and on the trail.

"Now with three cash awards posted for women, and with them eligible for the first three prizes for best qualifying time for all entries, there is a much greater interest for us in the race."

Entry is being considered by Viola Gentry, an aviatrix of the late 1920s and '30s. Miss Gentry, of East Hampton, N.Y., visited here in May to inquire about the race and meet a burro for the first time. An official of the "Ninety Nines,' an organization formed by early day women fliers, she has several meeting dates in the Midwest and hopes to find time to run in the burro race.

Miss Gentry some years ago set several flying records, was involved in a serious crash that kept her in hospitals for 14 months, and still is an active flier at 60 years of age.

Democratic Congressman Wayne Aspinall has announced he will be in Leadville for the World's Championship Pack Burro Race Parade, Saturday, July 27 despite the "unexplained" cancellation of dedication ceremonies for the Homestake Project here.

Aspinall, Democrat from the Fourth Congressional District, had been invited to speak at the dedication ceremonies. The dedication was cancelled when Republican Governor John Love was unable to attend.

Fourth Session Of Day Camp Opens Monday

The fourth session of Day Camp at the YMCA Catamount Family Ranch near Woodland Park will open Monday. Catamount Day Camp is a form of camping which permits a boy or girl 6 to 10 years of age to enjoy many camping activities away from the city and yet to be home every evening.

Activities offered are archery, crafts, pony riding, nature study, hiking, boating, and fishing. Each Day Camper also gets three swimming lessons a week at the YMCA pool.

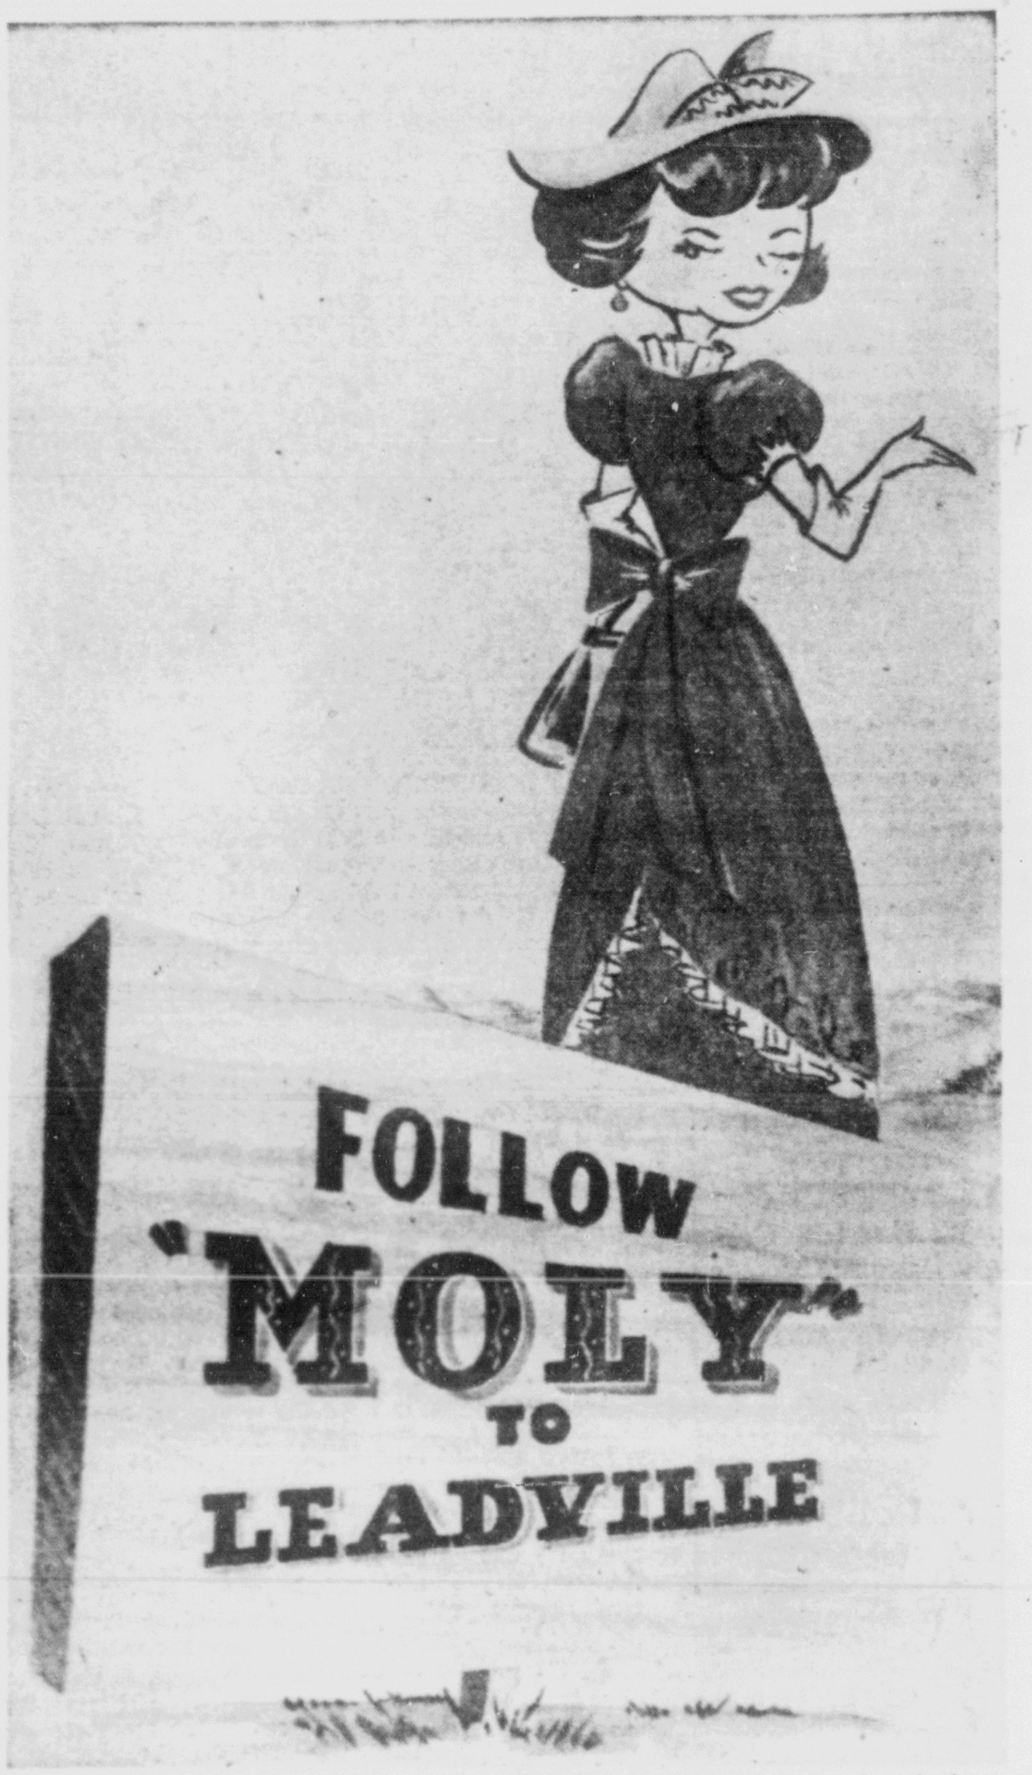
There are still some openings in the fourth session and folders are available at the 'Y'. Boys and girls registered so far for this season are: Chuck Aitken, Timothy Appel, Richard Aurand, Debra Bartlett, Karen Bartlett, Vicki Ann Beaudin, Douglas Brown, Cynthia Carew, Lisa Ann Carlton, Linda Carroll, Robert Comes II, Robert Ferraud Jr., Don Foster, Tom Gustafson, Becky Hill, Nancy Jo Kroll, James Lyon, Lana Marti, Rod Marti, Forrest McDonald, James Perkins Jr., Susan Rudd, Roy Schaub, Karen Shellhart, June Stanford, Lewis Stanford, Jeffry Stevenson, Russell Stroud, Laura Taylor, Deborah Vitera, Noble Wildman and Steven Wixson.

Richard Camfield Part Of Electronic Group

Richard Camfield, 1107 3rd St., is one of 38 men from 18 states attending The University of Illinois for a three-week laboratory course in "Electronics for Scientists."

The group includes men from industrial and medical laboratories and teachers. The session started July 7 and was concluded July 27.

The rubber tree belongs to the Spurge family. Most commercial rubber comes from the para rubber tree native of Amazon forests.



MISS MOLLY OF LEADVILLE — The Leadville Chamber of Commerce this year will replace their usual queen selection with a symbolic figure. The figure will appear at different celebrations both at Leadville and thruout the state where the historic mining town is represented.

* * *

Leadville Will Have Symbolic Figure as Queen

A symbol just adopted by the Leadville Chamber of Commerce will become a living representative of this 19th Century mining camp when Miss Moly of Leadville is selected for ayear's term to take the place of the usual "queens" of differene celebrations.

Jack East, Chamber president, said Saturday that because there are so many queens in so many different places, public interest in them has waned. Leadville decided to have just one annually, and a distinctive one.

Artist Ed Taylor, supervisor of the Public Service Co.'s display department, drew a symbol (which a girl can portray) that won instant approval. It is an 1890's girl named for Lake County's chief product, molybdenum or "moly," produced at the huge mining operation at nearby Climax.

Red-haired Miss Moly is dressed in an ankle-length green dress with short leg-of-mutton sleeves and she wears a red sash and sometimes a wide-brimmed white hat. In winter she would be adding a red cloak.

As a human figure, the symbol can be drawn with different gestures, such as a promotion pose planned for roadside stands in which Miss Moly will be waving "come on" over the slogan "Follow Moly to Leadville."

The coming year's Miss Moly will represent Leadville and Lake County officially at all celebrations such as the Colorado State Fair at Pueblo next month and Denver's National Stock Show in January.

She will be selected each July during Pack Burro Race.

The 5th annual running of this world championship endurance event is set for July 28. This year it starts at Fairplay at noon. Women contestants take off two hours earlier, and cross 13,180-foot Mosquito Pass to finish in Leadville. Record time for the 23-mile route is 3 hours 33 minutes.

Art Fair Set For Albuquerque In August

The second annual New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair will be held Aug. 1-4 in the historic Old Town Plaza on the western edge of Albuquerque.

Arts and crafts displaying by some 200 artists will be available for purchase including painting, graphics, sculptures, jewelry, weaving, pottery, wood carvings, textiles, ceramics, leatherwork and glassware.

Indians from thruout New Mexico will demonstrate rug weaving, ceremonial sand painting and the art of making pottery and jewelry.

Authentic Indian and Spanish dances will be performed nightly in the center of the plaza.

Old Town itself holds a special attraction for visitors with its ancient adobe architecture dating from 1706, its historic old San Felipe de Neri Church and its various patios and restaurants which were once the spacious homes of Spanish aristocrats.

Historically, Old Town was the farming and trading center of San Felipe de Albuquerque. It eventually beame a crossroads in the settlement of the southwest and today represents "three cultures under four flags", observing the fact that it has three cultures existing simultaneously — Indian, Spanish,, and "Anglo" — and has been under the Spanish, Mexican, Confederate and Union flags during New Mexico's growth toward statehood.

TOUR CAR — From the deck of this horsedrawn streetcar, tourists can view the historic Old Town of Albuquerque during the New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair scheduled to begin a four-day display on Aug. 1. Last year, the fair drew over 75,000 visitors from thruout the United States, Canada and Mexico. The arts and crafts exhibits will be open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Serenading troubadours, Indian and Spanish dancers will be featured along with displays by some 200 artists.

COLORADO SPRINGS KENNEL CLUB NOTES

by Mary Urban

The following breeding tips are taken from "Your Breeding Program" by Alice Wagner, Editor of Popular Dogs.

Often the pet owner wishes to breed his pet once. That the finest stud should be selected is important so that the pet female will produce the best litter she is capable of whelping.

Occasionally the owner of the stud will say that the stud "is not available." The wise stud owner is entirely correct in refusing to permit his dog to mate with any female after examining her and her pedigree. Puppies reflect the genetic make-up of a sire (the progeny test) and determine his value.

Environment of domestic animals greatly influences temperament. Close association with your dogs to inspire their confidence in you is important. Some scientists state that dogs are endowed with temperamental tendencies at birth; others believe that if a dog is bad, it is only the result of an unfortunate experience with humans; that temperament is goverened by environment.

FOUNDATION STOCK

Your original stock must be of quality material. Buy the very best you can afford for your foundation bitches since they will determine your success. Do not purchase a stud dog — the services of a stud are all you need. Top stud dogs of proven quality are expensive to buy.

Start with two females, either litter sisters or two females which have at least a common ancestor, so that your stock will be somewhat uniform. If your females have completely different ancestors, you will introduce two distinct lines (types) and it will be harder to attain uniformity in your kennel — the aim of a good breeder.

BREED OF THE WEEK

The American Water Spaniel.

Exactly how, where, and when the American Water Spaniel originated is somewhat of mystery but the virtues of the breed have long been recognized by sportsmen all over the United States. It is principally in the Mid West, however that the present day specimen evolved, since the dogs from that section have bred true to type for many generations.

Color, coat and conformation combine to suggest the Irish Water Spaniel and the Curly-Coated Retriever and the latters' forebear, the Old English Water Spaniel, may have been the ancestors of this breed.

Prior to recognition as a breed by the American Kennel Club in 1940, the American Water Spaniel had been purely a working gun dog. He had never been introduced into the show ring because his admirers feared that bench shows might damage his powers as a hunter. But they soon learned that selective breeding along with bench show competition actually enhanced the value of the dog.

As a retriever the American Water Spaniel leaves little to be desired. He will watch the hunter drop perhaps four or five birds, then work swiftly and merrily until every one is brought in. Rabbits, chickens, grouse, quail, pheasant, ducks — all he handles with unfailing dispatch and tender care. He swims like a seal, few wounded water foul escape him, his tail serves him like a rudder, especially in rough water.

He is an all-round shooting dog possessed of an excellent nose; he works thicket, rough ground, or depends on body scent for location of game. He is enthusiastic and thorough and his desire to please makes him easy to teach. He does not point game but rather springs it. He is an efficient watch dog and fits very well into the family circle.

He is solid liver or dark chocolate in color, with white on toes or chest permissible. He is neither cropped, docked or clipped which makes caring for him quite simple. He is a compact, handsome dog with tight curly hair. His temperament is even and predictable.

If you have any questions about dogs or dog shows you may call Mrs. Glenn Urban 495-2143.

Badge Programs For Girl Scouts Set for August

Two summer badge programs will be offered during August for Girl Scouts between the ages of 10 and 14 according to Mrs. T. L. Williams, program committee chairman of the Girl Scouts-Wagon Wheel Council. The fields to be explored are Star, and Rock and Mineral.

The Star badge program will be conducted by Dick Moore Aug. 5-12-19 and 26 from 7:45 to 10 p.m. Interested Girl Scouts should plan to meet at the Roll-O-Rena, 2309 N. Prospect St., attired in warm clothes and should bring with them a sit-upon, notebook, pencil and a flashlight covered with red paper or cloth to form a red lens. The group will then travel to a location in Palmer Park where all of the sessions will be held.

The instructor for the Rock and Mineral badge will be Mrs. John Bennett. This class will be held Aug. 7-14-21 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 1200 Cragmor Rd. Participants should plan to bring a sack lunch, cloth bag, notebook and pencil and wear slacks, sturdy shoes, sun hat and colored glasses. At least one field trip will be planned by the group.

Signed permission slips are required for both the Rock and Mineral and Star badge classes.

Parents will be responsible for transportation. Registration for the classes being offered by this United Fund Agency can be made by calling the Girl Scout Service Center, 632-6615.

Hazel Is Picked For Integration By Race Leaders

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Negro leaders have picked "Hazel" as the first Hollywood television series they want integrated. The program stars Shirley Booth as a rambunctious maid.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People made no demands that the cast be integrated. But it wants the technical staff, to include at least one Negro.

If demands aren't met, the NAACP said Friday, it will consider economic sanctions against the show's sponsor—the Ford Motor Company.

William Dozier, vice president in charge of production at Screen Gems, the studio which makes "Hazel" said that the technicians used are provided by the Hollywood craft unions under a union-shop agreement.

"If they choose to send us a Negro technician," said Dozer, "We will be very pleased."

Said James Tolbert, president of the NAACP Hollywood-Beverly Hills chapter: "If the person paying the bills says, 'I wan't a Negro in that crew,' it will happen."

Herbert Hill, national labor secretary of the NAACP, told a news conference here that "we have no bias against Ford." He said "Hazel" was chosen because its production crew for the 1964-64 season hadn't yet been selected.

At the same meeting Hill told of some of the demands given both labor an management officials by the NAACP.

Hill said the Negroes are demanding that Hollywood change "stereotyped patterns of the past" and show Negroes in roles as professional people in the same manner they are shown in roles as menial laborers.

NAACP spokesmen said they were satisfied with the opening negotiations. They said the studio and union representatives accepted the Negro demands "without ranco."

The demands also were reported to include requests that Negroes be used in television commercials and that there be at least one Negro in a regular role in each television series.

Other reported demands were:

In theatrical films, for each nine non-Negroes employed in the cast, one Negro must be employed. The figure was based on the estimate that 20 million Negroes comprise one-ninth of the nation's 180 million population.

Negroes also should be given one-ninth representation on movie technical crews.

Establishment of a civil rights grievance committee to give Negroes an opportunity to seek redress without fear of retaliation by a union or employer.

Organization of apprenticeship programs to train Negroes for all types of jobs in the industry.

Junior Colleges Get Their Dole Of State Funds

DENVER (UPI)—The Colorado Board of Education took on the role of paymaster Friday and doled out $603,597 to education in the state.

Some of the money will go for 203 projects provided under the languages, science and mathematics section of the National Defense Education Act.

Of the total, local districts in Colorado were to pay $581,946; the federal government, $495,327, and the state, $148,597.

The board also "loaned" six junior colleges $455,000. The money was given to the junior colleges to supplant money voted last year by the legislature, but being held up while the constitutionality of an act is tested.

The questioned act would allow a charge to be placed on counties not having a junior college, but having residents attending a 2-year-school in another county.

Under the loan, Mesa Junior College got $141,208; Northeastern Junior College, $111,915; Pueblo Junior College $90,637; Otero Junior College, $45,489; Trinidad Junior College, $33,043; and Lamar Junior College, $33,008.

Also, the board distributed $98,605 in federal funds to 54 school districts; $29,600 to six school districts training retarded children; $10,635 to five districts holding year - round school for migrant workers' children, and $35,124 to three districts holding summer school for migrants.

Mental Stress May Trigger Onset of Diabetes

Psychological stress may trigger the onset of diabetes in persons predisposed to the disease, three Los Angeles psychiatrists said today.

A study of 25 diabetics revealed that 20 had suffered a personal loss of some kind before the disease was discovered, Drs. Paul F. Slawson, William R. Flynn and Edward J. Kolla rreported in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

Altho speculation about a relationship between diabetes and emotional disturbance dates back to the 17th century, the researchers said their study was conducted to see how often newly diagnosed diabetics had suffered recent losses.

The patients were 20 men and five women ranging from 18 to 70 years of age who took a standard personality test and were interviewed within six months after symptoms appeared, the authors said.

Of the 25, 14 gave a history of a definite loss recognized as such by the patient and six gave evidence of a loss that could be reasonably inferred altho not acknowledged by the patient, they said.

The losses consisted of such occurrences as death of, or separation from, a spouse, child, parent, or pet, or a social, occupational or financial setback, the researchers said.

"Altho these losses occurred one to 48 months prior to the onset of diabetes, the effects of most losses extended into the life situation current at the time of psychiatric evaluation," they said.

In addition, they said, 14 patients were considered to be livi ngin emotionally deprived environment, 10 gave evidence suggestive of unresolved grief and sven were considered depressed.

During the course of the study, the authors said they saw the disease which had been well controlled with a certain dosage of insulin go out of control when the patient suffered a personal loss.

"One of the most striking cases was a policeman with a four-year history of well-controlled diabetes," they said. "When he was told that his 15-daughter had leukemia he went out of control. Further studies showed that his daughter did not have leukemia. His response to this good news was prompt and dramatic with a return to his former insulin requirements."

In conclusion, the researchers said: "We do not suggest that psychologogical stress is a necessary etiological factor in diabetes, but, rather, that psychological stress may trigger the initial metabolic imbalance in predisposed individuals."

The psychiatrists are affiliated with the neuropsychiatric Institute, University of California at Los Angeles Center for the Health Sciences.

CAP Drill Teams Set for National Competition Here

Eleven precision drill teams of Civil Air Patrol teen-age cadets will compete for the 17th annual national drill championship August 8 at the Air Force Academy.

Drill teams from the following Civil Air Patrol Wings will compete for the national drill championship: National Capitol of Washington, D. C.; Alabama, Michigan, Louisiana, Utah, Oregon, South Dakota, Pennsylvania and from the "overseas wings" of Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

The finalists this year include three girls teams, coming from Alaska, Utah and South Dakota. The 1960 and 1961 champions were the all-girl team of the Rocky Mountain Region from Pueblo, Colo. The Romulos boys team of Detroit, Michigan won the 1962 title.

Lt. Col. H. Clyde Thach of Denver will be the encampment commander. Lt. Col. H. Lawrence Reibscheid, director of information for the Rocky Mountain Region and Lt. Col. Herbert E. Hammond, both of Colorado Springs, will be encampment staff members.

The teams will arrive by air August 5. A two day rehearsal under the teams commanders will be held before the final contest at the Air Force Academy's Court of Honor August 8, starting at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The 11 drill teams, with their commanders, escorts and encampment staff will bring more than 300 members to Colorado Springs for the contest.

Announcement of the winners will be made at the awards banquet held the last evening at the Air Force Academy's officers club. The Frank G. Brewer Memorial Awards in three categories of achievement and contribution to Civil Air Patrol will be presented to a CAP senior member, a CAP cadet and a nonmember civilian.

Watch, Money Reported Stolen From Motel Room

Two billfolds, about $90 in currency and a $60 watch were stolen Friday night from a motel room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gary Luttrell of Shawnee, Kan, it was reported to the sheriff's office.

The Luttrells were in their room at the DeVille Motel, 1411 S. Nevada Ave., at the time of the theft, they told Deputies Charles Dietsche and Robert Newman.

Luttrell told the deputies that he and his wife had left the door open while they napped about 10 p.m., and that he awakened to see a stranger at the dresser in the room.

Luttrell said he spoke to the intruder, and the man quickly fled.

After the stranger left, Luttrell looked around and discovered that the billfolds, his and his wife's, and his watch, were missing, he said.

Saturday morning, Mrs. Luttrell's billfold was found near 123 E. Navajo St., and many personal cards were found in the area, according to Deputy Vincent Denboske. The money was gone from her billfold. Her husband's was not found.

Luttrell was in town to participate in two weeks of reserve Army training at Fort Carson, he said.

Sprague Helps Judge Winners In Essay Test

Colorado Springs author Marshall Sprague was one of three judges in the Colorado Day High School Essay Contest which was just completed.

Sprague joined author Alan Swallow and state historian, Mrs. Agnes Wright Spring, in the judging.

Justice Leonard Sutton, chairman of the Central City Colorado Day Committee, said prizes will be warded to Linda Sue Williams, Thomas Jefferson High School in Denver, who wrote on, "Statehood for Colorado," first place; Rex Meyers, Littleton High School in Littleton, whose essay is entitled, "The Educated Mule," second place; and Susan Kelley, Canon City High School in Canon City, who wrote, appropriately enough, on "The Prison Riot of 1929," third place.

In naming the winners, Justice Sutton said, "The Committee was delighted with the ever-increasing number of entries from young people throughout the state. The judges were impressed with the excellent quality of the essays, and had a difficult time deciding the winners."

Contest winners will receive cash prizes and be guests of the Central City Colorado Day Committee at the two day Colorado Day celebration to be held in Central City, Aug. 2 and 3. The historic mining community has become the focal point for annual festivities commemorating Colorado's admission to the Union.

Academy Nears Capacity Registration

Benet Hill Academy, 2555 Chelton Rd., which will open with freshman and sophomore classes in September of this year, is fast approaching capacity registration.

Three vacancies still remain in the freshman class, while approximately two-thirds of the posible sophomore places are filled. The original plan to accept freshmen only was altered in May to accept one class of sophomores, school authorities said.

For the freshmen Benet Hill offers religion, English, Latin, world history, algebra, speech and physical education.

Sophomores will take courses in religion II, English II, biology, geometry, Latin II, drama and physical education. Both freshmen and sophomores will participate in Choral classes.

Renovations to accommodate library facilities and biology laboratory are under way in the main building of the Benet Hill campus. A little theatre and language laboratory are being prepared in Marian Hall. Lunch facilities are offered in St. Ann's Hall adjacent to the main building.

Open House for students, parents and friends is now being planned. The first event to take place in the Little Theatre of Marian Hall will be a recital of music students of Sister Rosina Baumgartner on Sunday August 4.

Watch Out For Tourist Drivers AAA Says

Now that the travel season is at its height, out-of-state license plates should be treated as warning signs, Colorado drivers were advised today by the Rocky Mountain AAA Club.

Drivers in strange cities do strange things at times, an auto club spokesman explained. Unfamiliar with local streets and highways, visitors might travel at unreasonably slow speeds, change lanes abruptly, stop unexpectedly and otherwise make hazardous moves.

The AAA club urged local drivers to give out-of-state cars a little extra room and to be on the alert for unusual maneuvers from such vehicles. Further, the auto club asked Coloradoans to be considerate of driving mistakes by visitors.

There's Golden Rule aspect to this traffic safety advice, the AAA club pointed out.

Coloradoans by the thousands are now heading out of state on vacations. In unfamiliar cities, these Coloradoans are, in many instances, doing the same unsafe driving acts of the present visitors to Colorado.

Forest Hill Man Eyes District Congress Seat

Henry John Olshaw of Forest Hill, near Rye, told the Gazette Telegraph Saturday that he had send a registered letter to Robert Maytag, State Democratic Chairman, announcing his intention to be a candidate in the forth-coming primary election for the Third District Congressional seat.

Olshaw said he intends to campaign vigorously to unite all affiliated groups in a predominantly singular issue.

"The issue is that of turning the tide of communism," said Olshaw, "and I ask that all 'Rooseveltian Democrats', conservatives and liberals alike, get together in what could be a show-down of peace — or of tyranny such as the world has never known."

Olshaw said he has campaigned on several occasions as a conservative - independent and that in 1960 he polled some 560 votes in Pueblo County when he ran for the state legislature. Olshaw reported that in 1962 when he made a bid for the U.S. Senate he tallied 1,217 votes.

Car Stolen Friday Recovered Saturday

A car belonging to Mrs. Ruth E. Mercer, 1414 S. Nevada Ave., was stolen Friday night and recovered Saturday morning, according to peace officers' reports.

Mrs. Mercer reported to police Friday night that the car, a 1963 model, was stolen from a parking place near the Prospect Nursing Home, 1420 E. Fountain St., sometime before midnight.

The car was found Saturday morning abandoned and over an embankment about 56 feet off the Mount Herman Road and about six miles west of Monument, according to State Patrolman J. B. Morrisey.

Range Riders Wind Up 'Best Danged Trip Ever'

The Pikes Peak Range Riders spent their last complete day near Hermit Lake in the Wet Mountain Valley Saturday. Today they will return to Colorado Springs to be welcomed by their families and friends at the Broadmoor, having completed what one rider called, "The best danged trip we'll ever take."

This was the 15th annual ride to publicize the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo August 7-14 at Penrose Stadium.

The riders will have a church service this morning which will include group singing and memorial services for Kenneth D. Brookhart, one of the founders of the Pikes Peak range Riders, who died last spring.

After services, the men will ride to the Gruenwald Ranch north of the Hermit Lake camp where the riders have been staying since Thursday. At the ranch they will be met by trucks and buses which will take them to Colorado Springs. They expect to be at the Broadmoor Stables at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

There will be a banquet at the Antlers Hotel at 6:30 tonight where awards for the games which were held Friday will be given out and the riders will reminisce for the benefit of their wives about happenings on the ride.

About 80 of the riders rode up the Hermit Lake Pass to the 13,000 foot level Saturday morning and enjoyed spacious views of the North Taylor, Wet Mountain and San Louis Valleys.

When they got back, the riders described the wide variety of alpine flowers, wild Buckwheat and Colombine they saw during the ride and the "whistle pigs" (Marmots) that are found at the higher elevations.

Bob Waymire went on the ride in spite of the much abused hind quarters that had him walking around a little more carefully than is normal after Thursday's ride. He was walking faster Saturday but his style hadn't changed any. He still looked as tho he'd been kicked by a Billy Goat with a real talent for the art.

Many of the riders stayed at the higher elevations after the ride and fished in the lakes in the area.

The riders returned to camp at 1 o'clock and had beef stew, hard rolls and watermelon. This reporter hasn't heard a single complaint about the food yet. Saturday night the men had steak, corn, new potatoes and their choice of apple or cherry pie. They weren't wasting any.

Friday afternoon, after a day of contests which included races, a couple of the riders decided to put on a private race of their own but not with horses. George Applequist and Don Norgren each put their money on an ant to win. Applequist's ant won, perhaps by a nose, tho it was hard to tell.

It wasn't easy to find the ants. They crawl into the riders sleeping bags at night and invade the commissionary all the time, but as one of the boys put it, "Just try to find one when you have a job for him to do."

Clarence Coil woke up Friday night to find a pack rate stealing away with a mouth full of feathers from his sleeping bag but for the most part the men have slept well during the trip.

Coil is one of the four men who have made every Range rider trip since the group was founded by Brookhart and Everett Conover. The others who have never missed a trip are Orville Potts, Mark Reyner and Harold Heyse.

These four are all looking forward to making the ride again next year and in spite of a few sore behinds; so is everyone else. Everyone agress that the Pikes Peak Range Riders 15th annual ride was "The best danged trip we'll ever take."

Dakin Funeral Rites Held Here Monday

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Adams and Swanson Funeral Home in North, Platte, Nebr. Burial will be there. Our Chapel of Memories has charge of local arrangements.

Arthur L. Dana Gets National Fellowship

Arthur Lane Dana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dana, 114 E. Uintah St., has been awarded a fellowship from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. Announcement was made in Princeton, N. J.

Dana is a graduate of Palmer High School and has just been graduated from Colorado College.

He said Saturday that the fellowship he has received from the Woodrow National Fellowship Foundation is an honorary one, as he plans to attend Brandeis University on another scholarship.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON, (Special to Gazette Telegraph). Not withstanding some rather strong opposition to the proposed bill to modify the dual compensation act, the first day's hearing in the House did show that there is some possibility of success.

It is more likely that the final acceptance by the House will show the elimination of the item to bring retired enlisted men under the act and a raise from 6 to 8 years of active duty for officers before they come under the law.

The Government would like to eliminate the Federal employee from counting his active duty military service for both Civil Service retirement annuity as well as his military retired pay. So would career Government employees since the military group do not pay into the retirement fund for their retirement benefit.

It is doubtful if any modified dual compensation act will really benefit most retired regular officers if the 1894 dual office law remains untouched. The latter holds the salary of Federal employment to $2500 for the regulars.

An informal canvass of Senate leaders indicates that our earlier story on what to expect in the pay bill for the military will be about it. The expected Senate changes will increase basic pay for the three pay grades of officers we mentioned; detlete subsistence increases for officers and men; retain the recomputation item. The new proposal being discussed is that all retiring in 1963 prior to the effective date of the new pay measure will not compute retired pay on the 1963 scale but rather under the 1958 rate. This is really a kick where it hurts for many have retired under the impression that their retired pay would be under the new rate. Look to see many hold back from applying for retirement under after October.

The Senate Civil Service Committee is hopeful that the pay raise bill for Federal civilian employees, will have hearings early in August. In the interim the National Association of Letter Carriers will hold legislative rally here for three days. More than 1,000 delegates, representative of each of the Congressional districts, will be here for purposes of explaining the measure to members of Congress.

On July 11, a press conference of Secretary of Defense McNamara confirmed our previous "exclusive" that there is to be "absolutely no plans for reducing combat forces." Incidentally the press conference, one of the best attended, showed that the secretary is a much more "human" image. He actually cracked jokes with the pressmen.

The Senate has amended a measure to extend to 1965 the law to improve the active duty promotion opportunity for Air Force Majors and Lt. Colonels and returned the bill to the House. The House acted immediately and the bill is now on way to White House for signature.

Last year our column predicted selection of Marine Corps C-S Lt. Gen. Wallace Greene to be the next commandante of the corps, and the selection of Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever to be the next C-S of the Air Force. We believe that this is still the best bet. The unusual aspects of the "changeover" in the Air Force is that both its chief of staff and the Vice C-S will complete their tours about the same time. Whom do you pick for the Vice C-S is the question here at the Pentagon. We think it will be a big surprise.

Until the Army completes its review of the Reserve program, all hiring of Reserve civilian technicians has been brought to a stop. This program had been most fortunate in being able to employ quite a few active retired Army Reservists, which provided an unexpected pool of trained technicians.

The Army is taking a firm position to protect rights of active duty personnel with respect to buying insurance. A new directive says that solicitation and sale of insurance on post is a privilege and not an inherent right on part of the insurance salesman. All spelled out in new AR 210-8 which replaces AR 600-101.

Some 257 officers from the "secondary zone" have been selected by the Air Force for promotion to Lt. Colonel to be effective this month. At same time the Air Force named all of the remaining fiscal year 1963 primary zone nominees for promotion to Major and Lt. Colonel. Any Lt. Colonel hopeful of retirement within 2 years, must consider declining promotion.

Good news for airmen. The Pentagon is expected to build new airmen dormitories or improve existing quarters, at some 50 bases. Believe it or not air conditioning will be installed at some of the dormitories.

The Pentagon has issued a new letter showing that on completion of 10 years of active duty the average officer or enlisted man loses a pretty big "investment" if he does not go for 20. The directive says that an average enlisted man going out after 10 years service must earn annually $3,422 more thna his military pay to equate what he gives up in the way of retired pay. Notwithstanding the big fuss over the 20 year retirement for officers very few regulars so retire, and the Army has a mandatory 20-year retirement policy for active duty reserve officers so it would seem the Pentagon is not giving out the complete story on retirement

Hearings Set For Compensation Cases This Week

The Colorado Industrial Commission has scheduled hearings for 29 workmen's compensation cases, including one fatality, Monday thru Wednesday in room 302 at the El Paso County Office Building.

Thomas E. Kelly, commission referee, said the fatal case to be heard on the 9 a.m. docket Monday involves the late Keith L. Wilson versus the Mayfield Engineering Co.

Mr. Wilson, 37, an electrician who lived at 822 Skyway Blvd., reportedly was overcome by monoxide gas last Dec. 19 while working at the ADC Building. He was working on a conduit run in a closed room while a gasoline powered air compressor was being used by spray painters.

The gas poisoining reportedly led to a heart attack which forced him to go to a hospital Dec. 22-24. He returned to work Dec. 27. While on a vacation in Fresno, Calif., Feb. 23, he suffered a fatal heart attack.

The hearing will determine if the condition which resulted in his death may have been related directly to the job-connected incident, rights to any medical benefits, wage history and extent of dependency. He is survived by his widow.

Claimants and defendants in the remaining 14 cases to be heard Monday are:

Harry Sievers and Herbert Barnes versus the City of Colorado Springs, Sarah Long and the Broadmoor Hotel, James Keeler and Golden Cycle Corp., Glen DePriest and Jardon and Knight Welding Inc., Jesse Johnson versus Sigard Aga, Pauline Sims and Jacqueline Bennet versus Memorial Hospital.

Byron Berg and Goose Creek Land Corp., Thomas Maestas and International Hod Carriers Local 578, Raymond Blea and Alcoves of Colorado Springs, Ralph Manuel and Colorado Springs Auto Wrecking, Lyman Partin and Ross Plymell versus El Paso County School District 11.

Cases to be heard Tuesday at 9 a.m. involve Lawrence Lovato and Reynolds Construction Co., Dorothy Orcutt and Jerry's Bar and Restaurant, Glenn Powell versus Smith & Lucas, Jim L. Aultman versus Jim L. Aultman, William Hogarth and Alexander Construction Co., Deldon Ellis and Ken's Standard Service, Imogene Classen and Morton's Nursing Home, Ruth carrico and High Valley Farm.

A single case set for the presentation of medical evidence only at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday involves Lorenza Copeland and Lou Grubb Oldsmobile Co.

Five cases docketed for the final session Wednesday at 9 a.m. involve Joseph Chavez and Great Lakes Carbon Corp., Benito Meehan versus Jack Spitzer and other defendants, Robert Gouker and Selectile Company of Colorado, Virgil Alkire and Aladdin Transfer & Storage, Elliott Rice and the City of Colorado Springs.

Rosalie Hobbs Scott Dies Here Saturday

Mrs. Rosalie Hobbs Scott, 91, of the Albany Hotel, died Saturday at a local hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Law Mortuary with the Rev. Joe Carroll and the Rev. Lloyd Nichols officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Scott was a pioneer of Colorado Springs having lived here since 1873. She was born in 1872 in Independence, Mo. She came to Colorado from Missouri in a covered wagon caravan.

She was married to Frank L. Scott, of Urichville, Ohio, who died in 1905. Mrs. Scott was a member of the First Congregational Church, Women's Educational Society, El Paso County Pioneer Assn. and the Portia Club.

Mrs. Scott is survived by one son, Francis Scott, and one brother, Charles M. Hobbs, both of Colorado Springs.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Our Uncomfortable Pedestal

You can be sure, whatever the problem that may arise, politicians the world over will tend to blame the United States. However unfair such constant whipping may be, there is a profound reason for it.

At its inception, America became a symbol of hope for the oppressed and downtrodden of the world. The ideas of liberty, born in our independence, our wilderness, our self-reliance, inspired the human race into a belief that in America, any man was the equal of any other man. The concept of equal rights is a thrilling thing and by the millions people the world over adhered to it.

But, unfortunately, Americans are as subject to prejudice and ignorance as other peoples. Probably only a handful of Americans at any time glimpsed the true significance of the concept of equal rights, the concept of private ownership and management of property, the concept of freedom as a principle. That was not only true in the 18th century, it is still true today in the twentieth.

It follows that actions of Americans have not always matched their high purposes and high ideals. But only in America was anything comparable to our ideals enunciated. We set ourselves up as the champions of human rights and of individual freedom. Other peoples may violate human rights and walk roughshod over personal liberties and few will even grumble. They expect it.

But let America demonstrate a sliding away from the original concepts or what the original concepts are often interpreted as meaning, and the whole world glowers angrily and demands that something be done. Our national problem in this regard is that we are in the predicament of any individual or group placed upon a pillar. We have been set up as a world model. Any flaw is apt to be revealed quickly in the bright lights under which we are being examined.

We are in the position of a movie star who makes an unfortunate choice of companions at a party. That may become the subject of conversation for weeks to follow.

With this situation confronting us, we clearly have only two choices. We must either climb down off this pedestal and repudiate our stated principles. Or we must educate ourselves as to the real meanings of these principles and then accept the responsibility of acting in harmony with them.

Personally, we cannot see the merit in the former course. Simply to abandon our ideals in order to escape world gossip seems to us to be a rather weak-kneed procedure. Besides, the ideals are both important and practical. But accepting them is going to take a great deal of work. And it is the kind of work few people like. It calls for self-discipline.

Right now, for instance, the world is torn bitterly over racial strife. It doesn't just occur in the deep South in the United States, the tensions are world wide and have existed for centuries.

For example, there has always been racial and class prejudice in India. The caste system there has not been abolished altho it was weakened a generation ago. In Africa, the conflict between races is a terrifying thing. The whites there are in the minority and on the defensive. In China, Mao is doing his best to rally all races save the white into a valiant pro-communist movement, against which effort Russia stands. But Russia also is practicing racial bigotry and religious intolerance.

In the island of Haiti, some of the recent discord has appeared between the mulattoes who own property and the Negroes who do not.

So, it appears proper that we in America take the lead in trying to understand this problem and in re-stating the principles which are implicit in the ideals we have enunciated from the beginning.

Rich Mine

To be grateful for the small kindnesses others do, is to find a mine of many riches and to enjoy it with them.

Racial Origins

To form a valid opinion facts are essential. Only prejudice flourishes on the basis of emotion and pre-judgment. While racial differences and cultural variations may stimulate resentment and anger, the facts must be found and re-emphasized.

First of all, where do the various races of the world come from?

Let us admit at the outset that no one knows for certain. There are mythical and mystical accounts which cannot be supported by facts but which have been widely accepted in various places because of frequent repetition.

The anthropologists give us the best information, not because it is finally known to be true but because, for what there is of it, it is bolstered by evidence.

Man is an evolving creature. For a million years a creature resembling man, or man himself, has inhabited this weary old globe. It appears from the traces he has left of himself that two principal species evolved.

One of them became known as Neanderthal man; the other was called Cro-Magnon. Of the two, Cro-Magnon was the more advanced. And so it happened that during the Pleistocene period, when the great ice sheets descended from the poles, only Cro-Magnon survived. It is believed that Cro-Magnon had discovered the uses of fire, and managed somehow to get thru the centuries of encroaching ice to emerge today much as we know him.

Following the last of the great frigid periods, and certainly during some of the warm periods between the ice ages, man managed to circumnavigate the globe. What we call homo sapiens managed to settle on every continent and under every climatic condition. From these circumstances, racial distinctions may have developed.

Five distinct racial groups have evolved. They are: Black, Yellow, Red, Brown and White. And every conceivable type of mixture has emerged, also.

There is a theory which may or may not be ultimately substantiated, that the Red peoples are merely a late offshoot of earlier Yellow peoples.

Assuming the existence of a land bridge between Siberia and Alaska, it has been conjectured frequently that people having Mongolian tendencies and who migrated from the heart of Asia, crossed the Bering Sea to become Eskimos, North American Indians, Central American Indians, South American Indians, and finally went as far as Tierra del Fuego, where the Fuegians still exhibit certain Mongolian characteristics.

Artifacts have been uncovered in various places in the Americas revealing that early Indians in the new world had the particular fold of skin near the eyes giving the distinctive "slant" so often observed in Oriental peoples.

Assuming the truth of such a migration, there is nothing particularly unusual about it. Research being conducted by Professors Leakey and Dart in Africa throw considerable weight behind the idea that all human origins may have been on that dark continent and from it all migrations which ultimately peopled the world, got started.

Man has been characterized in many ways including that of being called a "bad weather" species. Man, of all living things, managed to alter his environment and his surroundings sufficiently to make survival possible in extremely hot and extremely cold places. And in process of making these environmental adjustments, color of skin and certain other distinctive features may have developed.

This may not be so. But the explanation is the only one offered thus far which appears to fit the facts as they emerge today. If the assumption is true, then all men are members of a single species, homo sapiens. However they may differ in skin color, in bone conformation, in the kind of hair grown, or in other ways, identity with the root stock continues.

These Days

Plowing the Farmer Under

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Partisans of the welfare legislation of the past thirty years invariably try to rule their opponents out of court as reputable witnesses by stigmatizing them as heartless, selfish and inhumane. But welfare legislation, which very often fails to produce the effect that is intended, frequently operates in practice in a way that makes life in the jungle cordial by contrast.

The inhumanity of our agricultural support program, for example, is demonstrated any time that a statistician looks at what has happened to millions of farmers since the creation of the first Triple A in the nineteen thirties. The excuse for the original New Deal agricultural laws was that they were needed to protect the family farm, particularly the small farm with the high mortgage. But on the farm, as elsewhere "them as has, gits" and when the government goes into the business of subsidizing the farmer on the basis of a fair percentage of his produce, the more affluent operator "gits" the most. The New Deal, in failing to establish a top cut-off point for total parity benefit payments to an individual farmer, made it inevitable that the rich agriculturalist, the one who could afford to combine the most machinery with his manpower, would really make a good thing out of state support of his effort. The poorer farmer, struggling to get a cotton crop, say, out of his forty acres and a mule, could not produce enough on his government acreage allotment to command a decent support loan. Thus he never could afford to buy a tractor and more land.

EROSION

The mills of the gods have been grinding slowly since the days of the pioneer Triple A. But they have been grinding exceedingly fine. Edward Higbee, a land utilization expert from the University of Rhode Island who recently completed a study of farm trends for the Twentieth Century Fund, is positively devilish in his assembly of statistics bearing on the human erosion of the past thirty years on the farm front. In 1935, when Henry Wallace, Rexford Tugwell and other knights errant of the New Deal were galloping forth to save the farmer, there were 6.8 million farm units in the United States. In 1961 there were only 3.7 million. This means that more than three million farm families have had to quit the soil despite the billions in subsidy money lavished on American agriculture.

How could there have been so much human attrition in an era that has been dominated by the welfarist mind? Looking back on the record, it becomes obvious that nobody ever had any real desire to institute a humane program for the small farmer.

Every bit of farm legislation for the last three decades has made it less and less profitable to use crude labor power in the fields, barns and feeding lots of the U.S. With acreage allotments limited, the farmer with the most efficient machinery and the lowest total labor costs per bushel could obviously make the most money out of the support program.

True enough, the industrial revolution in agriculture would work to eliminate the small, inefficient family farm in any event. But thirty years of offering premiums for the use of machinery, fertilizer and genetic science have speeded up the process. The small, relatively inefficient farmer has had less time than he might normally have counted on to find something more suited to his talents. He has been thrown, willy-nilly, on the city before new urban industries have had the opportunity to absorb him.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The whole cruel impact of the operation is apparent when you look at a city like Washington, D.C., which is filled with Negro refugees from the South who could not make out as farmers with only their muscles and a mule to raise a crop.

True enough, if the small farmer had had the instincts of the European peasant, he might have made out. A couple of weeks ago I drove thru the Amish country of Pennsylvania, that smiling stretch of rolling land between Lancaster and Morgantown. The Amish, to judge by everything you could see, are still proving to the world that a farmer can make a living if he devotes most of his time, and hard personal labor, to feeding himself and his family out of garden produce. The Amish still refuse to waste money on gasoline or expensive machinery. But they live like peasants—and this has never appealed to the average American farmer.

Crackdown on U.S. Students In Cuba

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A double-barreled crackdown is now definitely in the cards for the 58 U.S. students junketing in Cuba as the all-expenses-paid guests of the Communist-ruled Castro regime.

Both the Justice Department and House Un-American Activities Committee are set to take the following action:

A special grand jury will grill the students on charges they violated the travel control law (Title 8, U.S. Code) and State Department regulations. Subpoenas are ready to be served as they return. The first group is expected around August 3.

The Un-American Activities Committee will conduct a thoro investigation of who organized and financed this trip and why. The House probers have ascertained that a mysterious Canadian, known only as "Jacobs," put up $30,000 in cash to pay the fares of the junketeers. British and Dutch airlines flew them to Czechoslovakia, where they transferred to a Cuban plane for the trip to Havana.

The House probers estimate the total cost of this junket at around $200,000.

Purpose of summoning the students before a special grand jury is to procure indictments. But Justice and State Department authorities are split on how drastic such prosecution should be.

The Justice Department's Criminal Division is urging an across-the-board crackdown to discourage other adventures of this kind.

Attorneys of the division are stressing two points: (1) The State Department publicly announced on January 16, 1961 that special permission would thereafter be required to travel to Cuba; (2) the 58 junketing students were fully warned they were violating this unequivocal ban.

But State Department officials are urging against indicting all these students on the ground of "possible adverse publicity." Why it should be unfavorable is not known. The department advocates indicting only "the leaders."

Penalty for this offense is a maximum fine of $5,000, imprisonment up to five years, or both.

THE LEADER

Levi Laub, who lists himself as a Columbia University student, apparently is the top leader of these Castro guests.

According to a Havana interview, in the hands of the Un-American Activities Committee, Laub describes himself as the prime mover in organizing this tour. He claims a committee was set up for this purpose in October 1962 "one afternoon when students from Columbia University, New York University, CCNY, and the country college, all located in New York City, met to talk about Cuba and the treatment it was getting from the U.S. press."

A week later it was decided to visit Cuba, and remarkably, almost immediately thereafter, "we received a cablegram containing an invitation from the Cuban University Student Federation" — which House investigators charge is Communist-controlled.

In his Spanish-language interview, Laub tips off the students' line of defense against prosecution.

They are going to raise a technicality — claiming they didn't use their U.S. passports to go to Cuba. Obviously, professional legal minds figured this slick stratagem out for them, and Laub boastfully discussed it as follows:

"He asserted that many students had expressed an interest in such a trip despite the risk involved. Laub emphasized that the students' position is that they are not violating any law. He explained that they did not use their passports to come to Cuba. Cuban officials in Prague and Havana at no time asked the members of the group for their passports.

"'That is why we think,' continued Laub, 'that we did not violate the law concerning the misuse of passports.'" But this is not a basic point. The basic question is not whether the law is being violated or not. Laub said they are "doing the right thing because they have come to see and to learn. They have come to get acquainted with Cuban students, to get acquainted with the Cuban people, and to talk to them and to discuss things with them."

In his interview, Laub also disclosed that "they" held meetings with students on university campuses in the San Francisco Bay area, in Michigan and in Wisconsin. They met and talked with more than 500 students. Laub said they paid the expenses connected with these meetings and trips thruout the country. He said they received money from persons to whom they explained they were organizing a trip to learn about the Cuban revolution's accomplishments and to protect their constitutional rights.

Laub is quoted as saying that "great and successful efforts were made in getting a good number of Negro students to come along." He explained they wanted Negro students to have an opportunity to see, just as all of them wanted to see, the situation of their Cuban Negro brothers. He said that 10 of the group of 58 students are Negroes.

The Kennedy administration's record in dealing with U.S. nationals who have visited Cuba is also slated for scrutiny during the Un-American Activities Committee's investigation.

The House probers have ascertained that during one six-month period last year, some 97 individuals went to Cuba in violation of the law, and so far only one has been indicted. In all of these instances, the trip was made by way of Mexico City.

A number of the persons are now going about the U.S. giving talks lauding Castro and his Communist regime.

The committee wants to know why the Justice Department has been so lax in cracking down on these violators. Attorney General Robert Kennedy may be personally "invited" to explain this strange indifference.

CUBAN FLASHES

Revealing sights the junketing U.S. students are not being shown in Cuba: Cubans being evicted from their homes in Santiago, Matanzas, Camaguey, Caibarien and Santa Clara to provide housing for the ever-growing number of Russian and satellite "technicians" and "specialists". . .After a series of high-powered propaganda meetings, Havana textile workers pledged themselves to produce 2 million pairs of men, women and children's socks in the next 12 months. . .The nationalized bakery in Santa Clara is under heavy fire from workers in the community because of the poor quality of bread being turned out. Apparently these complaints are so pronounced that the provincial food council couldn't suppress them and had to publicly admit the situation and denounce the bakery.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 274: "Can the Golden Rule be a guide of human conduct unless one understands that it must be applied both positively and negatively?"

That is a very good question because it is doubtful whether very many people really understand the meaning of the Golden Rule. Most of them think they do, but too many of them think that it applies one way, that if you want a thing done to you then you have the right to do the same thing to somebody else whether he wants it done to him or not.

It certainly must be applied both positively and negatively. Remember, it reads, Matt. 7:12: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets." "This is the law and the prophets" includes the Human Relations Commandments, which are: "Honor thy father and thy mother," "Thou shalt not murder," "Thou shalt not commit adultery," "Thou shalt not steal," "Thou shalt not bear false witness," and "Thou shalt not covet." These, according to the Jewish and Christian numbering, are the last six commandments. According to the Catholics, they are the last seven. The Catholics combine the first two commandments and make them one and make two out of the Coveting Commandment.

But the Human Relations Commandments, with the exception of "Honor thy father and thy mother," are all negative.

The Golden Rule can be worded negatively as well as positively and has the same meaning. If we remember correctly, Confucius put it in the negative form: "Do not do unto others what you would not have others do unto you."

If people would understand this great summary of the Human Relations Commandments we would not be in one war after another, we wouldn't have unemployment, we wouldn't have hate, we would not be losing our right to plan our own lives, so long as we respected the rights of others to do the same, we would have good-will and peace on earth.

We would be glad to have more explanations of the Golden Rule, because the more we can get people to understand it, the more they will see the benefits derived from living by it and the better off we all will be.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

To The Point

Negro Meredith and N.A.A.C.P.

By RUSSELL KIRK

The convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at Chicago, has been the worst possible presentation of the Negro organization's case for special legislation. Moderate and responsible colored leaders were booed and insulted and menaced. White leaders well disposed toward the improvement of the condition of colored Americans were derided and misrepresented.

Probably the most startling episode was the shabby treatment of Mr. James Meredith, the first colored student to enter the University of Mississippi. While Mr. Meredith told his audience that Negro leaders must acquire a sense of responsibility, and opposed any march on Washington to intimidate Congress, he was subjected to denigration by Mr. Roy Wilkins, the N.A.A.C.P. executive secretary. Meredith "is not really representative of young Negroes," Wilkins declared. Later Mr. Wilkins said that Meredith ought to apologize for criticizing the "intolerance and bigotry" of some young Negroes.

"I just don't believe in mobs," said Mr. Meredith. He has good reason to dislike the mob: a furious crowd of thousands fought to keep him out of the University of Mississippi, and men were shot. Mr. Meredith knows that neither colored nor white mob-rule can improve the condition of American colored people.

Even to obstinate segregationists, James Meredith appears a man of high courage. He has risked his life in Jackson; and what is perhaps harder to bear, he has endured a prolonged ostracism. In Jackson, he was not afraid to confront a sea of hostile faces and menacing hands. In Chicago, he was not afraid to speak harsh words of wisdom to belligerent enthusiasts.

But the abuse with which he was overwhelmed at Chicago hurt him badly. He could not endure, he said, "this kind of intolerance," or "stand to be so dishonored by my own people."

The mayor of Chicago, tho nominally he was leading a freedom rally, was shouted down by his audience. Dr. James H. Jackson, president of the colored National Baptist convention, was greeted with cries of "kill him!" and had to be hurried away in a police car. Other people who opposed reckless mass demonstrations and hasty decisions were treated scarcely better. The N.A.A.C.P. leadership refused to apologize to any of these invited speakers.

Well! I suggest that such conduct is not reassuring evidence of the preparation of all colored people for complete and amicable and immediate association on terms of equality with all other Americans. One of the colored students recently enrolled at the University of Alabama has remarked that what the Negro really needs is education for better leadership — and mass demonstrations will not help in that cause.

By their bellicose and intolerant attitudes, many leaders of well-financed Negro organizations have been alienating the very people they need. Months ago, Senator Dirksen suggested that he had grown lukewarm in the Negro cause because of the ferocity with which Negro organizations had opposed his re-election, despite his previous voting in favor of "civil rights" legislation. Even Mr. Walter Reuther has grown vexed at the charges of N.A.A.C.P. people against labor unions. Mr. Wilkins has provoked a sharp retort from Senator Goldwater, who has a record of helping colored people in Arizona. If James Meredith is too timid and moderate for the N.A.A.C.P. — why, the N.A.A.C.P. will become a curse to the very people it professes to represent.

The American Way

Red Propaganda Straws

By HARRY BROWNE

The "seasoned observers" and "informed sources" are at it again!

According to them, the Russians and Red Chinese have had a falling-out — so soon there'll be no more threat from the Communists.

The political pundits haven't had this much fun since their "informed sources" told them back in 1948 that Mao Tse-tung was really an agrarian reformer. Since that time, these "seasoned observers" enjoyed another big scoop in 1958 — when they discovered that Fidel Castro was the George Washington of Cuba.

Now the same old hacks are back at the same old stand—selling the same old phony elixir.

HOAX

The bold facts of Communist life clearly reveal that if the Reds really were having troubles, we'd be the last ones to hear about it. It's only when there's a gigantic hoax under way that they let us in on their "problems." Yet the "pundits" and the "observers" are pouring it on — trying to make us believe the Chinese and Russians are at each other's throats.

One can only guess what transpired behind closed doors during the recent Russian-Chinese meetings. We can hope that at least a few legs might have been broken as they slapped their knees in amusement over our desire to believe anything they dream up.

THE ONE THING

But let's assume that this great show really is on the level. Is there anything we can do to take advantage of Communist dissension?

Yes! We can do the one thing we ought to do anyway — whether or not there really are "rifts" in the Communist camp. That solution is to break off all relations with all Communist countries — and force them to live off their own bankrupt system.

It's inconceivable that the Communists could ever feed an enormous population like the Chinese with communism. And yet this so-called "ideological" dispute is being utilized to build up the Chinese as a dangerous power that must be "reckoned with." What this means is that we shall shortly be asked to recognize the Red Chinese, give them lucrative terms and possibly send them subsidized wheat (all of which we do now with the Soviets). This is how we would "face up to the danger."

SUBSIDY

No Communist society has ever existed without feeding off the labors of a capitalist society. The Red Chinese have lasted this long only because we have subsidized the Chinese. And because we have prevented the Nationalist Chinese from recapturing their rightful homeland.

Let's put a stop to all this foolishness! Let's face up to reality and quit grasping at propaganda straws thrown out by the Communists.

Let's break off all relations with all Communist countries and then prepare for the peaceful era that will inevitably follow.

GEORGE BOARDMAN, PH. D.

A recent letter from a correspondent included this sentence: "You will have to admit that your representatives in public office fight for your right to disagree with them." The statement is completely false.

To begin with, no one represents me. No one holds a public office because of my vote. I have sanctioned the right of no one to represent me except that my daughter and son-in-law are attending to our business in our ghost town of Chloride, Arizona.

My right to agree or disagree with anyone I possess by virtue of being alive, not because of the efforts of a public hireling. I can think of no time when any public servant has been concerned with my right to do anything except stand still while my earnings are stolen. Since 1923, when I became old enough to vote, politicians have continually occupied themselves with stealing from my earnings for the benefit of others via taxes which have been forcibly imposed upon me. They have denied my right to go into business, to marry, to enjoy many forms of entertainment unless I pay tribute to them.

I may not smoke or drink an alcoholic beverage without paying tribute to politicians, nor clothe myself or provide myself with shelter or food without paying tribute on an involuntary basis. My right to own property has been degraded until my actual status is that of a share cropper who made a bad deal with a land owner.

Despite a horrible tax burrden, government has added to my discomfort by deliberately devaluating my earnings by more than 2½ per cent for many years. In terms of the purchase price of a loaf of bread, a dollar I might have saved in 1940 is worth less than 20 cents, if that. At no time have I ever given my consent to the evils which have been forced upon me by politicians. Every politician I ever voted for did his best to add new chains to those which enslaved me and to devise new and different methods of stealing from me, without exception.

No, government did NOT give my daughter an education. It stole from the earnings of others to accomplish that purpose, while it continued to steal from me at a rate which would more than pay for her education and it continues in its infinite capacity for greed, even today.

Next year, supposedly intelligent adults will flock to polling places so they mark or stamp an X which will sanction more thievery. Many of them will believe their vote may result in no more thievery or, in the case of the most optimistic, a little less thievery. Every one of those voters is capable of examining the record and of understanding the difference between right and wrong, between slavery and freedom. In a manner which appears almost mysterious, they will manage to ignore the facts, while increasing their sentence and the sentences of their children and even their grandchildren, to more and more years of involuntary servitude. It will be a remarkable exhibition of human stupidity, complete with TV coverage.

If I should be foolish enough to sell my votes for $25,000 next year, I would not break even. Government has taken a great deal more than that from me in my life time. Certainly, I am not going to vote for more looting and plundering at my expense, nor will I vote for more plundering and looting at your expense.

I have not asked for police or fire protection or for services of any kind from the government of Mohave County, Arizona; in fact, my family and I are on record as making a single request of that government: get off our backs and we will attend to our own welfare and responsibilities. We have never hooked up our TV to watch programs which cost all of the taxpayers of Mohave County about $38,000 a year. The county supervisors are not providing us with this service because we neither sanction it nor use it.

No elected or appointed official represents me!

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Who gave the Dry Tortugas their name?

A—Ponce de Leon discovered these keys and called them the Tortugas (Spanish for turtle) because of the many turtles in nearby waters.

Q — Why is March 17 celebrated as St. Patrick's Day?

A — It is St. Patrick's feast day and the day on which he died.

Q — How much of the human body is water?

A — Over two-thirds.

Q — Who originated the phrase "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it?"

A — It is generally credited to Mark Twain but is believed to have originated with Charles Dudley Warner, a co-author with Mark Twain of "The Gilded Age."

Q — Are the eyes of Chinese actually slanted?

A — No. The slant-eyed effect is caused by a lid-fold in the inner corner which makes the eyes look slanted or almond-shaped.

Q — The tail of which monkey is most highly developed for grasping?

A — The spider monkey.

Teacher Strikes Are Impending, Group Is Told

GREELEY, Colo. (UPI) — A week-long session for Colorado school administrators and board members ended here Friday with criticism of the U.S. Supreme Court, warnings of impending teachers' strikes, and a slap at a dyed-in-the-wool tradition.

Dr. Raymond DeBoer, a professor of speech at Colorado State University, told the gathering that teachers have a new willingness to strike — in New York City, where a strike for higher wages has been threatened for September, and in Utah, "where the governor faces a statewide teachers strike unless some compromise can be worked out for higher pay and better schools."

DeBoer also said it seemed the minority—"Mrs. Madalyn Murray and eight members of the U.S. Supreme Court"—had taken control of the schools. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled Mrs. Murray, of Baltimore, was within the Constitution when she criticized the reading of the Lord's Prayer in public schools. The high court banned further reading of the prayer.

DeBoer said "there are 30 states that either require or permit Bible reading and the Lord's Prayer, and half the nation's public school children are in these schools. This is clearly what the majority wants — but they can't have it any longer."

A CSC history professor, Dr. Dean Arnold, said inter-school athletics and all that go with them contribute to anti-intellectualism.

Arnold said too much time and money was spent on athletics—"every 12-year-old boy knows the techniques of basketball. . .there's no need to have gray-haired men . . .to teach 21-year-old boys what they already know" — and said American schools should spend more time with the primary aim of education.

He defined that primary aim as "helping mankind avoid annihilation through world peace with justice and freedom."

TURNS OVER PROFIT

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) — U. S. Ambassador Dodso Sprouse Saturday handed over to Gen. Lon Nol, Cambodian commissioner-general for sports, the sum of 230,369 riels (about $6,500) the profits from the recent U.S. agricultural and industrial exposition.

SEVEN LEAGUE BOOTS — These boots weigh 350 pounds each and have gone from Colorado Springs to Reno, Nev. They were photographed at the bronze casting studio of Carson and Martha Rubey at the Garden of the Gods where they were made. The boots are replicas of the original boots of Charles August Steen who was down to his last dime when he discovered the $100 million mountain of uranium and became "Uranium King."

Utah School Crisis Resolution Claimed

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah Education Association Board of Trustees agreed Friday night that Gov. George Clyde's study committee was a satisfactory resolution of the state school crisis.

The trustees made their decision during a lengthy session at which they considered all aspects of the school controversy.

They said they would recommend that the committee be accepted as a satisfactory solution by the UEA House of Delegates at an Aug. 2 meeting and by the association membership the following day.

If those two groups agree, the board said it would recommend that Utah teachers then proceed with the negotiation of contracts for the 1963-64 school year. The members emphasized that negotiations with local school boards must await approval by the UEA groups.

The acceptance of he governor's committee by the UEA leadership averted a possible teacher strike in Utah this fall.

Seven League Boots Story Is Rags to Riches Tale

By JOHN FETLER

A pair of Seven-League boots have gone from Colorado Springs to Reno, Nev.

How they got there, is a tale of "the last pair of boots" to riches.

The Seven-League boots shown in the photograph weight 350 pounds apiece. They were photographed at the bronze casting studio of Carson and Martha Rubey at the Garden of the Gods, where they were made.

They are replicas of the original, beat-up, run-down, hole-ridden boots of a prospector who was down to his last pair of boots, who hocked his jeep and made one last desperate stab into the desert of Southern Utah.

The prospector was Charles August Steen, who is now 43 years old. The old boots are one of his most prized possessions — a part from the $16 million which he is reportedly worth today.

It was in 1952 that Steen hocked his jeep for grub, borrowed a Geiger counter, and walked deep into the desert in a last try to find something.

The "something" turned out to be a $100 million mountain of uranium. Steen became the "Uranium King."

Now he lives with his wife and four sons in Reno, Nev., where he is building a half-million dollar home. He is also putting finishing touches on his new office building in Reno, called the Utex Exploration Building, which also contains a mining laboratory.

And this is where the boots come in again.

Steen still has his old prospector boots. He had them bronzed. But he wanted something bigger, something to recall the old rugged days of last hopes and last chances.

Therefore he asked Spero (as everybody calls the sculptor) to make replicas of the old prospector boots. Spero went to work. He enlarged the original boots three times or 27 times the volume of the original. He first made the models: Each boot came to be 26 inches tall, 36 inches long, in plaster.

Then he looked around for a place to have them cast in bronze. San Francisco has no facilities to cast bronze. Chicago and New York foundries said it would take more time than was available.

Then Spero remembered Carson and Martha Rubey of Colorado Springs. He had met the Rubeys when they were on a visit to San Francisco.

He gave them a telephone call. "Sure," the Rubeys said, "we'll try to cast the boots in bronze." Being a man of action, Spero loaded the Seven-League Boots into his sports car and roared off for Colorado Springs.

When he arrived here. Spero and the Rubeys tackled the problem of casting the boots into bronze, suitable for a monument. They made molds for each boot, one in four pieces, the other in three. Wax impressions were taken. Another mold was put around the wax impressios. The wax burned out. The molten bronze was poured in. Sounds complicated? It is!

The Rubeys and Spero chipped away at the mold, and found that the bronze boots had come our perfectly, including every boot lace in place. The boots were exact replicas of those which Charlie Steen had used on his long, successful trek into the desert.

Having completed the boots, they were shipped off to Reno, Nev., while the sculptor, breathing a sigh of relief at having finished the task, roared off in his sports car to a sports car rally.

The monumental Seven-League Boots will stand in front of Steen's new building in Reno, Nev., gleaming in the sun and under floodlights at night, a symbol of the eternal hope of the prospector in the deserts of the West.

Perhaps they also serve as reminders to the young mining engineers and prospectors who pass by that no matter how black things may look at the moment, the pot of gold may be just over the next hill, even if it takes getting down to the last pair of boots before striking it rich.

Denver Woman Faces Charges in Prostitution

LITTLETON, Colo. (UPI) — A Denver woman has been charged with running a house of prostitution in a $30,000 rented house—while its owners were on vacation.

The Arapahoe County district attorney's office charged Mrs. Paulette Tosatto of perating a house of prostitution, living on the proceeds of prostitution, and conspiracy on both counts. She also was charged in County Court with contriubting to the delinquency of minors.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard Spillane said Mrs. Tosatto and Lawrence Allen Baker, 34, rented the house in nearby Arapaho Hills. Baker was sentenced July 10 in U.S. District Court at Denver to two concurrent terms of four years 9 months each in prison on white slavery convictions.

Quaker's Tax Refusal Case Is Postponed

DENVER (UPI)—The court appearance of a Denver physician who has refused to pay part of his federal income tax was postponed Friday until Aug. 1.

U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred A. Arraj continued the case.

The judge ordered Dr. Arthur Evans to show cause why he should not hand over certain business records so that the Internal Revenue Service can determine his tax liability for 1961.

Dr. Evans, a Quaker, has refused for 20 years to pay the part of his income taxes which goes for military purposes. Each year, the IRS has attached his bank account to collect.

Bomb Dropped By Mistake in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Navy attack bomber dropped a bomb by mistake on crowded, downtown Market Street Friday during the noon rush to lunch.

The pale blue bomb was a practice one. The gunpowder in it didn't explode. And it hit nobody. But it caused plenty of excitement.

"I used to fly a bomber in Italy," said Policeman Norman Ronneberg.

"I never expected to get bombed in the streets of San Francisco."

"It looked like a shotgun had blown a three-inch hole through my office window," said Bob Cuyler of Menlo Park, an executive on the seventh floor of the eight-story, glass-walled IBM Building.

The 25-pound bomb came loose as Lt. R. A. Kiner of Anaheim, Calif., headed his A4A Skyhawk toward a landing at Alameda Naval Air Station after a practice bombing run over California's Central Valley.

The bomb, falling 25,000 feet, missed the crowded sidewalks and gouged a hole in the Middle of Market Street a foot wide and four inches deep. Then it bounced in a 300-foot arc over a five-story building while a fragment hit Cuyler's seventh-floor office.

Next the Mark 76, Model 5 bomb tore a chunk of concrete from a cornice on the fourth floor of the Phoenix Building on Pine Street more than a block away. Then it thudded to the street and bounced against a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. truck in which three workmen were eating sandwiches.

"We heard the thump," said one startled workman, Cleo Fain, of San Bruno.

"I got out of the truck and there was the tail piece of this bomb on the street about 10 feet away. Boy, next time we eat lunch with our hard hats on."

East German Secret Service Man Flees

BERLIN (AP)—An East German secret service man has fled to the West bringing valuable information, informed sources reported today.

He is believed to have come through the barricades around West Berlin by a secret route used by the East German Communist regime to slip agents into the West. He fled June 28.

The sources said his name is Rockstroh. His rank was the equivalent of sergeant-major, but he was filling an officer's post but he was filling an officer's post in the state security service at the time he fled.

He hid useful documents in his shoes, the sources said. These papers included a list of Communist agents in West Berlin.

He was flown to a secret destination in West Germany for detailed interrogation.

West Berlin police also reported a 20-year-old East German border guard slipped through barbed wire to the West Friday night. He had been on guard duty on the southern limits of West Berlin.

State Purchase Agent Appointment Slated

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John Love, presently in Miami Beach for the National Governors Conference, is expected to name a new state purchasing agent upon his return to Colorado next week.

Love said last week he was considering appointing present purchasing agent Richard Eckles to the job of coordinating national resources in Colorado.

Informed sources said Friday Lou Middlemist, former Denver purchasing agent, was being considered to replace Eckles.

A total of 85 million persons attend fairs each year in the United States, according to the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

McVicker Against Setting Up State College in Denver

DENVER (UPI) — State Sen. Roy McVicker, D-Wheat Ridge, said Friday it would probably "waste a lot of money" to have a new four-year state college in Denver.

He called instead for a two-year college, with heavy emphasis on technical and vocational courses, and working closely with the Emily A. Griffith Opportunity School.

Up to now, the two major proposals for higher education in Denver had been either a four-year college operated by the University of Colorado or a brand-new state college independent of CU.

"Under my proposal, the CU extension center could be used primarily for third and fourth-year college students, whereas the new community college would concentrate on the first and second years of college life," McVicker said.

"I feel this would guarantee a high quality of education throughout the city offering total opportunity at all levels."

Mrs. Janet Little Dies in Montreal

Mrs. Janet Pennoyer Little, former Colorado Springs resident, died Saturday morning at a hospital in Montreal, Canada. She was the sister-in-law of W. T. (Doc) Little, Rocky Mountain News bureau chief here.

Mrs. Little husband, who survives her, is Franklin R. Little of Ogdensburg, N.Y., publisher of four newspapers in upper New York State. He was formerly an employe in the advertising department of the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph before the two newspapers merged.

Altho a native of Chicago, Mrs. Little was raised in Colorado Springs. The family home was on East San Rafael Street north of Palmer Hall. Mrs. Little was a graduate of Smith College.

She was stricken with paralysis four months ago in Japan while she and her husband were on an ocean voyage and was confined in a respirator. She had been taken to Montreal for special treatment.

Survivors include her husband and two sons, Franklin P. Little of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and George Little of Massena, N.Y.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ogdensburg. The McLellan Funeral Home there is in charge of arrangements.

INCREASES STOCKPILE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government is increasing its strategic stockpile of sperm oil, mercury and metallurgical-grade chromite. The Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) said it was increasing the stockpile for these times because they would be needed by industry in case of a conventional war.

James L. Brenner Staff Sergeant

Mrs. J. L. Linn, 1420 N. Chestnut St., returned recently from a month's visit in Weisbaden, Germany, with her son, Staff Sgt. James L. Brenner, and family. Mrs. Linn made the trip to and from Germany by air.

Her son was promoted June 1 to staff sergeant, and is a phychologist at the Air Force Hospital in Weisbaden. Last October he received an airman of the quarter award. An ardent bowler, he is possessor of a number of trophies.

Brenner was graduated in 1958 from Colorado College, where he was a psychology major. He enlisted in the service in 1953 and served four years military duty, which included a tour in North Africa.

In 1957 he was discharged from the service, and re-entered CC, where he obtained his college degree. He married Catherine Ann Logue in February, 1949, and re-enlisted in the Air Force in March that year.

Sgt. and Mrs. Brenner have two sons, William Lewis, 3½, and James Leslie, 7 months.

The Brenner family will return to the United States next next spring after four years in Germany.

Hill Climb Pays Off In Publicity

The Pikes Peak Hill Climb is paying off handsomely in free publicity for the Pikes Peak Region, according to Clay Banta, manager of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Holiday magazine carried an article on the Hill Climb in its July edition, and the San Francisco Examiner of Tuesday, July 9, had an almost full-page advertisement by Mercury motors featuring pictures of Parnelli Jones driving the winning stock car up Pikes Peak on July 4.

Additional advertising by major accessory companies which participated in the auto race is expected to break soon in national magazines, newspapers and on television, Banta said.

Chrysler Corporation is featuring on network television a story of a new type of family van which originallly was filmed on its way to the top of Pikes Peak.

The current issue of Travel magazine has on its back cover a full-page advertisement by Airstream Trailer Company. It features a picture of the trailer in the Garden of the Gods with Balanced Rock and Steamboat Rock in the background.

Cellist Given Standing Ovation At FAC Concert

By JOHN FETLER

Not in many a season has as audience here been an enthusiastic for a cello player as it was Friday night for Leslie Parnas at the Fine Arts Center.

The occasion was the fourth Colorado College summer season concert.

There has been quite a bit of anticipation since Parnas first appeared here with the other guest artists.

Parnas played three challenging works: Locatelli, Debussy, and Tchaikovsky, of which the latter proved to be the most rewarding for melody and tone, altho the Debussy number also provided some nice effects.

The applause was generous. But, what must have been a fine surprise for Parnas was that after a few moments of applause after he had finished, a goodly number of the audience spontaneously stood up in tribute to the cellist's performance.

Parnas seems to have two characteristics in his performing style: The more relaxed which he uses mostly in ensemble work, and which is characterized by a full, rich tone; and the more pressing, solo recital characteristic, which is characterized by what could be described as "drive." Each has its own special benefits. The first work, by Locatelli, showed histechinque to advantage; the second, by Debussy, presented some of the still modern effects; while the last, by Tchaikovsky, gave an opportunity for the cellist to pull out the stops on the full, rich timbre, and the romantic richness in bowing.

In all of these, the accompaniment by Max Lanner was remarkable for its discretionary sensitivity.

The concert was concluded by Ciompi, Skernick and Parnas in the "Divertimento in E Flat" by Mozart, written three years before his death, and as Lanner remarks in his lucid program notes, showing the composer investing "each of the six movements with depth and artistic perfection." The performance by the trio, indeed, was a most pleasant divertimento, indeed, bringing the evening to a conclusion with fine Mozartean musical euphoria.

Darrell Goodwin With First Marine Division

Marine Private First Class Darrell G. Goodwin, son of Mrs. Edra F. Goodwin of 2544 East Boulder St., Colorado Springs, recently completed "lock-on' training with the Second Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment, First Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

"Look-on" is the name given to a six-week period of intensive training which progresses from basic tactics of the fire team and squad to the complex maneuvers of the company and battalion.

Infantry battalions of the First Marine Division periodically undergo this training to bring new infantrymen up to combat-ready stnadards. During this period, infantrymen receive instruction and practice in scouting and patrolling, counter-guerrilla warfare and helicopter movements. The Marines also fire flame throwers, mortars, and rocket launchers.

This constant training helps ensure the high degree of preparedness required of the Marine Corps of fulfilling its role as the nation's "force-in-readiness."

Church Musicians Will Attend Workshop at CSU

Church musicians from thruout the region are expected to attend the second annual choir and organ workshop next week at Colorado State University.

The four-day program, which opens Monday and continues thru Thursday, is intended as a "refresher course" for musicians of both large and small churches. Director of the workshop is Edward D. Anderson, professor of choral music and voice at CSU.

Scheduled during the program is instruction in liturgies and hymnody, conducting and voice, and materials reading, plus lectures by workshop faculty and visiting specialists.

Two special events are planned for workshop participants: a Tuesday organ recital at 8 p.m. by Prof. Jan Bender of Concordia College in Seward, Nebr., and a concert Wednesday night at 8 by the Montview Presbyterian Church Choir of Denver. Both events open to the public, will be in Ft. Collins' American Lutheran Church.

Joining Anderson on the workshop staff will be Marvin Bostrom, associate professor of music at CSU; Wesley Selby, minister of music at Denver's Montview Presbyterian Church; and Miss Josephine Waddell of Scottsbluff, Neb., a noted organist and choir director.

Anderson said he is still accepting applications for participation in the workshop.

Ira Manning Commands New Carson Unit

Newest unit at Ft. Carson — the 75th Ordnance Company — is being organized under the command of 1st Lt. Ira Manning with 1st Sgt. Gerald Bailey as top noncommissioned officer.

Authorized strength will be nine officers and 172 enlisted men. Manning is the lone officer now with 26 enlisted men.

The 75th mission is to provide mobile direct support to non-divisional units of the combat zone and or reinforce divisional ordnance service when required.

The unit will have the capability of supporting artillery equivalents, small arms equivalents, wheeled vehicle and associated trailer equivalents and tracked vehicle equivalents.

It will provide ordnance supported units.

Sfc Dana Steele is the maintenance platoon sergeant for the 75th and a key man.

COLONY EXPANDED — The penguin colony at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo has been expanded by the addition of six little blue penguins from Australia. The new arrivals which stand approximately 12 inches high are the smallest of all penguins. They were received from a trade with the Zoo in Sydney, Australia. Sir Edward Hallstrom, Director of the Sydney Zoo, visited the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo in 1962 and arranged the trade with Zoo Director, Don Davis. In exchange, the local Zoo sent four tigers and one jaguar to Australia. The Cheyenne Mountain Zoo now has what is probably the finest penguin collection in the entire world with a total of 47 specimens represented by 8 different species.

County Teen-Agers Enter Labor Force at Record Rate

Teen-agers in El Paso County are entering the labor force at an increasing rate.

The reflect the rising number of young persons in the 14 to 19 age bracket. These are the ones who were born during the baby-boom years following World War 2.

Many of them, according to Government reorts, are dropping out of school and going to work. Others are moving into the labor force immediately after finishing high school.

How toprovide jobs for this flood of teen-agers is a prime problem.

Figures compiled by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Labor indicate just how big a problem it is.

In El Paso County, they show, the number of youngsters who will have reached the 14 to 19 age group in the five-year period ending 1965, will total 13,181.

On the basis of recent experience, 30.8 percent of them, or 4,066, will be looking for full-time or part-time jobs before 1965.

In some areas of the country, na even greater proportion of teen-agers are cutting short their education, creating an acute employment situation. Sdch drop-outs are finding a minimum of job opportunities, it is pointed out.

In the United States as a whole, 23.5 per cent of the teen-age group are now to be found in the labor force by the time they reach 19. The ration in the Mountain States is 22.5 per cent and, in the State of Colorado, 23.7 per cent.

The problem will become even more severe in the subsequent five years, the reports show.

Between 1965 and 1970, the number of youngsters in El Paso County in the 14 to 19 bracket will amount to 15,497.

If they follow the current pattern and quit school at the same rate, 4,774 additional job openings will be needed for them within that period.

Nationally, according to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, the number of teen-agers in the labor market will jump from the 6.2 million counted in 1960 to 7.7 million in 1965 and to 8.4 million by 1970.

This prospect, he states, "sends up a warning signal that says to all Americans that the post-war population explosion is now making itself felt on the size and makeup of the labor force."

AFA Members Slated for Retirement

Three members of the Air Force Academy staff with federal service totaling more than 61 years will retire Aug. 1.

Scheduled for retirement are Lt. Col. William G. Ambos, executive officer to the Wing Air Officer Commanding; Lt. Col. Norman H. Smith, executive officer and associate professor, epartment of Mathematics; and TSgt. Hugh E. McDonald, Flight Commander, Directorate of Security and Law Enforcement.

Col. Ambos began his service in 1942. During World War II, he served at various training bases as a basic flight instructor, flight instructor, and flight commander. In 1947, the colonel graduated from Drake University with a BA in Psychology. After attending the Air Tactical School at Tyndall AFB, Fla. he was assigned to the school as an instructor.

Following tours at Marks AFB, Alaska, and Moses Lake, Wash., Col. Ambos attended the University of Colorado receiving his Masters in Educational Psychology in 1961. He served at Hq. USAF from 1951-55 and at the time of reassignment was chief of the College and Industrial Section of the Professional Education Division. Completing the course at Air Command and Staff College of the Air University in 1956, the colonel remained there as instructor until May 1958.

After completing work on his doctorate in psychology at the University of Colorado, Ambos was assigned to the Academy Aug. 1, 1960.

A graduate of West Chester State College, Pennsylvania, Col. Smith enlisted in the Air Corps Dec. 19, 1941. Following flying cadet training he joined the Ninth Air Force in Europe in September 1942 and served with that command as statistical services officer until November 1944. After completing the statistical course at Harvard the colonel was a member of the Air Training Command until January 1946.

Following recall to active duty that year, Col. Smith served at Hq. Air Defense Command, Mitchell Field, New York, received a master of science degree from the University of Iowa, and was a member of the Comptroller's staff, Hq. USAF from 1949-51.

Prior to his assignment at the Academy in 1959, Col. Smith served as an instructor in mathematics at West Point 1955-57 and a member of the directorate of Plans and Programs, Hq. Air Material Command 1957-59. He was a graduate student at the University of Colorado from August 1957 to June 1959 and received his doctorate from that institution in June 1963.

A member of the 206th Coast Artillery of the Arkansas National Guard when it was federalized Jan. 6, 1941, Sgt. McDonald served in both the Pacific and European theaters during World War II. From 1941 to 1943, he was stationed at Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians. After tours with anti-aircraft units in California and Texas, Sgt. McDonald was sent to Europe serving with the 80th and 103rd Divisions. He earned the Combat Infantry Badge.

Post war assignments include duty at March AFB, Calif., Killeen AFB, Tex., Kadena AB, Okinawa, and Edwards AFB, Calif.

Sgt. McDonald joined the Academy staff Nov. 2, 1962.

ARADCOM INSPECTOR— Maj. Gordon C. Swenson, newly assigned to the staff at Army Air Defense Command Headquarters, is chief of a technical proficiency inspection team in the Inspector General Section. He formerly was with the United Nations Command at Seoul, Korea. In a previous Army air defense assignment with ARADCOM, Maj. Swenson commanded a Nike missile battery at Burlington, Mass. Maj. Swenson, his wife Leona, and a son, Gary, 16, are living temporarily at the Parker Motel, 315 Swope Ave.

Playground News

By CLAUDI COLLEY

By CLAUDI COLLEY

The past two weeks have been busy ones for those attending the summer playground activities. Altho the Fourth of July holiday cut short activities for that week, many parks and grounds found time for swimming parties in connection with the theme of "Surf and Sand Week."

Bonny Park, in addition to a swimming party at Monument Valley Pool, spent their craft periods constructing crepe paper leis and other Hawaiian attire which were worn at the watermelon luau later that week. The Bonny Braves softball team clashed with the team from Bouler Park and, altho they played valiantly, suffered a 3-5 loss at the hands of the Boulder group.

Will Rogers playground joined the Audubon group for a swimming party at Prospect Lake during Surf and Sand Week. Audubon was also busy thruout the week with crepe paper leis which were worn at the watermelon luau. Bristol playground followed these activities closely and enjoyed a watermelon feast also.

Carnival Week ended last Friday after a week of exciting activities and carnivals on the various grounds. In connection with their carnival, Bott Park held a costume contest which was won by Chuckie Bagaes. Brenda Bagaes won second prize and Patty Stutter took third place. The swings, slide and merry-go-round on the grounds were decorated for the Bott Carnival. During the week the children made tamborines, hats and leis to be used as prizes at the booths. Everyone received free bubble gum and a bubble blowing contest was held.

Plaster of Paris crafts dominated craft activities this past week and as the leaders from Longfellow observed, the playground supervisors are becoming very adept at mixing large or small quantities of plaster on short notice. Thorndale Park made and decorated paperweights out of aster. A puppet skit given by Barbara Kuhn and Stephanie Johnson and narrated by Susie Berry was enjoyed by all.

The week's activities were climaxed by a swimming party and picnic lunch at Prospect Lake. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Lofquist helped provide transportation to the lake and Mrs. Lofquist furnished watermelon for the group.

Buena Vista enjoyed a swimming party at Monument Valley Pool, followed by a watermelon feast. Conejost Playground held a carnival at which five booths were used. Prizes were given and Kool-aid and popcorn served. A twist contest was a highlight of the week and enjoyed by all who participated. Jose Marcos Lovato of 315 W. Kiowa St. walked off with first prize. Second prize went to Christine Ornelas, 318 W. Vermijo Ave., and third to Phillip Anthony, 308 S. Conejos St., and Sandra Padilla, 328 W. Vermijo Ave.

The Conejos Knights completed a successful week of softball games by defeating Pike and Lowell by identical scores of 16-3.

Helen Hunt playground kept its members busy making crepe paper leis and plaster of paris figures.

The Longfellow Thundergods enjoyed a carnival with several interesting booths and balloons as prizes. Plaster of Paris crafts have been quite popular throut the week.

The Lowell playground softball team has had difficulty at finding the necessary nine men to make up a team. Two games were scheduled last week. The game with Conejos was described as 'something less than a complete success" as only six members of the team came to play. As a result, Mr. Patrick Murphy, area supervisor for the playgrounds and the playground leaders from Lowell and Conejos were pressed into duty as softball players. Despite a valiant effort by all, Lowell suffered defeat.

The second game was scheduled against Boulder Park but unfortunately none of the team members showed up for the game. Recruiting activities for a new team are now underway at Lowell.

The Mark Twain Tumbleweeders have been busy with plaster and shell crafts and enjoyed a carnival later in the week.

Pike playground held a checker throw which was won by Mike Wilson, second place Gary Eivins and third place to George Cobb. Pan Eivins won the Bubble Gum Blowing contest. Sharla Schafer captured second place, Gary Eivins won third and Randy King took fourth place.

Two softball games have been played. Pike defeated Thorndale Park by a score of 21-0 and was defeated by Conejos 16-3. Team members are Gary Eivins, Regino Trumillo, George, Ricki, Abe and Jerry Salazar, Mike Wilson, Tim Myer, Jim and Groge Cobb, Mike Worthy, Ronnie Jane, Hugo Jane, Frank Lanza, Tommy Shafer, Stan Evans, Glenn Rotz, Frank Skjoldahl and Bob and Don Labor.

Steele playground enjoyed a trip to Cheyenne Mountain Zoo. A carnival was held later in the week. Booths were constructed during the week and prizes were given. A box hockey tournament was held and Margaret Holcomb, Sherry Durand, Valorie, Christine Daniel, Cindy Graver and Susie Colp were declared the winners. Pip Shepard, Sherry Durand, Susie Colp, and Nicky Varone won first place in the relays with second place going to Mark Victory, Christene Daniel, Pam Shepard, Rickie Holcomb and Cindy Durand.

Friday was Carnival Day at Will Rogers. There were booths and a "cookie walk." Music brought about and impromptu twist contest. Christine Barron was appointed junior leader.

Whittier playground enjoyed a trip to the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo. They also held a dress-up contest of cartoon characters. Kay Lynne Brandenburg captured first place, Steve Wilson, Pat Wilson and Cindy Branden burg were awarded second place and third went to Pam Foltz and Michelle Griswald. Kent Brandenburg, Robin Griswald, Valier Arambula, Cindy and Billy Croff, Greg Tapp, Isabelle Arambula and Harold Knight also participated.

AFA Professor Promoted To Colonel

A former Army officer who holds three degrees from England's famed Oxford University is the first Air Force Academy permanent profesor to be promoted while serving in that capacity.

Col. Roger R. Bate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bate, 2560 Belaire St., Denver, Colo., received the silver wings of a full colonel this week at the Academy from Dean of Faculty Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott. Other Academy permanent professors held the rank of colonel when chosen for the post.

An Army captain when he joined the Academy staff in June 1959, Col. Bate served first as an instructor in Astronautics. Thru an interservice transfer then Maj. Bate became an Air Force officer in June of 1962. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel when made a permanent professor in August 1962.

Col. Bate began his service career in 1943 as an Air Corps private. He was studying chemical engineering at the University of Missouri when assigned to Amherst, at that time the West Point Prep school.

Following graduation from West Point in 1947, Col. Bate was named a Rhodes Scholar. He completed studies in 1950 receiving a bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, and master of arts degrees, specializing in nuclear physicis.

During the Korean conflict, Col. Bate served with an engineer battalion of the Third Infantry Division.

Between 1952 and 1959, Col. Bate served with an engineer battalion of the Third Infantrq Division.

Between 1952 and 1959, Col. Bate attended engineer officers course, spent three years at Oak Ridge, Tenn., helping to design the Army's portable nuclear reactor, studied at the Canadian Army Staff College, and served as an engineer company commander at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The colonel is married and the father of four children.

LT. COL. TRACY J. HARDMAN

* * *

Hardman Named Prime Mover at Ft. Carson

Prime mover at Ft. Carson is Lt. Col. Tracy J. Hardman, new post transportation officer. He comes from the Army Combat Developments Agency, Ft. Eustis, Va., where he was chief of the Concepts Development Division.

Col. Hardman's primary responsibility in his new position is to provide expeditious and economical transportation service. This includes operation of the post administrative motor pool and movement of inbound and outbound freight, passenger, household goods and personal property.

Freight shipments at Ft. Carson total 10,000 yearly including rations, ammunitions and other supplies. There are 7,500 other shipments per year such as household good and baggage incoming and outgoing for assigned personnel.

Ft. Carson's area of responsibility for movement of household—good and dependents includes 40 Colorado counties and 13 in Kansas.

Col. Hardman earned an ROTC commission along with a business administration degree in 1938 at the University of Utah. After graduation he served for a year at Fort Lewis, Wash., as motor officer in a firing battery.

Recalled to active duty in April, 1941, he served at Ft. Ord, Calif., as an artillery motor officer going overseas with the 7th Infantry Division.

He was with the 7th thru the Attu and Kwajalein campaigns. From 1944 until the war ended, he was assigned as Transportation Corps supply officer for the Port of Honolulu.

Since then he has been assigned to the Seattle, Wash., Port of Embarkation; spent three years at Ft. Lawton, Wash., commanding the Transportation Corps Replacement and Reassignment Center; was senior ROTC instructor at Wayne University, Detroit, Mich.

He was post transportation officer for the Berlin Command in Germany the with the Chief of Transportation moving next to Korea as maintenance and supply adviser to the Korean Army Transportation Chief.

Local Man Will Compete in NRA Pistol Shoot

Raymond F. Connolly of CMR 1 Box 21, USAF Academy, will compete in the 1963 NRA National Pistol Championships held at Camp Perry, Aug. 5 thru Aug. 9. A field of over 2,000 top national shooters will fire a 270 shot aggregate composed of slow-fire, timed-fire and rapid fire matches. Ranges of 25 and 50 years are used throughout the program.

Sfc. William B. Blankenship, USA, will be vying for his fourth straight championship title.

The National Rifle Association of America sponsors the National Championship Matches in cooperation with the U.S. Armed Forces and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice.

There will be over 100 individual events falling into three main categories: smallbore, high-power rifle and pistol. The smallbore matches are to be fired Aug. 11 thru Aug. 16 and the highpower rifle matches from Aug. 22 thru Aug. 30.

An important national defense aspect of the National Matches are the Small Arms Firing Schools conducted by skilled instructors from the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga. These schools are designed to train citizens in the safe and efficient use of service rifles and pistols and are offered at no cost to the students. Both basic and advanced courses are offered and the graduate of the advanced course returns to his community qualified to instruct his fellow citizens in marksmanship.

The NRA also conducts courses for junior shooters and for those desiring to become rifle marksmanship instructors. The NRA courses employe the .22 caliber rifle, and are also offered free as a public service. A Police Officers Course is offered law enforcement officers who wish to qualify as Police Firearms Instructors in their local agencies.

Top Winner Named In All Army Art Contest

A mechanic in the 1st Battalion, 10th Infatry, motor pool, Pfc. Henry Willie, is top winner in the Ft. Carson section of the All Army Art Contest.

The Pennsylvanian won first place for Pennsylvania Farmland and honorable mentions for his Colorado and Mana Yunk. He has been painting for eight years, since he was 14.

Pfc. Carl Toswish won first prize in water colors with Hercules Rocket.

Pfc. Nathaniel Ghee, 51st Medical Company, entered the first prize drawing, Potomac Beach House.

Contest judges were so pleased with the entries that all will be forwarded to the Fifth U. S. Army phase of the contest. Until then they are on display in the lobby of Ft. Carson Headquarters.

Judges were Edgar Britton, noted Colorado Springs sculptor; Charles Rockey and Fred Engel of Ft. Carson Special Services.

Other contest winners were S-Sgt. James Gardner, Capt. Raymond Elley, Capt. David Leahy and Sgt. Leo Levesque in oil paintings; Sp-5 Ronald Mizak, Sp-4 Herbert Sherwood and Pfc. Lyle Querry, were runnersup.

Local Residents Get Driving Commendations

Three more Pikes Peak Region residents have been given Highway Patrol Safety commendations and will compete for the July Highway Safety Award to be presented by the Denver Post and the Denver U. S. National Bank. They are:

Mamie J. Wilson, of Colorado Springs; John Edgar, 328 Everett St., Security, and Ralph E. Wulfien, Qtrs. 5824-A, Ft. Carson.

A BEAUTY'S FAITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The currently reigning Miss America of 1963, Miss Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, of Sandusky, Ohio, has received the annual Religious Heritage Youth Award. She got her first performing experience as a choir singer and by acting in plays at her hometown First Congregational United Church of Christ.

Regional School Conference Slated

DENVER (AP) — The State Education Department announced today that it will hold nine regional conferences this fall to brief local school administrators and educators on latest department activities.

Dr. Byron Hansford, education commissioner, is expected to participate in most of the meetings.

The schedule includes a meeting in Leadville, Sept. 16; Grand Junction, Sept. 17; Dolores, Sept. 18; Monte Vista, Sept. 23; Pueblo, Sept. 24; Akron, Sept. 30; Burlington, Oct. 1; Loveland, Oct. 7, and Englewood, Oct. 8.

Two Coloradoans Are Found Guilty in Fraud

CHEYENNE (UPI)— Two Colorado men were convicted of fraud in a federal court here Friday for allegedly selling stock certificates in a company said to be manufacturing a "revolutionary new lubricant."

Henry O. Aaberg, Broomfield, Colo., received a sentence of three years on each of seven counts of which he was convicted by Judge Ewing T. Kerr. The sentences will run concurrently.

Stacy P. Humphries, a Wheat Ridge, Colo., man, received three years probation on the two federal counts of which he was convicted.

The two allegedly were selling stock certificates in an organization which was said to have had 90 per cent of outstanding capital controlled by a religious organization called "Foundation For Christ."

American Airman Dies In Viet Nam Fighting

SAIGON (UPI)—One U.S. airman was killed and another was wounded in an exchange of fire between two groups of Americans during an alert at Vinh Long Airbase Thursday night, it was announced tolay.

Each group of airmen apparently mistook the others for Communist raiders.

The names of the casualties were not made public immediately.

Texas uses about half the natural gas it produces.

News Received Of Local Military Men

Two Colorado Springs men and one of Calhan are participating in the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps summer encampment at Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash. Those of Colorado Springs are Cadet James R. Robinson, son of Col. and Mrs. Walter W. Robinson, 2483 Lafayette Rd., and Cadet Daniel E. Kelleher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Kelleher, 309 N. 23rd St. The one from Calhan is Cadet Paul L. Bodine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Bodine. The Colorado Springs cadets are members of the Colorado State University AFROTC program. The Calhan cadet is a graduate of the Calhan High School and has received a BS degree at Colorado State University and was active in the AFROTC program.

Four Colorado Springs men recently enlisted in the U. S. Air Force are Garland Linn Messick and his brother Richard, of 2619 Concord Ave.; Gregory Lee Chapman, nephew of Staff Sgt. Erbes, 3100 Wood Ave., and Michael R. Priestly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Priestly, 3311 N. Prospect St. They will undergo basic military training at Lackland Air Force Training School, San Antonio, Tex.

Others who have enlisted in the U. S. Air Force are George Frank Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Krueger, 303 Locust Dr. and John David Severson, son of Mrs. Alice Winther of Fairbault, Minn., and a cousin of S. Sgt. Ralph C. Harbaugh, 1411 N. Custer St. They also will undergo basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Joseph E. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Edwards, 1724 Armstrong Ave., and William J. Wendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wendt, 2328 Oriole St., are undergoing two weeks active duty training aboard the patrol craft escort USS Ely, which operates on the Great Lakes and has Sheboygan, Wis., as her home port of operations.

Roy B. Lister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Lister, 400 Kiva Rd., Security, recently completed basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., graduating at the weekly Recruit Brigade Review, in which some 3,000 men participated.

Air-minded young men are advised that the U.S. Marine Corps is now guaranteeing aviation assignments prior to enlistment, to qualified applicants, according to Gunnery Sgt. Al Weitlauf, local Marine Corps representative.

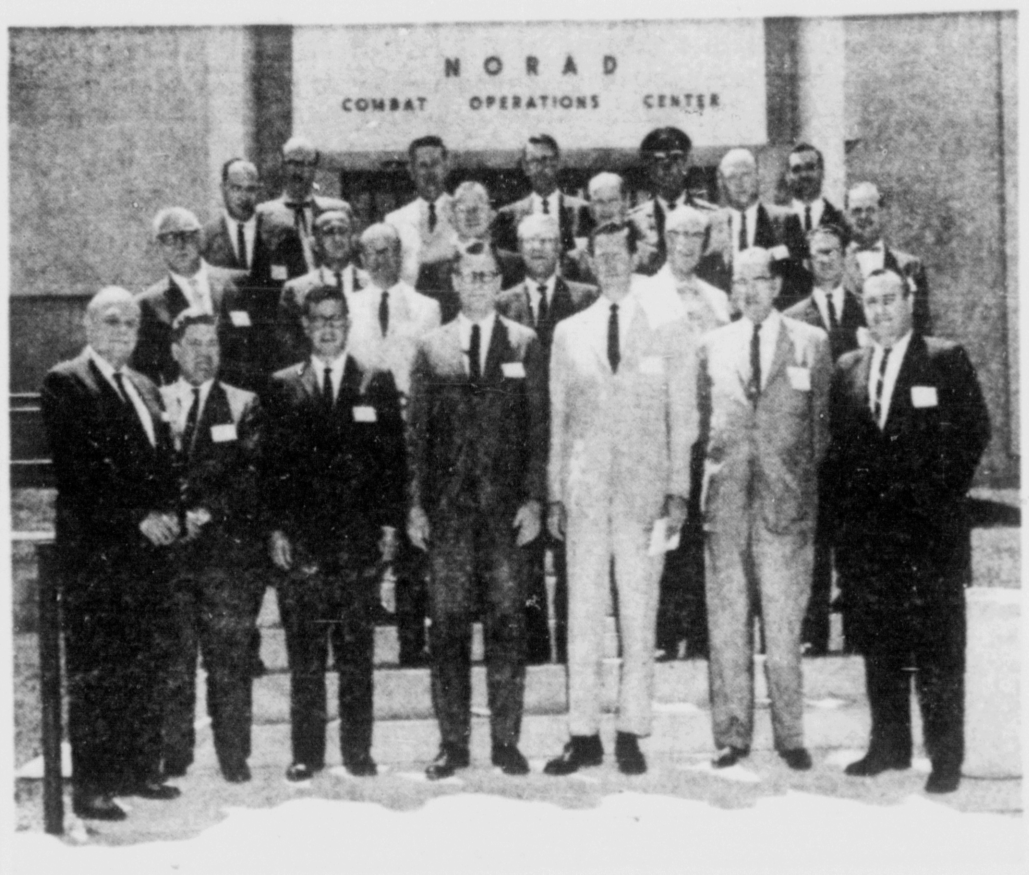
"This current Marine Corps policy enables a number of applicants each month to volunteer for duty with Marine aviation," stated Sgt. Weitlauf Saturday.

A recruit guaranteed aviation duty completes regular "boot" and individual combat training. He is then given 20 days leave, three days travel time and six-cent-per-mile travel allowance prior to reporting to the Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn. for formal school instruction in an aviation job specialty. Some examples are electrician, air traffic control, electronics, radio, radar, jet, helicopter or reciprocating engine mechanic, hydraulics and structural mechanic.

Enlistees may apply for flight training if qualified under the present Marine Aviation Cadet program.

Applicants may enlist now for aviation duty in the Marines' delay enlistment program, report for active duty on a date of their choice later this summer or fall.

Details may be obtained from the local Marine office, room 216 Post Office Building, between 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., or by calling 634-1928 (24-hour service).



KC GROUP VISITS NORAD — Twenty-two civic leaders from Kansas City, Mo. and vicinity visited the headquarters of North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) here today for an orientation briefing on the Canada-U.S. four-service command. The group was told of NORAD's mission, its facilities and capabilities and toured the combat operations center, the heart of NORAD's far-flung detection network, from where the battle for North America would be monitored and directed in case of attack. The group included Councilmen J. D. Robins Jr., and Vic S. Snyder of Kansas City, Mayor William Mosby of Belton, and Floyd Kurzweil, Grandview, a member of the Richards-Gebaur AFB community council.

Defense Driving Key to Auto Safety

Are you a defensive driver? That is, do you foresee driving situations from which accidents can suddenly occur? Or do you bamble your life on the assumption that other motorists will act in a predictable way?

If you do not drive defensively, you had better be ready to suffer tragic consequences.

The warning comes from the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, which has just published a leaflet on the subject called, "Don't Count On It."

The leaflet offers suggestions for defensive driving and cautions motorists against depending on other drivers to obey traffic regulations and to observe safe driving practices.

"Expectations can trap and betray you, so expect nothing - or anything - to happen. Rely on no one's skill but your own," the leaflet says.

"As a driver, you may assume that a lot of things will happen as they should. Sometimes they don't. When they don't, your expectations may be your undoing."

"It's true," says the Association, "that we should predict the behavior of drivers, at least to the point of enumerating all the things he might do. But any step past that is unsafe."

Many drivers who take the same route daily become complacent and anticipate the traffic at each intersection. This is an unfortunate though common habit, says the Association. The other driver can never be anticipated.

The leaflet also cautions against assuming that other drivers will do what they indicate they are going to do.

"Do you expect the driver ahead of you to follow his own turn signal? He may change his mind — or he may not know it's on."

"Never depend on the judgment of children. Do you count on children who are waiting for cars to pass to wait until you pass?"

"Do you count on the streets of your neighborhood to always be as deserted as they usually are? Don't. Drive as if you might encounter a football game."

"Be sure you are reliable." Someone else may expect you to act as you should — and it could cost you your life to disappoint him.

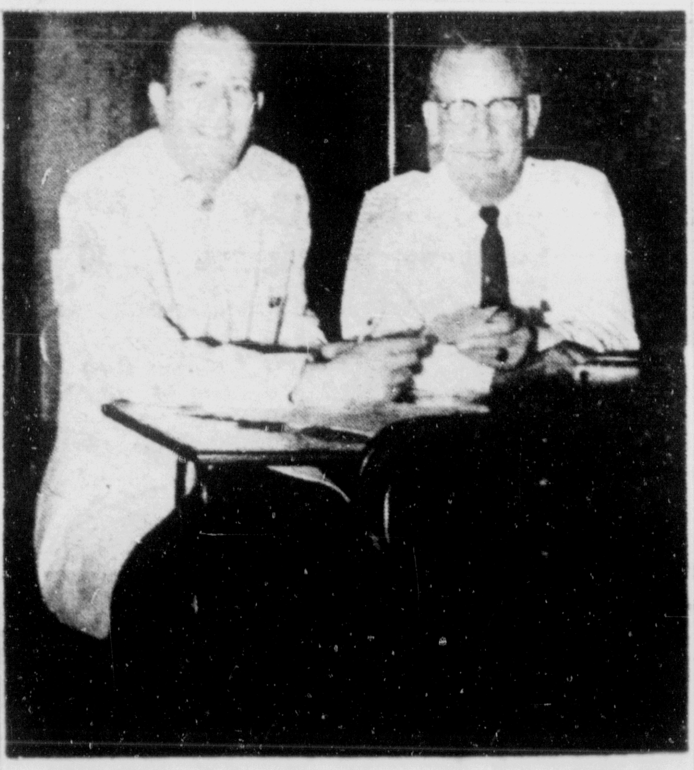
Single complimentary copies of "Don't Count On It" may be obtained from the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, 110 William Street, New York 38, N.Y.

Patient in Transplant Of Liver Is Recovering

DENVER (UPI) — Arthur W. Curtis, 54, of Monticello, Fla., today continued a satisfactory, slow recovery from a liver transplant operation at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Curtis, the fourth person in history to undergo the delicate operation, was reported in fair condition. Officials said his temperature remained normal, and the main organs in his body were functioning well.

Curtis was dying of a cancerous liver, and had it replaced with one taken from a cadaver shortly after the death Tuesday. Three other liver transplant patients died, one on the operating table, the others within three weeks after surgery.



DUES TIME — Vincent Assaiante (right), prominent insurance man in the region, is shown giving Floyd Roberts his application and dues for membership in the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce. Assaiante, a life member of the Chamber of Commerce signed up a membership for Vincent's Bit and Bridle Restaurant which he recently purchased. He is also operator of Vincent's Grill at 4204 North Nevada Avenue.

CU Schedules Talk on Rare Books This Week

Richard Blackwell, a member of one of England's best known book shops, B. H. Blackwell, Ltd., of Oxford, will give the University of Colorado's annual free, public Rare Books Lecture at 4 p.m. Tuesday, in the Memorial Center Forum Room.

His talk, "Eighty-five Years at Oxford," will be a "light, Humorous account of the many famous people who have dealt with Blackwell's," according to Prof. Henry Pettit, keeper of the CU Rare Books Room.

The bookshop has been a fixture at Oxford for more than a century. It is known throughout the book world as "the bookman's favorite browsing place," according to Pettit, and the shop has been mentioned numerous times in numerous novels set in Osford.

Blackwell is one of three members of his family currently in the shop. Others are his brother, Julian, and his father, Sir Basil.

Bertha's second exhibition of speed was made in Manitou Springs when, with a girl friend, she took an accidental ride thru Manitou on her bicycle which, going down the hill near the Iron Springs, gained so much speed she left her friend far behind, and almost panicked with fear, rode thru the town faster and faster, doing her best to dodge the few vehicles that she had no notion of running into.

There seemed to be no opportunity for her to stop her wheel altho she knew she was making a number of bystanders gasp at her daring. Finally, at the east end of the town, after she had reached some level ground, she was able to regain control of her wheel.

The friend whom she had left behind near the Iron Springs was told by several bystanders that she would probably find her friend dead somewhere along the way.

The following poem Mrs. Spicer sent me and wants me to use to help convince all of us that the mothers of pioneer days were too busy with each day's work to apply for a position in an office while they employ a baby sitter to run their homes, — too busy to apply for a divorce:

Grandmother's Perfect Day

"Grandmother, on a winter's day,
Milked the cows and fed them hay,
Slopped the hogs, saddled the mule,
And got the children off to school
Washed the windows and did some chores,
Cooked a dish of home-dried fruit,
Swept the parlor, made the bed,
Baked a dozen loaves of bread,
Split some firewood, and lugged it in,
Enough to fill the kitchen bin
Cleaned the lamps and put in oil,
Stewed some apples she thought might spoil,
Churned the butter, baked a cake,
Then exclaimed, "For mercy's sake,
The calves have got out of the pen."
Went out, and chased them in again,
Gathered the eggs and locked the stable,
Back to the house and set the table,
Cooked a supper that was delicious,
And afterwards washed all the dishes,
Fed the cat, and sprinkled the clothes,
Then opened the organ and began to play:
'When you come to the end of a perfect day.' "

Colorado Tops In Traffic Supervision

State Patrol Chief Gilbert R. Carrel today announced that the International Association of Chiefs of Police has saluted 13 states and 63 cities for meritorious work in police traffic supervision in 1962.

Colorado and seven other states and 32 cities were named for outstanding achievement awards and five states and 31 cities for certificates of achievement.

Outstanding achievement awards are based on performance evaluations of 90 per cent or higher for states, as rated in the police traffic supervision section of the Annual Inventory of Traffic Safety Activities.

The Police Traffic Supervision awards of the International Association of Chiefs of Police were made on the basis of the performance of the department in training; in the quality of enforcement; in the amount of enforcement.

Other aspects of enforcement evaluated in both state and city police departments include such elements as accident investigation, driving while intoxicated, and pedestrian control.

The Annual Inventory of Traffic Safety Activities is administered by the National Safety Council. The police traffic section of the Inventory is under the policy supervision of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The states receiving the outstanding Achievement Awards were: Western Division, Colorado and Washington; Eastern Division, Delaware; Southern Division, California and Ohio.

Extension of Migrant Farm Program Is Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Appropriations subcommittee Friday recommended a $1.3 million outlay for enforcement of an extended Mexican migrant farm labor program—if the program is extended.

Colorado Republican Sens. Gordon Allott and Peter Dominick presently have a bill before Congress asking a one-year extension of the bracero program.

The House originally included $870,000 for enforcement regulations but after passing the appropriation bill it rejected an extension of the program itself beyond this year.

The subcommittee's action Friday called for $1,387,250 in regulation enforcement money, but made the recommendation contingent upon the outcome of the Colorado-sponsored bills.

In all the centuries of recorded history, the world has known only 292 years of peace.

Car Thefts Top 170,000 In First Half of 1963

Thieves stole 170,854 cars in the United States during the first six months of 1963, the National Automobile Theft Bureau reported today. This was an increase of 11 per cent over the same period last year.

June car thefts were the lowest of any month so far this year, high of more than 400,000 for the but the 25,912 cars that were stolen represented a four per cent increase over the same month in 1962.

Unless this year's rising theft trend is curbed, the number of cars stolen may hit an all-time high of more than 400,000 for the year. This prediction was made by Ray M. King, secretary of the NATB, who pointed out that the theft rate usually is greater during the last half of the year.

Commenting on the problem, King noted that all regions of the nation experienced a greater number of thefts during the first six months. The number of cars stolen increased 17.5 per cent to 8,150 in the southwest, 17 per cent to 25,592 in the south, 15 per cent to 43,920 in the east, eight er cent to 61,600 in the midwest, and eight per cent to 31,592 in the far west.

Automobile thefts in June declined 12 per cent to 4,312 in the far west, but increased in all other regions. The number of stolen cars increased 13.5 per cent to 4,032 in the south, 11 per cent to 6,640 in the east, six per cent to 1,064 in the southwest and three per cent to 9,864 in the midwest.

Car thieves cost motorists untold millions of dollars during the first six months of 1963, according to King. Altho 90 per cent of the cars stolen were recovered, he said, the other 10 percent represented a loss to car owners of more than $15.3 million. On top of that, most motorists whose stolen cars were recovered paid an additional staggering total to repair damage caused by thieves.

Compounding the cost of car theft is an increased incidence of stripping of high-value car parts, King said. Professional gangs and juvenile thieves seek out luxury equipment items such as $200 bucket seats, $100-plus hubcap sets, and engines and transmissions in the $200-500 range. King said that replacing such accessories cost one NATB member company $1.6 million last year alone.

As nine out of every 10 cars stolen are taken while unlocked, motorists could do much to forestall thieves simply by locking their cars whenever they park, King advised.

Nixon Arrives From Budapest in Vienna

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived from Budapest and recommended more people-to-people contacts between Americans and East Europeans.

Nixon, who is on a private tour of Europe with his family that included a three-day visit to Hungary, said people in Eastern European countries are eager for such contact.

The Nixons will leave Tuesday for Berlin.

Water Use Study Sponsored by Health Group

The University of Colorado Bureau of Economic Research is working with the University of New Mexico in a study of water use in the Colorado River Basin sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The CU Bureau has been awarded a $66,000 grant for the project.

For the next 10 weeks nine students from CU and nine from New Mexico will interview 4,000 Arizona and Nevada businessmen to gather data for an analysis of the economic structure of the three lower sub-basins of the Colorado River Basin.

The two parts of the analysis consist of a detailed statistical description of the present structure of the economy of the region and projections of population and economic activity to the year 2010. The findings will relate to water problems.

Data on water use patterns also will be collected for later integration with material gathered by Public Health Service engineers.

Directing the study is Prof. Nathaniel Wollman, chairman of the Department of Economics at the University of New Meixco. He will be aided by Prof. Bernard Udis, also of New Mexico.

Prof. William H. Miernyk, director of the CU Bureau of Economic Research is supervising the work of the field interviewers, and also will be in charge of the computational work to be done at CU.

Public Hearing Set for Alleged Discrimination

The Colorado Anti-Discrimination Commission has scheduled a public hearing for Monday in Colorado Springs on a case of alleged discrimination under the Fair Housing Act.

James F. Reynolds said the complaint was filed by Sgt. Bernard Jones a serviceman stationed at Fort Carson against the Chief Trailer Court and Donald C. Phillips, 7 South Wahsatch, St., owner of the trailer court.

The complaint is one of many that have been filed with the commission charging discrimination because of race and color in Colorado Springs.

Sgt. Jones filed eight complaints last January against various trailer courts where he was refused the right to rent space for his trailer because he is a Negro.

The commission, Reynolds said, has disposed of all but two of these cases. Last June 7 a hearing was held on a case which involved the Pla-More Mobile Village and in which complaint the allegations were substantially the same—refusal to rent trailer space because Sgt. Jones is a Negro.

The hearing Monday will be held in the auditorium (5th floor) of the county offices building, 27 East Vermijo, Ave., beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Modern Scouts Have Eye for Past Skills

Present day Boy Scouts have an eye for the future even as they work to perfect camping, woodsmanship, and other skills of the past.

Proof of the interest in the Air Force of today and tomorrow held by scouts of all ranks is the whopping number of youths in the movement who have toured the Air Force Academy on official visits.

According to Capt. James E. Banks, scout project officer for the Academy, a total of 1,095 Scouts and Explorers and 260 leaders made official visits during the first six months of 1963.

An additional 2,373 Scouts and leaders have been confirmed for official visits for the remainder of the year.

These totals do not include thousands of Scouts and leaders who annualy explore the Academy on unofficial visits.

This football season, approximately 1,000 Scouts will also attend each of the Academy's five home games.

Officials Say No Jeeps for Sale at Carson

No Jeeps are for sale at Ft. Carson thru surplus sales channel but there are two 1951 model Ford buses available at the mountain post.

Numerous inquiries have been received by the property disposal officer for possible used Army Jeeps.

No Jeeps are for sale in this area nor are any going to be on sale.

Used vehicles are offered first to other Federal agencies before they are offered for sale. Since Jeeps are desirable items, one is offered for sale very rarely, except in wrecked condition.

However, a surplus property sale is underway now to Aug. 6 when sealed bids will be opened. Ft. Carson items for sale include the two 1951 buses, tentage, lawn mowers — both hand and power and miscellaneous vehicular components.

Other items are available at other installations served thru the Pueblo Defense Surplus Sales Office, Pueblo Army Depot. Detailed listings are available from the Pueblo surplus sales office.

CC to Confer MA Degree on Local Nun

Sister Ann Leonard, member of the faculty of St. Mary's High School, will receive a master's degree in physics at the completion of the summer session at Colorado College.

For three consecutive summers Sister Ann Leonard has received a grant from the National Science Foundation to enable her to work for a second master's degree.

Sister holds a master of science degree in chemistry from Notre Dame University and also has done post-graduate work in physics at University of Southern California.

During the past year she has spent time working on a research paper which is to be submitted as partial requirement for the degree. She obtained information for this paper — "Microwave Determinatinon of Molecular Structures" — from the libraries of the Air Academy, Colorado College and Loretto Heights College.

Sister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Butler of Whittier, Calif. and formerly of Colorado Springs.

Railroad passenger fatalities last year numbered 29, some due to travelers' carelessness in attempting to board or leave moving trains, Association of American Railroads statistics show.

New Record Set In State Traffic Fatalities

Traffic accident figures for the first six months of this year show that a total of 231 people were killed in Colorado, establishing an all-time high for this first-half period since 1938 when the first complete record of traffic fatalities was instituted.

Without exception, Colorado has always shown an increase in traffic deaths during the second half of the year. On a 25 year average there has been a 44 per cent increase in people killed during this period.

In drawing attention to these statistics State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel stated, "If Colorado drivers increase the tempo of their killing in the second half of this year as they have in past years, there is a strong possibility that we will exceed 1961's total of 492 people killed, which established an all-time high in the number of traffic deaths occurring on Colorado highways.

"If we are to hold down this terrible death toll in the face of our increasing volume of traffic," Carrel warned, "we must all drive with greater care and patience; whether on a long vacation trip or only to the neighborhood shopping center."

Land Donated For Health and Guidance Center

John Bennett, chairman of the building committee of the Child Guidance Clinic, announced today that the clinic is planning to build a Mental Health and Guidance Center on the site recently donated to the Child Guidance Clinic by the Cragmor Foundation.

The site for the center is west of Cragmor Sanatorium on Cragmor Road and consists of eight acres.

Bennett stated that a complex of buildings is being planned and that several other related agencies have been consulted regarding their needs and will be invited to share the center with the Child Guidance Clinic.

The Child Guidance Clinic, which services the entire region, will expand its services to include the treatment of adults upon the completion of the new center. Treatment will be for out-patients only and no provisions are planned for in-patient care.

The architectural firm of Higginbotham, Nakata and Muir have been retained to design the new complex. Applications for federal funds (Hill-Burton) have been made to finance a major share of the costs of the new structure.

The Child Guidance Clinic, which was formerly housed in the Red Cross building, is presently located in temporary quartes adjacent to Cragmor Sanatorium at 1315 Cragmor Rd.

Jewish Services Set For Special Jewish Fast

Special commemorative services will be conducted by Jewish Chaplain (Capt.) Marvin Labinger at the Community Center Chapel at 7:30 p.m. July 29, in observance of the Jewish Fast of TISHA BE-AV (the ninth day of the Hebrew month AV).

Jewish tradition has set this day aside as one of mourning and fasting, Chaplain Labinger said. Traditional Jews observe all the requirements of mourning on the day.

At services, mourning candles are lit and the Biblical book of ECHAH (Lamentations) is read by the congregation.

ACM Group to Feature Computer Programming

What type of academic background is essential to a successful computer programmer? Is it true that the best programmers are necessarily advanced mathematicians? At what age or grade should a student be first subjected to programming techniques?

These are a few of the questions to be considered in three sessions of the 1963 Annual Conference of the Association for Computing Machinery in Denver, Aug. 27-30. The 33-session conference is expected to be attended by more than 3,000 computer oriented scientists, industrialists, teachers and technicians from the United States and abroad.

The first session on programmer training will pivot around an invited paper to be delivered by Daniel D. McCracken, McCracken Associates, Inc., Ossining, N. Y. His paper, "The Real Problem in Programmer Training," is scheduled for Aug. 29 and will concern the very real problem of providing beginning programmers with a conceptual framework needed to handle the new computer technology. As the student has had little relevant previous material to use as a frame of reference, this task is especially difficult.

Immediately following the McCracken paper, five contributed papers in the area of "Teaching Machines and Programmer Training" will be presented by recognized experts in the field. Wallace Feurzeig, Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc., Cambridge, Mass. will discuss "A Conversational Teaching Machine." This involves a program for diagnostic problem-solving, in which the user asks questions aimed at revealing salient features of a presented problem. He then attempts to infer a solution to the problem from the computer's responses — and he can choose his own line of questioning.

After answering the query, the computer may then confront the questioner with analytic comments. The program and applications will be described in detail.

A "Report on COBOL Training Through Programmed Instruction" will be given by Carl A. Powers, Buroughs Corporation, Detroit, Mich. The report will present various aspects of COBOL training required to produce an effective COBOL programmer, as well as deficiencies in present teaching methods. The new technique — programmed instruction — involves the Burroughs B5000. Case histories will be described.

"The Auerbach Programmed Course in COBOL" will be presented by Martha B. Bullard, Auerbach Corporation, Philadelphia, Pa. This training course, especially developed for students with diverse experience and objectives, teaches the entire range of COBOL-1961 in depth. Half of the students completing the prepublication course scored 90 per cent or better on the final problem.

Computers won't replace teachers. But we can be equally certain that computers will relieve educators from routine endeavors and that, ultimately, the "education" industry as distinguished from "teaching" per se will be automated. These are the premises of a paper contributed by R. E. Packer, Thompson Ramo Wooldridge Corp., Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. The paper is entitled, provocatively, "Simulating Socrates." SOCRATES stands for Simulator or Creative Reasoning Applied to Education Systems. Current applications of computers for class attendance records, class scheduling, memory training, grading and payroll are evidence that educational computers are already here.

More than 150 students in the Denver and Jefferson County, Colorado area secondary schools have received training in digital computer programming. R. L. Albrecht, Control Data Corporation, Denver, Colo., who will present a paper on teaching techniques involved, is writig workbooks for teaching programming to secondary students. The language emphasized is FORTRAN.

The third session on programmer training will be a panel discussion by those contributing papers to the earlier sessions. Gloria Silvern, North American Aviation, and Marvin Wofsey, American University, will be co-moderators. Considerable audience participation is anticipated on this vital activity of the computer discipline.

The Conference is hosted by the University of Denver. William H. Eichelberger is general chairman.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra announced Friday that Bing Crosby has signed with his company, Reprise Records, for future recordings. The association combines two of the world's biggest record sellers. Crosby's first assignment will be a Christmas album with Sinatra.

Airplane Wing Tip Mystery is Cleared

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI) — The mystery of an eight-inch piece of airplane wingtip found about eight miles southeast of King's Canyon in Colorado Wednesday was cleared up Friday.

Richard Burt, a pilot from Walden, Colo., told authorities that the part was from a plane which clipped a tree while flying over the area last fall. He could not recall the name of the pilot, however.

The wingtip section was found by Robert Oram, Bureau of Reclamation employe.

CSU to Hold Water Resource Conference

A variety of subjects critical to the use, development, and conservation of water in the West will be examined during the fifth annual Western Resources Conference Aug. 5-7 at Colorado State University.

Officials representing state, municipal, federal, and private agencies will join educators from thruout the region for the meeting, sponsored by CSU, University of Colorado, Colorado School of Mines, and the Bureau of Reclamation.

Keynote speaker during the opening session Aug. 5 will be U.S. Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado. Sen. Allott will be joined on the conference agenda by a colleague, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who will address a Wednesday (Aug. 7) session. Sen. Jackson is chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Session chairmen for the three-day conference will be: Felix Sparks, director of the Colorado Water Conservation Board; Robert Millar, director of the Denver Water Board; S. K. Love, chief of the water quality branch for the U.S. Geological Survey's water resources division in Washington, D.C.; Conrad McBride, political science professor at CU; John W. Harshberger, geology department at the University of Arizona; and Joseph R. Smiley, newly-appointed president of CU.

Topics scheduled to be disdiscussed include water for the West's growing cities, municipal water quality, state government's role in water development, future competition for water, and water policy issues for the 1960's and 1970's.

An added feature during the opening session will be dedication of CSU's new Foothills Research Center west of Fort Collins. Main speaker during the ceremonies, scheduled for (Aug. 5) night will be Colorado Rep. Oaley Wade of Las Animas, chairman of the State Legislature's Joint Budget Committee.

How to Keep Well

BROWNING IN FRESH WATER

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ice cold water and prompt medical care saved the life of a 5-year-old boy who drowned in a partially frozen river. Some boys on the other side of the river had seen the victim hanging onto the edge of the ice and called police. Within 22 minutes, the child's body was pulled out of the water. During this interval he apparently became exhausted and let go of the ice.

The policeman started mouth-to-mouth breathing while waiting for the physician. The medico thought the youngster was dead but continued resuscitation even though the heart was not beating. He found the boy's throat blocked with the contents of the stomach, and turned his head downward to clear the airway. Artificial respiration was started again by the policeman while the heart was compressed rhythmically by the physician. These procedures were continued in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Two and one-half hours after being submerged, the child's heart started to beat spontaneously. A pulse was felt and color returned to his skin. Shortly thereafter he began to breathe. He had a stormy convalescence; he developed aspiration pneumonia and was unconscious for six weeks. Here the ice cold water enters the picture.

Accoring to the report in the British Medical Journal, the youngster's heart did not beat satisfactorily for 120 minutes. During this time, the brain must have suffered from lack of blood. Ireparable damage usually occurs within 10 to 90 minutes thereafter, even though external massage of the heart is undertaken.

The lad's brain survived apparently because his body was cooled as he hung onto the ice; only a minimum of nourishment is required at this low temperature. But the organ did not escape completely, as behavior and brain tests showed. The little fellow finally was discharged 2½ months after the accident and he talks, look, and behaves like a normal child.

Salt water in the lungs is said to be less dangerous than fresh water. It is not absorbed, in contrast to fresh water, which passes into the circulation, where it becomes a burden to the heart.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompnaies request.

Diuretics Quicker

M. S. writes: Can edema be cured through a low salt diet?

Reply

Yes, but it might take three or more months to do the job. Our modern diuretics act within a few days by encouraging the kidneys to eliminate salt from the body. In addition, digitalis may be needed when edema is caused by heart trouble.

Chills No Flashes

Mrs. P. wrties: Do some women get chills during the change instead of hot flaches?

Reply

No, but there is no reason why women in this age group cannot develop infections that bring on chills or chilly sensations.

Raisins For Tots

S. B. writes: Can a 2½-year-old digest raisins, given between meals?

Reply

Yes. They are easier to digest than meats and various other goods.

Not Inpatient

M. R. writes: What is mean. by outpatient treatment of emotional disorders?

Reply

This is treatment given in a clinic or an office in contrast to hospital or instutitonal care.

Myron Stratton Home Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Monday will mark the 115th anniversary of the birth of Winfield Scott Stratton, the benefactor of the Myron Stratton Home. This year also marks the 50th anniversary of the opening of the home, an institution operated wholly on the return from the investment of the endowment left by Stratton for the care of children and the aged.

The 150 residents of the home will be guests at an anniversary luncheon at noon Monday at the Moors restaurant.

Stratton was born on July 22, 1848, and died Sept. 14, 1902, at he age of 54. Aside from a few small bequests, he left his total estate for the establishment of the home..

It was not until 1909 that the home was incorporated and another four years later, 1913, that actual construction began. This delay of 11 years between his death and the beginning of the hame was caused by his will being contested by claims in excess of $23 million. This delay did offer an opportunity for the trustees of the estate to formulate plans, establish a constitution and by-laws to regulate the proposed institution so that it's design assured it lasting forever.

The purpose for which Stratton left his estate was for the construction and maintenance of an institution to be called "The Myron Stratton Home," named in memory of his father. In Stratton's will he barely outlined his oesires; had it not been for his death at the early age of 54, it was felt that he fully intended to enlarge upon his ideas of the institution. As it was, the instructions he left upon his death are comprised in the following paragraphs from his will:

"This bequest shall be for the erection, furnishing and maintenance of a free home for persons, who are without means of support, and who are physically unable by reason of old age, youth, sickness or other infirmity to earn a livelihood."

"It is my special desire and command that the inmates of said home shall not be clothed and fed as paupers usually are at public expense, but they shall be decently and comfortably clothed and amply provided with good and wholesome food and with the necessary medicines, medical attendance, care and nursing to protect their health and insure their comfort."

With these two paragraphs in his will, Mr. Stratton as much as said to the persons in whose trust his estate was placed, "Here is my estate, use it to the greatest good, irrespective of age or sex." It was from here that the three man board of trustees has carried the home thru 50 years of successful operation, formulating policies and regulations to fit changing conditions and ever mindful that this institution was not built for any particular group of people or for any particular time, but forever.

ORIGINAL ENDOWMENT $4 MILLION

The original board of trustees, which was three in number, started the home with an endowment of $4.3 million. This endowment has now grown to more than $7 million even after an expenditure of $1 million specified in the will for the construction of the home and its operational expense for the last 50 years.

In order to provide a third of a million dollars each year for the operation of the home, most of this endowment has been invested in real estate in Colorado Springs and Denver. As the aged entering the home no longer qualify for the Old Age Pension and children for Aid to Dependent Children, it is estimated that the home saves the county taxpayers close to one quarter of a million dollars each year. Added to this is the fact that, last year the home paid into the county $100,000 in taxes on real estate owned by the home in El Paso County.

The home property is located on Colorado Highway 115 south of Colorado Springs. The site consists of 98 acres of landscaped area. Surrounding the home is 3,000 acres utilized by the home's farm and dairy. There are 41 buildings on the grounds, each building being connected to the others by a network of underground tunnels carrying all of the utilities needed to operate the home. The home is a self sustaining community generating its own electricity and having its own irrigating system and staffed to handle any and all maintenace problems arising from its operation.

The grounds are divided into two distinct areas, one for the children's department and the other for the aged department. The children's department consists of four dormitory buildings, two for girls and two for boys. Each building is a self contained unit having its own living, dining and recreational facilities. The actual operation of each building is handled by houseparents, the number of which is determined by a ratio of one adult to every 10 children in the home. Added facilities such as playgrounds, athletic field, swimming pool and gymnasium are centrally located in the children's area.

The aged department is divided into two areas, one for single persons and one for married couples. The single area contains 15 cottages each having four men or four women, each with a private room. These residents receive their meals in a central cafeteria. The married couple's area consists of 11 housekeeping cottages where a couple may enter the home and set up housekeeping in a completely modern home. In both areas of the aged department, residents may have such extras as their own telephones, television and if so inclined, may secure plants from the home's greenhouse for their own flower gardens.

MANY FACILITIES OFFERED AT HOME

Other facilities offered residents are laundry services, medical services as in or out patients in the home's infirmary along with barber services. The home also operates two buses for transportation to special activities, for shopping trips to town, and to church and Sunday School. In the aged department there is no stipulation as to visitors and each resident may visit away from the home as often as he desires.

Residents are allowed 30 days each year in which they may leave the home overnight. These days may be taken singly or all together.

In the children's department visiting hours are confined to Sunday afternoons between 2 and 5 p.m. Each child is allowed one Sunday each month in which he may leave the grounds to visit with parents or relatives. Each child also has one week's vacation in summer as well as spending a week at the home's cabin on Cheyenne Mountain. Many of the boys spend a week at Scout camp while others in the Naval Reserve take their annual cruise during the summer.

Persons entering the home are considered thru self referral and are given priority according to their date of application. Applications are made in five different catagories: boys, girls, single men, single women and couples.

In order to be considered as an applicant for the home, adults must have resided in the state for 10 years with priority given to those who have resided in El Paso County for 5 years. Children are considered from the age of 5 years and older when their parents have resided in the state for 5 years. A child residing in the home thru completion of high school then leaves the home, but if of college calibre is assisted by the home in seeking a college degree.

Since its inception 50 years ago, the home has cared for more than 681 aged and 626 children. The normal capacity of the home is approximately 100 aged and 80 children. At the present time the home has a vacancy for a married couple and vacancies for 10 children.

The home employs 52 persons in supervisory work, maintenance, services and administration. The chief administrator is the superintendent, John S. Chamney. The assistant superintendent is Miss Helen Chamberlin. A director of the children's department and a matron of the aged department are included on the administrative staff.

The operational policies of the home and the overseeing of its subsidiaries is handled by a three member board of trustees. The present trustees are Karl R. Ross, president; A. G. Hill, vice president, and John S. Chamney.

After 50 years of operation, the home still has its philosophy "It is not enough to help the feeble up but to support him after" as inscribed on Stratton's monument in the home's plot in Evergreen Cemetery.

George Douglas Trains With Marine Corps

Marine Lance Corporal George M. Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Douglas of 318 Linda Vista St. Fountain, recently completed "lock-on" training with the Second Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment, First Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

"Lock-on" is the name given to a six-week period of intensive training which progresses from basic tactics of the fire team and squad to the complex maneuvers of the company and battalion.

ACLU Probes Local Charges of Rights Violations

The Colorado Springs Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union is investigating charges of infringement of the rights of Manitou Springs merchants who are being annoyed by students from Rev. Hargis' Christian Crusade College.

Donald King, Chaper president, said that some of the businessmen have been particularly harassed by groups of students handling all the merchandise looking for labelled goods made in Iron Curtain Countries.

The shop owner is then told that he is selling Communist merchandise made by slave labor and such goods should be taken out and burned. The students usually make these accusations in the presence of customers, the owners report.

King pointed out that the ACLU neither agrees nor disagrees with the stand taken by these trained students. "The freedom of the Christian Crusaders to speak out or to commit acts in public places for the purposes of giving information about their religous or political beliefs, should be protected."

This is the historic position of the ACLU and it often places the organization on unpopular sides of controversy, King said.

Late this Spring, the Colorado Chapter in Denver investigated the alleged denial of the use of Phipps Auditorium to Rev. Hargis and his Christian Crusade group" King said.

"There is undoubtedly a legal point, however when speech or acts commited on private property constitute harassment and interference with an individual's right to conduct his business affairs," Kink added.

"The obvious recourse is local police action. The Manitou Springs community must deal with a college of ultra rightist views and be prepared for eventualities such as this," he added.

Soldier Thanked For Helping in Dog Rescue

Spec. 5 Charles Prano, assistant supply sergeant at the Ft. Carson Noncommissioned Officers Academy, has been thanked by Colorado Springs Mayor Harry Hoth for his part in rescuing a culvert-trapped dog at Ft. Carson recently.

Mayor Hoth writes:

"I know this act and the other rescue missions performed by you and the rescue team are greatly appreciated by the people of the Pikes Peak region. I am happy that your team is a part of our citizenry, and, altho we may not have an opportunity to thank each of you individually for your work, we do appreciate your efforts."

Prano was the first man to reach a cocker spaniel owned by Staff. Clarence King after it was frightened and ran into a culvert near the academy.

Post Engineer sent equipment to help Prano who was digging with his bare hands at first.

He is a member of the Ft. Carson academy which trains its faculty and staff to be ready for mountain and cold weather search, rescue and recovery missions.

The military mountaineers stage demonstrations of their climbing skill each Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in North Cheyenne Canon. It is one of the most popular tourist attractions in the Pikes Peak region.

United States visitors, largest single nationality group of travelers in the Far East and Pacific, account for over a fourth of the total income from tourism in that area.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO
BE SURE TO SHEPARDIZE
Shepard

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Colorado Springs:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the many people that have made our past 10 years a reality, without whom none of our accomplishments could have been attained.

Each person feels that his home town is the best and that some day he may be able to repay that town for the many, many wonderful memories of childhood. I am no different, my home town (Colorado Springs) has given me more than I can ever hope to repay.

I believe that a home is a thing of lasting beauty, designed for comfortable family living, incorporating the things we most want with a high degree of lasting quality. A home is a man's castle, a place to live, relax and enjoy life with his family.

I feel that the experience and knowledge we have attained in the last 10 years enables us to build one of the best homes for you and your family, in one of the most outstanding home towns you will ever hope to find.

Sincerely,

O.F. (Bud) Shepard

WHY HOLLAND PARK?

Because:

1. An inspiring view of the mountain range, Black Forest and Colorado Springs and miles east.
2. Lot prices are considerably lower due to the volume purchase of land. This is a direct savings to you.
3. Adjacent to the freeway giving you immediate accessability to any desired location in Colorado Springs. 5 minutes to Heart of Town.
4. Land values are increasing as Rusina Valley Industrial Park is near.

Anthony Gamble Bonforte Weds Miss Nancy Nichols

The marriage of Miss Nancy Nichols of Pueblo and Anthony Gamble Bonforte of Colorado Springs was solemnized at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 20, at the Church of the Ascension in Pueblo. The Rev. Chauncey A. Minnick performed the ceremony and Mrs. Charles DeHeart at the organ played traditional selections. This was a small family wedding, followed by a larger reception.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nichols Jr. of 1716 W. Street, Pueblo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bonforte of 1285 Mesa Ave., Broadmoor.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and lighted by candles. James McKinney and Jack Kellogg of Pueblo were candlelighters.

Mr. Nichols escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage.

Her gown of ivory peau de soie was fashioned in a slim sheath silhouette, with bouffant chapel train billowing softly from a directoire back. The snugly fitted bodice was styled with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and dainty pearl motifs adorned the bodice and skirt. Her veil of English illusion fell from a crown of crushed hand-rolled rose petals made of ivory peau de soie, and she carried a cascade bouquet of ivory roses and English ivy.

Miss Sandra Nichols attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a gown of candlelight satin, styled with scoop neckline and sheath skirt, accented by a panel at back, which was caught at the waistline with a bow, and extended to the hem of the dress. She wore a matching candlelight veil and carried ivory roses and English ivy.

Merle Carpenter of Pueblo was best man and ushers were C. Allen Blomquist, Pueblo, and Sydney T. Guberman of Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Nichols wore for her daughter's wedding a dress of soft yellow raw silk trimmed in matching lace, with tiny fitted jacket. Her accessories matched her dress.

Mrs. Bonforte wore a dress of green silk peau de soie styled with jewel neckline, and her accessories matched her dress. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Miss Nancy Brown of Denver cut the cake at the reception which was held at the Pueblo Country Club, and Miss Sandra Wilken, also of Denver, presided at the guest book.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands, the newlyweds will live at 1540 Bonforte Ave., Pueblo. The bride's traveling ensemble was an ivory raw silk suit with matching accessories.

The guests included Mrs. Jessie M. Zimmerman, sister of the bridegroom from La Mesa, Calif., and Dr. and Mrs. Harry Cope, aunt and uncle of the bride from Temple City, Neb.

Annual Garden Party Scheduled By Woman's Club

Woman's Club of Colorado Springs will have its annual garden party Wednesday at the clubhouse, 20 Mesa Rd.

Mrs. Kenneth Lowe, third vice president, and her committee will serve refreshments from 10 a.m. until noon, courtesy of the club.

The board of directors will hold a brief business session at 11 a.m. with chairman Mrs. William C. Mitchell, toauthorizepayliam C. Mitchell, to authorize payment of bills incurred during the recent renovation of the clubhouse.

No other meetings are held during the summer with regular meetings being resumed with a luncheon and fashion show at the Antlers Hotel, Sept. 11.

CSHS Class, '53 Plans Reunion

Colorado Springs High School class of 1953 will hold an informal dinner-dance and class reunion at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24, at the Moors Restaurant, Crestridge Ave.

Reservations are requested by Aug. 1, by sending $1 per person, addresses of their class member and some information about their life since graduation to: Class Reunion 1953, P.O. Box 4365, Colorado Springs, 809-09.

Any help in locating members will be appreciated by the self-appointed committee members: Bill Goodbar, Don Presley, Stuart Nailler, Gar McInnis, Audrey (Schlarb) McInnis, Betty Lee (Berry) Hill, Ann (Hakes) Tyler, Mary Lou (Davis) Johnson, Claudia Jo (Birmingham) Hughes, and Peggy (Gunther) Axton.

White Shrine Plans Benefit Dessert Party

A dessert benefit card party, sponsored by the Columbine Shrine 15, Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem, will be held in the Colorado Springs Masonic Temple, 9 N. Nevada Ave., at 1 p.m. Friday.

Dessert will be served at 1 p.m. Selma Walker will supervise the sale and display of baked foods. Prizes will be awarded.

Leah Thorum, 633-1480, chairman, will give further information.

Players may bring their own playing cards but cards will be furnished if needed.

Keep Steady In Stitches

If a fad reported by the Japan Sewing Machine Council catches on, a number of American teenage girls will be embroidering pictures of their favorite movie stars on their blouses, over their hearts. It's done by tracing over a photograph, pinning the sketch to the blouse, stretching material and sketch over an embroilery hoop and embroidering along the penciled pattern.

Meetings Discontinued During Summer Months

Social Circle of Centennial Chapter 58, Order of the Eastern Star, will not meet during July and August.

The annual card party Sept. 27 will be announced at a future date.

BASEBALL PENSIONS

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 20-year veteran of major league baseball is eligible for the maxium $550-a-month pension benefits at the age of 65.

Gary David Baker Weds Miss Judith Mae Samuel

Miss Judith Mae Samuel and Gary David Baker were united in marriage at St. Stephen's chapel of Grace Episcopal church, at 3 p.m. June 30. The Rev. Arthur W. Pierpoint officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Samuel of 701 E. Columbia St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Baker Jr. of 523 W. Kiowa St.

Candles lighted the altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and large pink mums. The center aisle pews were marked with white bows. Dr. Julius Baird at the orgna played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Beth Mayse, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza with chapel train. The neckline was trimmed with lace appliques, which were also used on the skirt. The sleeves were long and tapered. Her finger-tip veil, which was worn by her sister also, was of French illusion, held in place by an organza and lace tiara, pearl and sequin encrusted. She carried a white orchid with stephanotis on her white Rainbow Bible.

Miss Cheryl Gebhard, the maid of honor, wore a pale pink crystalette sheath with overskirt of the same color, caught in front and back with bows. She wore matching shoes, and hat of single large bow on a circle of matching tulle, white gloves and pearl earrings, a gift from the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mum with pink sweetheart roses.

Frances E. Nickle was best man and ushers were Delbert Petersen and John H. Tuck, brothers-in-law of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a multi-colored pink lace sheath with pink petal flowered hat and matching accessories, and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore an embroidered beige and white sheath with white accessories, and a brown and green cymbidium orchid.

The reception was held in the guild room of the church. Assisting were the bride's two sisters, Mrs. Delbert Petersen and Mrs. John H. Tuck. The bride's table was covered with white satin and net, with a three-tier wedding cake, circled with sweetheart roses. Pink candles in crystal holders with trays of pink and white mints and petit-fours completed the table. Joy Baker, sister of the bridegroom was in charge of the gifts and assisted at the reception table. Miss Carolyn Mann was in charge of the guest book.

The bride chose for her traveling outfit an olive green suit with rose accessories and a pink sweetheart rose corsage.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Colorado Springs, until winter when they will both attend college.

Mrs. Baker was graduated from Palmer High School and is past Worthy Advisor of Pikes Peak Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls. Mr. Baker also graduated from Palmer High School where he was active in many events.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Petersen and daughters, Pammy, Brenda and Cindy; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Petersen of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tuck and son Kyle, of Greeley; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. White of Raton N.M.; Mr and Mrs. Garwin Fisher and daughters, Joni and Jan, of Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. Jean Pringle of Pueblo; and Mrs. Nelle Doran of Streator, Ill.

VERDA LAWRIE AND CHARLES DAY

* * *

Verda Lawrie, Charles Day To Present Annual Concert

Verda Lawrie, who is beginning her twentieth year as organist at the First Methodist Church will present an organ concert, Wednesday evening, in the sanctuary of the church. The concert which will begin at 8 o'clock is open to the public without charge.

The organ, a 3-manual 58 rank Reuter, has gained a reputation as one of the most outstanding in the entire Rocky Mountain Region. Harmonic control, blend, ensemble quality and artistic voicing and regulation are but a few of the elements which in this instance, have caused qualified observers to be most enthusiastic in their praise of this instrument, Mrs. Lawrie says.

Mrs. Lawrie has chosen a program of varied numbers to show the resources of the organ. She will be assisted by Charles Day, pianist, playing themes from the Rachmaninoff Piano Concerto No. 2. This will be the last solo appearance of Mr. Day before leaving for Phoenix, Ariz., where he has accepted the position of organist at the Crossroads Methodist Church and will teach piano and organ at the Scottsdale Music Studios.

Mr. Day began his piano study with Mrs. Lawrie in 1943 before going to the Jullliard School in New York where he graduated with honors. On his return he again joined the Hamlin-Lawrie Music Studio as a teacher of piano and has been associated with Mrs. Lawrie in that capacity ever since. He is a member of the Rotary Club and is its pianist; member of the Colorado Springs Music Club and the American Music Society. He has been the organist of the First Christian Church from 1948 to 1961 and organist at Temple Bethel from 1948 to 1962. He has been in great demand as a soloist and accompanist and has served as pianist with the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra and at the Garden of the Gods Easter Sunrise Service as organist. His many friends will appreciate this opportunity to hear Mr. Day before his departure.

Preceding the concert from 5 to 7:30 o'clock the Pilot Club will serve a smorgasbord in the banquet room of the church. Many people may wish to attend both the dinner and the concert.

This is the eighth summer of these organ concerts. Mrs. Lawrie is well-known to the people of Colorado Springs and letters have been received from other states expressing the desire for the continuance of the programs.

The Bride Cooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

These chops are given a marinade that's popular in Hawaii.

Teriyaki Pork Chops
Steamed Rice
Skewered Fruit Green Salad
Coconut Tarts Beverage

Teriyaki Pork Chops

- 4 pork chops, 3/4 inch thick (About 1 pound)
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 4 1/4 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon minced crystallized ginger
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed

Trim all but 1/4 inch of fat from around chops. In a shallow dish mix together the soy sauce, sugar, ginger, and garlic. Spoon marinade over chops and allow to stand in it about 1 hour. Place chops on a rack in broiler pan. Broil slowly until brown on one side; brush with marinade; turn to broil other side. Brush with remaining marinade just before removing from broiler. Allow about 25 minutes total broiling time; cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Use a Japanese-type soy sauce for strongest flavor. Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before mining.

Pamela Ann Moore Becomes Bride of E. Scott Munro

The Holy Rosary Chapel in Cascade was the scene of the wedding of Miss Pamela Ann Moore and E. Scott Munro, at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 13. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Moore of 2219 N. Logan St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Munro of South Branch, N. J.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony Elzi performed the double ring ceremony, before an altar decorated with arrangements of yellow and white pompon mums, in gold and white vases.

The bride's parents were married in the same chapel, in 1942, and the same musical selections were played and sung for their daughter's wedding. Mrs. Frank Clinebell played selections from Mendelssohn's "Song without Words," the Lohengrin processional, and the recessional hymn. Mr. Clinebell sang "Because" and Gounod's "Ave Maria."

Mr. Moore gave his daughter in marriage. Her floor-length gown of white satin and Chantilly lace was styled with molded bodice, long tapered sleeves, and deep V neckline with stand-up lace collar. Seed pearls and sequins trimmed the bodice, and the half-crown from which her fingertip veil flowed. Her flowers were yellow roses arranged in a cascade.

Miss Ruth Turner, cousin of the bride from Pueblo, was maid of honor, and Miss Linda Ellis was bridesmaid. Both wore street length dresses of mint-green nylon sheer over taffeta, with fitted bodices, scoop necklines and cap sleeves. The full skirts were enhanced at the waistlines with bustle backs, and butterfly bows, and they wore satin crowns and brief veils. Their cascade bouquets were of shattered yellow carnations.

Joseph Marold Jr. cousin of the bride, of Denver, was best man and Douglas Headley, cousin of the bridegroom from Livingston, N. J. ushered. The bridegroom and attendants wore white dinner jackets and carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother, receiving some 100 guests at the Moore home following the ceremony, wore a two-piece ensemble of original design, in light green, with white and olive green polka dot blouse. She wore a matching hat, shoes and bag, and white gloves, and her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses and shattered white mums. Mrs. C. A. Kapp presided at the guest book during the reception.

The bride was graduated from Wasson High School and until her marriage was employed in the personnel department of Penrose Hospital. The bridegroom is a graduate of the South Branch New Jersey High School and is a student at an airline mechanics school in Denver, while employed by Frontier Airlines.

After a brief trip to New Jersey to visit the bridegroom's parents the newlyweds will live at 1200 Clarkson St., Denver.

The guests included the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frances Marold of 2219 N. Logan St., and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Asa F. Moore of 2012 W. Bijou St.

Guests from other cities were Charles J. Schovee, great uncle of the bride from Topeka, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. James C. Turner of Pueblo; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marold, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Higgins, Pico Rivera, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schriver, Pico Rivera; Mrs. Lallie Merten, Pueblo; Miss Margaret Tekavee of Victor; Miss Mary Tekavee, Miss Marjorie Flanagan, Miss Gertrude Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Melvin, Denver; and Mr. and Mrs. James Qualey of Boulder.

Nurses Care For Tots' Teeth

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — For most New Zealand schoolchildren, dental treatment is women's work.

Practically all treatment for children from 2½ to 16 is performed by dental nurses.

The treatment is free and the nurses work in modern clinics attached to schools or in mobile units travelling around remote country areas.

New Zealand was the first country to train nurses for dental work and its free school service was the world's first. Suggested to the government by the New Zealand Dental Association in 1906, it was set up in 1921 and the first trained nurses were at work in schools in 1923.

Today there are more than 900 dental nurses working in 981 treatment centers. The nurses train for two years at centers in Wellington, Auckland and Christchurch and there now are about 400 in training.

Each child is examined at intervals of six months. The nurse does all fillings and most extractions, leaving only complicated cases for a dental surgeon.

Stevenson-King Nuptials Held at Ent AFB Chapel

The Chapel at Ent Air Force Base was the scene of the wedding of Miss Karla Berneice King and Richard Shaw Stevenson at 2 p.m. June 11, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) James Woodruff officiating. Baskets and altar vases of peach and white gladioli and mums formed the setting for the ceremony. Nuptial music included "Fantasia," and a Bach Prelude.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Warren Randol King of 2202 Pheasant Place. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Stevenson of Elizabeth City, N.J.

The bride's floor length gown was an original design of white silk shantung, made with slim skirt, with overblouse of embroidered silk organza. A panel train fell from the waistline and was trimmed with roses. Her fingertip veil of tulle was caught to a white silk pillbox. Her cascade of gardenias was accented with peace colored Tropicana roses.

Miss Kathryn Maile Kin was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Marilynn Wilde was bridesmaid. Both wore dresses of peach colored silk organza with draped necklines, and full skirts with unpressed pleats. Their headdresses of matching organza were made with short veils, and their flowers were peach carnations and white roses. Miss Jan Wilde as flower girl wore a similar dress in light blue organza trimmed with white lace and carried an old fashioned bouquet of carnations and roses.

W. Douglas Prescott of Elizabeth, N.J., was best man and the ushers were Michael M. Kendrick of Denver and J. Rodrigo Paris of Costa Rica.

Miss Diana Gunstream of Dallas and Miss Jane Thompson of Ogden, Utah, assisted at the reception which was held at the Skyline Club, Ent Air Force Base.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue voile over taffeta with melon pink hat. The bridegroom's mother a silk costume in camellia pink with matching accessories.

The couple will spend the summer at Nags Head, N.C. and will make their home in Boulder. The bride wore a white costume for traveling.

Out of town guests were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Stevenson of Elizabeth City, N.C., the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Floyd E. King of Muscatine, Iowa, and her grandfather, Mr. Andy Hopper of Lava Hot Springs, Ida.

The bride attended Iowa State University and is now a student at the University of Colorado where her sorority is Alpha Delta Pi.

The bridegroom attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was graduated from the University of North Carolina and did graduate work at Harvard, the Sorbonne in Paris, and the University of Colorado where his fraternity is Sigma Chi.

Blind Girl Studies Social Work

VANCOUVER (AP) — Mary Ann Coughlan, a pretty, 20-year-old coed, attends classes at the university of British Columbia every day hoping to become a social worker, specializing in juvenile delinquency.

Mary Ann, a second year arts student, is blind.

But she knows the campus as well as the keys of her own typewriter, "thanks to my friends and braille map."

She has no trouble finding her way around campus to lectures, the bookstore, the library and to her dormitory.

"I can whisk around on my own just like everybody else," she says. "Some of my professors don't even know I'm blind."

Active in non-curricular activities, Mary Ann says: "I had my sight until I was 11 and that, combined with my new experiences, makes me a lucky girl." She lost her sight suddenly following an operation for a tumor.

"I found it hard to adjust at first," she said. "I loved the outdoors and sports like bicycling and baseball."

Then she attended a school for the blind and deaf, and learned to love music, to bowl and swim, as well as how to type on both a braille and ordinary typewriter.

"I learned," she said, "not to judge people by what they look like but by what they say."

Style Briefs

Designers are eliminating the need for further topping with hooded sweaters, hooded dresses, and hooded coats. Often the hoods of sweaters worn under suits or jerkins folds back into a turtle neck effect.

Bonnie Cashin carries the idea the farthest out with a lightweight hooded dress worn over a hooded bushy mohair or fur coat.

Fashions sure not to be turkeys this fall are those in the season's most popular red, cranberry. The dark, rich hue, sometimes shiny like the polished berries themselves, and sometimes flat and drab like the pulp, appears in a myriad of fabrics in nearly all American couture collections.

Keep a small flashlight by the sewing machine, so on dark days or at night you'll have it handy for needle threading.

TO MARRY IN NOVEMBER—Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Scott, of 2510 N. Meade Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Lizabeth, to Capt. James Frank Sopp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sopp, of St. Helen's, Ore. Miss Scott graduated from Wasson High School, class of 1961, and is employed in the Logistics Section, Ft. Carson, as a stenographer. Capt. Sopp received a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Oregon at Eugene, where he majored in Business Administration, class of 1957. He is a member of the United States Air Force, stationed at Ent Air Force Base. The wedding is planned for Nov. 2.

Beating the Heat!

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband perspires heavily in summer. Should he take salt tablets to prevent becoming dehydrated?

A — No, advises biochemist Charles Glen King, president of the Nutrition Foundation. When a human being does hard physical work, and to a considerable extent, hard mental work, his body loses substantial amounts of water which must be replaced. Investigation some years ago suggested that since salt was removed from the body with sweat or perspiration, one should simply replace it with salt tablets. More recent investigation indicates simply drinking more water, under all but very extreme circumstances. Water lost from the body in various ways must be replenished. The level of water in the body must be maintained at optimal level for good health and good nutrition. There is some danger in drinking too much water at one time, but there is greater danger in not drinking enough water, for people living either sedentary or active lives, in warm weather or cold.

Q—Should I give my baby extra amounts of water in hot weather?

A—In both hot and cold weather it is very important that an infant has adequate water intake to avoid dehydration, Dr. King says. He adds that, "For example, cow's milk is more concentrated in proteins and minerals than human milk, so that more water, relatively, may be required by the infant. Vomiting causes loss of body water which must be made up, with due care not to stimulate vomiting. Mothers can do much to safeguard the health of infants by making sure that the infant's intake of water is sufficient, in accord with the doctor's instructions. During hot weather more dilute feeding mixtures may be indicated, particularly for new-born infants. An alternative would be the offering of water prior to the giving of caloric mixtures to infants in high temperature environments."

Onion Madrilene Revives Appetites

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Right in the center of hot New York City, there is a former sheepfold and shepherd's house where Southdown sheep grazed a century ago. Today, on smooth lawns shaded by trees, it is the Tavern-on-the-Green in Central Park.

Hungry New Yorkers and visitors enjoy good food there day and night in the green seclusion away from city noises. Ronald Spetalnick, the young director, ordered two dishes for us, promising they would revive our wilted appetite. On the terrace, which was softly illuminated by hundreds of beelights strung among plane trees, we found that he was right. You will agree.

Onion Madrilene
(about 12 servings)

1 cup thinly sliced onions
6 cups beef stock or 6 beef bouillon cubes and 6 cups boiling water
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
¼ cup Port wine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
Chopped scallions
Sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine onion and stock. Bring to boiling point and simmer 15 minutes. Soften gelatin in water and add to stock along with wine. Season to taste with salt and ground black pepper. Cool and chill. Serve in chilled sherbet glasses or cups, sprinkled with chopped scallions and topped with sour cream.

Raw Mushroom Salad
(8 to 10 servings)

1 pound raw mushrooms
¼ cup olive or salad oil
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cracked black pepper
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 cup diced celery
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped

Wash mushrooms and slice very thin (caps and stems). Add oil and lemon juice and seasonings. Add celery and mix lightly. Serve on lettuce. Sprinkle with chopped hard-cooked egg. Garnish with fresh tarragon or parsley.

In 1962, an estimated 21,500,000 amateurs were playing the piano.

Capt. Francis Stevens Jr. Weds Nancy Kay Anderson

Miss Nancy Kay Anderson became the bride of Capt. Francis Robert Stevens Jr. at 2 p.m. July 4 in Lehmberg Chapel of the First Methodist Church. Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg performed the ceremony. Baskets of red and white gladioli banked the altar. Traditional nuptial selections were played by Verda Lawrie and Bill Norris of Clovis, N.M. sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion K. Anderson of 1436 N. Wahsatch Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marguerite D. Stevens of 4000 Cathedral Ave., N.W., Washington D.C., and the late Lt. Col. Stevens.

Mr. Anderson gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white silk organza over taffeta was floor length, with detachable train and bell skirt, accented by garlands of embroidery. The molded bodice and brief jacket were also enhanced by embroidery and her elbow length veil of pure silk illusion flowed from a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a necklace of cultured pearls, a gift from the bridegroom's grandmother, and her flowers were feathered white fuji mums centered with red sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Terry D. Hendricks sister of the bride of Salem, Ore. was matron of honor, wearing a gown of copen blue sheer over taffeta, with modified bateau neckline and elbow sleeves. The bell skirt was street length and her colonial bouquet was of white carnations with red rosebuds.

Mrs. John Brickell of Denver and Miss Lavinia Garbizo of Colorado Springs were bridesmaids, wearing dresses like that of the matron of honor, in powder blue, and they carried similar bouquets. Kendra Jean Anderson, niece of the bride was flower girl, wearing a dress like that of the matron of honor, and carrying a white basket of blue and white daisies.

Lt. George H. McManus of Chevy Chase, Md., was best man and groomsmen were Capt. Church M. Matthews of White Sands; Capt. James E. Maloney III of Ft. Sill; and ushers were Capt. Richard Christianson, Capt. Richard F. Emery, Ft. Sill, both classmates of the bridegroom; Capt. Thurman E. Anderson, and Maj. Lake G. Churchill of Colorado Springs.

The couple left the church under an arch of sabres formed by Capt. Matthews, Capt. Maloney, Capt. Emery, Capt. Christianson, CCapt. Anderson and Maj. Churcholl.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with bolero jacket, and satin midriff with left side drape. Her corsage was of white roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of pale pink silk shantung with embroidered organdy bodice, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Laurin L. Dick, cousin of the bridegroom from Berlin, Germany, Mrs. Danny Pierce, and Miss Jeanne Barnett assisted at the reception which was held at the Ft. Carson Officers' Club. Miss Stoney Carter was in charge of the guest book.

After a short honeymoon at Writer's Manor, Denver, the couple will live at the Western Hills Apts., 5350 Cache Rd., Apt. 14, Lawton, Okla. The bridegroom, a '57 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy, is stationed at Ft. Sill. He is a nephew of Lt. Gen. William W. Dick Jr., Commanding General, U.S. ARADCOM, and Mrs. Dick.

Out of town guests included: Capt. and Mrs. Church M. Matthews of White Sands; Capt. James E. Maloney III of Ft. Sill; Capt. Richard E. Emery, Ft. Sill, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Kellner, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom from San Antonio, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Steinke, aunt and uncle of the bride, and their son, from Celina, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James Howe, also and aunt and uncle of Mauston, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hendricks of Fowler; Mr. and Mrs. Rolland L. Hangartner of Waukon, Iowa; Raymond T. Karsin, Jeanne Barnett, Denver; Mrs. Laurin L. Dick, cousin of the bridegroom from Berlin; Mr. and Mrs. John Brickell, Denver; Mrs. Terry D. Hendricks, Salem, Ore., and Bill Morris, Clovis, N.M.

The bride attended the University of Colorado and was graduated from Blair Business College.

ARTICLES FOR ABC SALE — Checking over this handsome group of articles which will be brought to the Fine Arts Center Wednesday morning for sale Aug. 14 at the annual ABC Sale are, from left, Mrs. Eugene Lilly, Mrs. Willis A. Becker and Mrs. John A. Hettinger. The ladies will take part in trade morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, on the patio, when anyone bringing in ABC sale items will be traded a soft drink.

Wednesday Is Designated Trade Day for ABC Sale

Anyone who cannot bring donations on Wednesday may bring them in anytime until the sale, or items will be picked up if a call is made to 633-0518 requesting service.

Wednesday morning has been designated as "trade morning" at the Fine Arts Center, when friends are invited to bring saleable items for the sixth annual ABC (attic, basement, closet) sale. Anything except clothing, from antiques to kitchen utensils, is welcome, and donors will receive a soft drink in exchange for their wares. Trading hours are from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to defray operating costs of the Fine Arts Center. The sale will be held Aug. 14.

Presiding at "trade morning" will be Mrs. James Bothwell, Mrs. Ralph D. Jacobs and Mrs. Julian Rawls. Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Rawls are co-chairmen of this year's event.

Rosemary vs. Lamb

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a meat loaf with enough distinction to serve for Sunday dinner. It is substantial yet delicate and the rosemary sauce that goes with it is pleasing and surprising.

Lamb Loaf, Rosemary Sauce
(6 servings)

1½ pounds ground lean lamb
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
2 teaspoons parsley flakes
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 eggs, lightly beaten
¼ cup water or beef stock

Combine lamb, bread crumbs, instant minced onion, parsley flakes, salt and black pepper, eggs and water or beef stock. Mix well, but lightly. Turn into a greased loaf pan 7⅜ x 3⅝ x 2¼ inches. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour or until done. Serve with Rosemary Sauce.

Rosemary Sauce
(1 cup)

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk or light cream
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves
1-16 teaspoon ground white pepper

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour. Stir in milk or cream and seasonings and cook until of medium thickness. Serve over lamb loaf.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ◇	Pass	Pass
2 ♣	2 ◇	2 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ◇.

The bridge heights can never be scaled by a player who has not at least, to some degree, the talents of a mind reader. Note the technique followed by South of today's hand. He said to himself, "If I were East what would I have done?" And having reached a certain conclusion he proceeded accordingly to make the somewhat abnormal but winning play.

The bidding proceeded along more or less normal lines. East is well advised to overcall rather than double because his hand is not particularly flexible. It is true he could stand a spade contract, but only if his partner could bid spades of his own volition. South's refusal to enter the auction on the first round is in accord with modern tactics which require a free bid to be based on something more than distribution.

Against the final contract West led the seven of diamonds and East cashed the king and ace. West followed with the four which indicated that he had no more of the suit (since the three and two were in view). Nevertheless East cashed the ace of spades and continued with the nine. Apparently everything now hinged on the success of the trump finesse. For a moment declarer toyed with the idea of winning with the king, in order to be in his own hand so that he could conveniently finesse twice, should it turn out that West held the king twice guarded. Suddenly he started upon a little venture in mind reading. If West held the king of hearts, the contract could have been defeated, by the mere continuation of diamonds, since West is known to have no more of the suit and could overruff declarer. Why then did East not proceed with a third round of diamonds, particularly after cashing the ace of spades and receiving no signal from partner.

The answer must be that East knows that West will be unable to overruff declarer. How could East possibly know this? Only if he held the king of hearts. This led declarer to the inescapable conclusion that the heart finesse would not work and that the only hope was that East's king was alone. East, of course, was helpless. Had he continued with a diamond, declarer would have ruffed with the eight of hearts and immediately discovered that West could not overruff. This would have given away the show more patently.

Hurrah for Crepe

Crepe is a big fashion favorite this season for evening wear. For it will be a favorite fabric for afternoon dresses as well—especially in black.

When giving a child a gift of clothing, add a special touch for them by tucking tiny toys, marbles, jacks, or balloons in the pockets of the garment.

GUEST DAY AT GOLF CLUB — Ladies of the Patty Jewett Golf Club entertained players from other clubs Tuesday. The ladies played nine holes preceding luncheon. Left to right here are Mrs. W. F. Waynan Lee Johnson Weds Miss Sharon Ann Magrath

Arrangements of white stock, white gladioli and apricot carnations formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Sharon Ann Magrath and Waynan Lee Johnson, at 3 p.m. June 29, in the Episcopal Chapel of St. Aidan at Boulder. The Rev. A. R. Patterson officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Magrath of Prairie Village, Kan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson of 402 Cragmor Rd., Colorado Springs.

The bride's gown of white silk organza over tulle and taffeta was floor length. A large organza rose held her veil, and her bouquet of lilies of the valley was centeredwith white rosebuds.

Miss Anne Larigan was maid of honor and Miss Judy Johnson was bridesmaid. Both wore street length dresses of apricot organza, trimmed at the waistline with an apricot bow which extended to the hem. Her short scalloped veil was caught to a cap of three apricot organza roses. Miss Larigan's flowers were apricot rosebuds and carnations surrounded by greenery. Miss Johnson carried apricot carnations.

Norman Deines of Boulder was best man and Richard Spelts, also of Boulder, ushered. They wore Bond Street Strollers and lily of the valley boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a sheath of watermelon-pink chiffon, and the bridegroom's mother wore a sheath of peach-pink chiffon. Their accessories matched their gowns.

Following a honeymoon in the mountains, the couple will live in Denver. The bride's going-away costume was a pink and white checked suit, with white accessories.

Both young people have been attending the University of Colorado.

Guests from other cities were Mrs. Bessie Parsons, Miss Estelle Parson, of Salt Lake City; Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Johnson of Friona, Tex., Mrs. G. Schultz of Beverly Hills, Calif., Mrs. H. A. Magrath of Oceanside, Calif., H. A. Magrath of Pueblo; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Larigan of Kansas City; Mrs. Jack Findley of Erie, Colo., Robert Walters and Steve Larigan of Kansas City.

PIE IN SKY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It will be some time before astronauts will have to cook their own meals in outer space, but you may be having a problem in high-altitude baking at your mountain retreat this summer. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, which makes a study of such things, has this advice on cooking in high places where the air pressure is usually lower than at sea level: In baking, VAMA suggests, use less baking powder and sugar and increase all liquid measurements to prevent cake and pie failures. Most package mixes incorporate necessary adjustments in their instructions.

With Care, Please

Very few women can wear sensational clothes and still hold their own. If you do buy a few pieces of fabulous clothing, be sure they are right for YOU. Otherwise, your dress will be remembered longer than you are.

Very Un-Glovely

When you wear long white gloves to a formal dinner, remove them before you eat. Nothing looks sillier than a woman trying to handle a knife and fork with her gloves on.

TO BE OCTOBER BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Mervin O. Thompson of Missoula, Mont. announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Marian of Colorado Springs, to Lt. Richard A. Leadbetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Leadbetter of Bangor, Maine. Miss Thompson is a 1961 graduate of the Missoula County High School and attended Montana State University. Mr. Leadbetter is a 1961 graduate of the University of Maine at Orono, and is currently stationed at Ft. Carson, serving as Platoon Leader in the 5th M.P. Co., 5th Infantry Div. (Mech.) The wedding is planned for October.

Wilda Karen Wenger Is Bride of John Humpert Jr.

Wilda Karen Wanger and John H. Humpert, Jr. were married at an 8 p.m. ceremony Friday, July 12, in the First Evangelical Lutheran Church, 1515 N. Cascade Ave., with the Rev. A. G. Edstrom of the Bethany Evangelical officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. George Horvat, 2023 N. Nevada, are parents and Harry N. Garber, Imperial, Neb., is grandfather of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Humpert Sr., of Kiowa, Colo. are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a dress of pale blue silk styled with a full skirt and boat neckline with inserts of val lace. Her accessories for the wedding were also pale blue. The bride wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Dorothy Jean Anderson, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor wearing a beige and white print dress and pink carnations.

Robert Humpert, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was given in the bride's parents' home decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, white tapers and greenery. Mrs. Robert Humpert, Mrs. Laurie Bricee, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Virgina Lee Garber, sister of the bride, Miss Lucille Reimer, Miss Toni Burmack, Miss Connie Bufmack and Mrs. Michael Horvat assisted.

Mrs. Humpert wore a blue print dress and white flowers; Mrs. Brice, a pink faille suit with white accessories and flowers; Miss Garber, a pink dress and pink carnations; Miss Reimer, a white sheath and deep rose corsage; Miss Toni Bufmack, a white sheath with pale blue accessories; Miss Connie Bufmack, a lavender dress and white corsage; and Mrs. Horvat, a rose print dress.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Denver, Glenwood Springs and Aspen, planning to live in Kiowa as soon as the building of their home is completed.

The bride chose a blue suit as her traveling ensemble.

Out of town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Humpert, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. (Andy) Anderson, and Mrs. Laurie Brice of Denver. Kiowa guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Joseph Gilardot, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pemberton, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kusma. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clemens traveled from Illinois.

The bride attended Colorado University Denver Extension and was employed at Colorado College.

The bridegroom attended Colorado College and is a cattle rancher in Kiowa.

David Leo Dairy Weds Miss Betty Donahue

At an informal candlelight ceremony on July 5, in Shove Chapel, Miss Betty Donahue of Columbia, S. C., became the bride of David Leo Dairy of Colorado Springs. The Rev. Kenneth Burton, chaplain of the chapel, peformed the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. D. Donahue and the late Mr. Donahue of Columbus, S. C. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Dairy of this city. The former Miss Donahue wore a street length dress of ivory peau de soie, with molded bodice, enhanced by a brief jacket of peau d'ange touched with seed pearl embroidery. Her veil of silk illusion fell in misty layers to her shoulders from an open coif of ivory peau. Her bouquet consisted of white glamellias mounted on an ivory and lace fan. She was given in marriage by Mr. Tim Roberston, a former employer.

Attendants were Miss Jan Schmidt of Denver who served as the maid of honor, and the Misses Stacey Lynn and Jodie Gail Brown, nieces of the bridegroom from Fremont, Calif., were junior bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a dress of pink raw silk, fashioned with short sleeves, a scoop neckline and bell shaped skirt. The bridesmaids wore pale blue organza frocks with embroidered elbow length sleeves. The attendants flowers were pink glamllias; the maid of honor's carried her flowers on a lace fan and the junior bridesmaid's were mounted on a single stem.

Thomas Dairy, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. Groomsmen included Roger Poe of Colorado Springs and Dayid Rex, Bixby Smith and Lt. Ronald May of Denver.

A reception for the wedding guests was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents, at 825 Panorama Dr. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Rollie Gardner, Mrs. Jesse Jackson and Mrs. Stanley Matthews.

The bride attended schools in Columbia, S. C. and has been employed during the past year by Superior Oil Company in Denver. Mr. Dairy, a graduate of Colorado College, served two years in the United States army, as a lieutenant in the infantry. He is currently employed by Pacific Intermountain Express as a sales representative in St. Louis, Mo.

Hael Meyer's Avocado Sherbet

Hael Meyer's Avocado Sherbet

- 1½ cups mashed avocado
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 pint heavy cream, whipped
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

Combine the fruit juices, avocado, sugar and lemon rind, blending until sugar is completely dissolved. Pour this mixture into ice-cube trays and freee for about ½ hour. Remove from the freezer, turn it out into a bowl and stir it well. Fold in the whipped cream. Pack in rigid waxed tub or plastic containers and store in freeer. Twelve servings. Recipe from "The Complete Book of Home Freezing," (Lippincott).

Food Editor's Note: Because this is a tangy flavorful sherbet, we like to serve it along with vanilla ice cream.

Annual Smorgasbord Plans Announced by Pilot Club

The Pilot Club's eighth annual smorgasbord dinner will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the banquet room of the First Methodist Church. The public is cordially invited to attend. Home-cooked foods will be prepared and served by the members of the club and will include baked ham, turkey, baked salmon, vegetables, cheeses, fruits, a variety of salads, cakes and pies.

Those who attend the smorgasbord also will participate directly in the community service work done by the Pilot Club, as this is its major fund-raising for for the year. During the past school year, almost 3,000 bicycles have been safety-checked and supplied with reflector tape, for which the club has been highly commended by Pilot International. Scholarships for nurses, YMCA camperships, and other donations and services are also planned for the current year.

Mrs. Verda Lawrie's annual summer organ concert will be presented the same evening at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church. Many who attend the smorgasbord will also want to attend this event for which there is no admission charge. Mrs. Lawrie will play a variety of selections demonstrating the resources of the organ. Piano and organ will be combined for Rachmaninov's Concerto No. 2 with Charles Day assisting at the piano.

Tickets for the smorgasbord can be obtained from any Pilot, member, at the door, at the Pikes Peak Floral Company, 7 E. Kiowa St., or at Famous Appliances, 24 E. Platte Ave.

She Paints Better Now As 'Lefty'

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Mavis Saurer, artist wife of a Swiss embassy attache here, was originally right-handed but discovered she could paint better with her left hand after getting the right one caught in a washing-machine wringer a year ago.

"Now I use both hands and my work has improved," she says. "Maybe one's spiritual and the other one of the flesh."

She produces 15 to 20 canvasses a year and recently held her first one-woman show here.

Two Summer Salad Ideas

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our California friends claim that the cantaloupes from their state are the sweetest and most succulent. They may be right. Certainly their recipes for California cantaloupe live up to the Golden State's reputation for fine food.

California Cantaloupe Julienne Salad
(6 to 8 servings)

- 1 cantaloupe
- ½ lb. boiled ham
- 2 cups cooked chicken
- 1 large tomato
- 1 head romaine or other lettuce
- 1-3 cup Italian dressing.

Cut rind from cantaloupe. Cut melon lengthwise into halves; remove seeds. Place cut sides down on board; cut crosswise into thin slices. Cut ham and chicken into thin strips. Cut tomato into wedges. Dice lettuce into large bowl; toss with green pepper. Arrange "clusters" of cantaloupe, ham, chicken and tomato over lettuce. Drizzle with dressing.

Tangy Cali-Lope Compote
(5 to 6 servings)

- 1 cantaloupe
- ½ cup grapes
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen pineapple chunks
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Dash salt

Cut cantaloupe into halves; remove seeds. Using a French ball cutter or ½ teaspoon measure, cut out melon balls. Halve and seed grapes. Drain pineapple chunks, saving ¼ cup syrup. Blend syrup with brown sugar, lemon juice and salt. Toss together melon balls, grapes and pineapple. Pour over syrup mixture and chill well. Spoon into chilled compotes.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Sermon to Remember

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been a minister for many years, and we have faced this problem over and over. It's the misconstrued picture of the pastor's work. Time and again I've heard children go uncorrected when they say, in the presence of their parents, "The preacher doesn't have to work." Adults make remarks about how hard it must be to have my husband underfoot all day. Or how nice it is that he has to work only on Sundays. Or he can sleep as late as he wants to in the mornings. Abby, my husband gets up at 6:30 a.m. and retires between 11 o'clock and midnight every night. His days (and many evenings) are filled with meetings, conferences, church administration business, fund raising, counseling parents of children in trouble, mediating in family and marital quarrels, preparing sermons and speeches for community and civic affairs. He puts in hours and does work that would kill off a younger man. Some people think that unless a man works behind a desk eight hours a day, or goes to a factory and punches a clock, he isn't really "working". I love our people, Abby, and don't want to hurt them, but I do wish they had a better understanding of the minister's work. Can you help me? —PASTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I hope I have.

DEAR ABBY: I found a hairpin in my husband's shirt pocket and I don't own a hairpin. I asked him how it got there and he swore up and down he didn't know. Now I know my husband and I can tell if he's lying by looking at his mouth. Well, his mouth betrayed him and I am sure he was lying to me about that hairpin. I can't prove anything. What would you do if you were me? I am 62 and he is 69. —NOT STUPID

DEAR NOT: If I were you I'd throw the hairpin away and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "His Mother", whose son had to repeat the fifth grade, that I know how she feels because it happened to my boy years ago. And it was the best thing that ever happened to him, as he received a good grounding in fundamentals that held him in good stead ever since. As his teacher told us, "If he is not able to keep up with the class and do the work, think how much harder it will be later on." He quickly adjusted to being left behind by his contemporaries, and it was never harmful to him psychologically or otherwise. It was a blow to his parent's pride. Don't blame the teacher. She's doing what is best for him. Someday you will be thankful. MRS. S.

CONFIDENTIAL-TO G.G.: For some valuable insight into a young adult's character, take notice of how he (or she) treats his parents. And for some additional valuable insight, notice how he (or she) treats the grandparents.

Porch Refreshment

Our Girl Friday's mother has given us one of the most delightful of cookie recipes.

Watercress and Cucumber Sandwiches with Boiled Dressing
Grace Bates' Canton
Ginger Cookies
Iced Tea

Grace Bates' Canton Ginger Cookies

- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
- 1 egg (beaten until thick and pale colored)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup finely diced crystallied ginger (lightly packed)

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugar; add egg and vanilla; beat to combine. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and ginger. Wrap tightly and chill overnight. Make small balls (about the size of a large marble) of the mixture and place a few inches apart on an ungreased cookie sheet; press balls about ⅛-inch thick with palm of hand. Bake in a moderate 375 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Makes about 6 doen.

Note: Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before slicing and dicing.

Comfort First

Comfort should be given as much consideration as style when you choose the clothing you plan to work. You can't do an efficient job when you're strangled by a high neckline or cinched at the waist so that you can hardly breathe.

FIRST GOLD CUP

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first Gold Cup race for motor boats in 1904 was won by C. C. Riotte whose fastest heat was at 2.6 miles per hour.

Hard - boiled eggs should be chilled immediately after cooking by refrigerating them or running cold water over them to make them easier to shell.

Twin Sisters Are Brides In Double Nuptial Rites

The weddings of twin sisters took place at 2 p.m., June 15, in the South Unit Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, when Miss Darlene Ruth Quigley became the bride of Kenneth Anderson, and her twin, Charlene, became the bride of Arthur Epperson.

The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Glen Quigley of Fountain. Mr. Anderson is the son of Mrs. Genevieve Anderson of 131 Deer Path Ave., Manitou Springs; and Mr. Epperson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Epperson of 169 Norman Dr., Security.

The Rev. Andrew Jackson performed the ceremony and wedding music was played by Harry Wade. Basket arrangements of summer flowers were placed on the altar.

Given in marriage by their father, the brides wore white ballerina length dresses of lace and chiffon, and fingertip veils attached to crowns of crystals and pearls. Their flowers were nosegay arrangements of roses and carnations combined with blue lace and ribbon.

Charlene Quigley was attended by Mrs. Sandra Nelson of Nowata, Okla., and Mrs. Donna Berry of Colorado Springs attended Darlene Quigley. Miss Debra Wells and Miss Sherry Christian were flower girls. All wore dresses of blue, chiffon, satin, and lace, with blue shoes and veils and white gloves. The attendants carried white carnations and the flower girls carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies.

Mr. Anderson was attended by Don Wells as best man, and Arthur Epperson was attended by Leroy Williams. Ushers were David Given, Frankie Daniluck, J. C. Bouziden and Dale Atkins.

The brides' mother wore a dress of blue crepe with lace jacket, blue hat and white gloves. Mrs. Epperson wore black chiffon, and Mrs. Anderson's dress was of brown crepe.

Assisting at the reception which was held in Carpenters Hall were Mrs. Florence Walkup, Mrs. Laverna Anderson and Mrs. Mabel Paul.

Mr. Anderson is employed by the Fred Koch Insurance and Accounting Agency, and Mr. Epperson by Rick's Nursery.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson motored to New York City for their honeymoon, and the Eppersons left for Pasadena, Calif. Both brides wore pale blue sheath dresses with matching jackets and white accessories, when they left for their wedding trips.

Both couples will reside in Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sterling, grandparents of the brides from Green Bay, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert West of Kansas City, Mo., attended the wedding.

Meat Essential to All

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My mother is 70 years old and refuses to eat meat because she thinks it is bad for her kidneys. I tell her she needs meat to keep up her energy. Who is right?

A—You are right. Your mother is like some other senior citizens who feel that they don't need "much meat" or other protein foods. Some even think meat is hard to digest or hard on the kidneys. This is not true except in certain uncommon diseases. Protein foods give the body substances essential to life and which no other foods can supply. Again, if the diet is deficient in protein, the body will have to use some of its own tissues as a source of the materials necessary for daily upkeep and repair. Listlessness, fatigue, lack of vigor and zest result from a diet which supplies insufficient protein for healthful daily upkeep. Here are foods she needs daily to build her protein reserves:

- 3 glasses of milk, any kind (each 8-ounce glass counts 13 plus)
- 3 ounces of cooked meat, fish or poultry (about ¼ pound without waste and before cooking)
- 3 servings of bread or cereal (could be a serving at each meal)
- 1 serving of any of these—
  - 1 egg
  - 1ounce cheese, yellow types
  - 2 tablespoons cottage cheese
  - 2 ounces luncheon meat
  - 1 serving dried beans or peas
- 2 servings of vegetables or fruits

If she finds meat hard to chew and so avoids it, try using ground meat or the chopped or strained canned meats. Or use more eggs, mils and cheese.

Q—Isn't it the type of food in a reducing diet rather than the number of caloires that counts?

A—The most important factor in losing weight is the total number of calories consumed, not the type of food, according to Laurance W. Kinsell, M.D., Institute for Metabolic Research, Highland-Alameda County Hospital, Oakland, Calif. He reports that weight loss was essentially identical in three obese patients on three types of diets, all totaling 1,200 calories. One diet was high in carbohydrates, another high in fat and the third was high in both protein and fat, he said. "On the basis of the finoings in this study, there appears to be no question that the major factor responsible for weight loss in any individual is limitation of calories," Dr. Kinsell concluded. "So long as the calorie level remains constant, the rate of weight loss is the same whether the diet be high in carbohydrate and low in fat, or the reverse."

Watch for really young snap beans when you are food-marketing. Their flavor, texture and color are worthwhile.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise

As a result of research, the United States Department of Agriculture recommends the best storage of lettuce is at 32 to 35 degrees F. However, temperatures of 40 to 50 degrees F will retard the development of decay in lettuce for two to three days.

The department states that two to three days is the extent of the "high quality" life of lettuce. If head lettuce is to be stored several days, it should "not" be cored until the day it is to be used.

Just rinse the lettuce lightly, drain thoroughly, and store immediately in crisping pans or wrapped in foil, transparent film wrap, film bags, or a damp tea towel.

If it is planned to use the lettuce within a day or two, core and store as stated above, or place (core side "down") on paper towels in covered container in refrigerator. To keep fresh and crisp, lettuce needs moisture. —Barbara Tellus, Vegetable Growers Association

---

From Heloise's Kitchen

If you have one of those plastic-type measuring cups where the marks are very hard to see get out that red bottle of fingernail polish, gals.

On the one-fourth cup mark put one red dot. On the half-cup mark put two red dots. On the three-fourths cup mark put a little line of dots. On the top measure, which says one cup, draw a little line about an inch long.

Sure saves me lots of time. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is an idea that we have used and it really works for us.

The next time you try to remove the bolt from your license plate or any bolt-and-nut arrangement, and you find it rusted . . . just take a carbonated beverage and pour it on the rusted nut. You will be able to work the screw loose in just a few minutes. —F. D.

I have no rusted bolts and nuts so I can't test this, but many letters have come in saying "it's so."

Do let us know how you fare. Nothing to lose except a few swallows of pop! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I dyed a couple of old faded bathmats to match my kitchen decor. I use them for kitchen rugs. I keep one rug in front of the back door and one I keep in front of the kitchen sink all the time and it looks pretty too.

When I cook I "scoot" the rug over in front of the stove. This is wonderful to catch the grease, spatters and cooking spills especially from frying and drips from the broiler.

When I defrost my refrigerator I scoot the same rug in front of it until the entire process is completed and the refrigerator is all cleaned and turned on again.

Save more cleaning of floors later.

Then the rug is scooted back to its original place in front of my sink because this is where I seem to find it is most needed. It certainly saves scrubbing and waxing my floors so often. — Lilyan Roche

Dear Heloise:

Children love to play in water but hate to hang up their wet bathing suits and towels.

I solved this problem by tying spring - type clothes pins to a string and then tying the string onto the clothes line itself within easy reach of the children. This way, they can hang up their own suits.

To help form the habit, I clipped their ice cream money into the clothes pins. How does it work? It's wonderful !—Mrs. R. W. Peterson

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip for vacations at the seashore when beds and pillows get a damp and musty odor. Take your favorite sweet-smelling talcum with you and sprinkle liberally over bare mattresses and pillows. Rub it in well, then cover with sheets and pillowcases. It's heavenly! This is also excellent for sick rooms. —Shore

MR. AND MRS. DONALD R. DEYO

* * *

Deyo-Clifford Nuptials Held at East Methodist

Miss Sharon K. Clifford and Donald R. Deyo were united in marriage by the Rev. C. Knudsen at the East Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Saturday, July 6.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs Elva Clifford, Woodland Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C.Deyo, 2431 N. Meade.

Baskets of salmon and yellow carnations decorated the church as "I Love You Truly" was sung.

Donald L. Clifford gave his sister in marriage.

Wearing a white lace-over-satin ballerina length gown, designed and made by her mother, white satin shoes and a strand of pearls, the bride carried a bouquet of yellow baby roses and white feathered carnations.

Matron of honor, Karen Ellis, niece of the bride, wore a salmon taffeta and lace ballerina length dress with matching shoes and veil. She carried an arrangement of salmon carnations.

Best man was Lee Denny. Ushers were James Deyo, cousin of the bridegroom and Jay Hollingsworth, nephew of the bride.

Following the ceremony, in the Wesley Room of the church, a reception was given for the couple. Mrs. Trudy O'Connell served cake while Miss Cheryl Campbell, cousin of the bridegroom, served punch and Miss Jacque Ellis, niece of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Clifford wore a mustard-green silk suit with matching accessories to her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Deyo chose a yellow jersey dress with jacket and matching accessories.

The bride chose a blue knit suit with matching accessories for the honeymoon trip to the Western Slope. The future residence of the couple is 328 E. Cache La St.

Guests from other cities in Colorado were Mr. and Mrs. James Deyo, Boulder, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Ellis and Ann, Mrs. Don Clifford and Debbie, and Mrs. Frances Hollingsworth, Woodland Park; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Summers, Mrs. Norman Summers and Teresa, Rush; Mrs. Charles Hollingsworth, Pueblo; and Mrs. B. W. Hollingsworth, Durango. Capt. Robert C. Deyo, Milton, Fla., was also present.

Family Supper

Not too spicy a sauce, with frankfurters, so the whole family will enjoy this main dish.

Barbecued Frankfurters	Potatoes
Snap Beans	Salad
Bread Tray
Sliced Melon	Beverage

Barbecued Frankfurters

- 1 pound (6 to 8) frankfurters
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 small onion, cut in thin strips
- 1 small green pepper, cut in thin strips
- ½ cup catchup
- ½ cup water
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Make 3 or 4 diagonal cuts in each frankfurter, but not all the way through. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; add onion and green pepper; cook until wilted. Add catchup, water, vinegar, Worcestershire and paprika; mix well. Add frankfurters, spooning sauce over them. Cover and simmer (do not boil) for about 10 minutes or until frankfurters are hot through. Makes 4 servings.

Wig Suggestion

A wig, in the same color as your own hair, is a lifetime saver during the swimming season. No need to leave the beach in the middle of the sunny afternoon so that you can put up your hair for a dinner engagement that evening.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A telephone answering service is fighting food fads and misinformation in nine American cities from Washington, D.C., to San Francisco.

The Dial-A-Dietitian Program is operated by volunteers from local chapters of the American Dietetic Association (ADA), with financial aid from The Nutrition Foundation, Inc. (TNF).

In a recent progress report, TNF board chairman Daniel F. Gerber said 15 more cities or areas may adopt the plan. Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., added that the program is the brainchild of three Detroit dietitians—Muriel G. Wagner, E. Patricia Navin, and Marqueta C. Huyck.

It uses local telephone numbers at which professional dietitians answer non - medical questions about nutrition. Gerber said that subjects range from food values and substitutions to food preparation and buying, fads, fallacies, and dietary problems.

About one question in five concerns fadds or fallacies, he added. Callers seeking medical information are always referred to their personal physicians. Here, from the ADA, are some typical questions and answers:

Q—Do crash diets really work?

A—Not for most people, and they can be harmful. The important thing is that they usually do not change the dieters' eating habits.

Q — Are "health foods" better than ordinary foods?

A — "Health foods" are fad foods — they are expensive and not nutritionally superior. You can get all the nutrients you need from a balanced diet of foods available at supermarkets and other ordinary food stores.

Q — Is a low cholesterol diet advisable?

A — That's for your personal physician to say. It should not be undertaken without medical advice and supervision, because self - medication may create diet deficiencies and harm normally healthy persons.

Q — Will safflower oil help me lose weight?

A — No. Adding calories from safflower oil to your regular diet may in fact help you gain weight. To lose, you must either spend more calories through exercise than you eat, or diet by eating fewer calories than you spend.

Q — Will massages help me

A — Scientific studies have shown that massage will not reduce local deposits of fat or cause any changes in the rate that food is used by the body. Probably the best massage is a pat on the back for a dieter, on a nutritionally safe weight reduction program, who also is moderately increasing his exercise.

Edgar-Young Vows Recited In Pueblo Baptist Church

Miss Vickie Doylene Young and Robert C. Edgar Jr., were united in marriage at 8 p.m. July 8 at the Park Hill Baptist Church in Pueblo. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle E. Young of 3600 N. El Paso St. The braidegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edgar of Pueblo.

The Rev. Fred Brewer performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow and white gladioli and fuji mums arranged in baskets, and flanked by palms and candelabra. Mrs. Fred Harnish, grandmother of the bridegroom, was organist, and Bob Alter sang "One Hand, One Heart," and "the Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of imported silk organza styled with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and bertha collar trimmed with Alencon lace. The full skirt was trimmed with embroidered lace appliques, and flowed into a chapel train from a bow and streamers at the waistline. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearlized lilies and her flowers were yellow roses with ivy streamers, which she carried on a white Bible. Her necklace was the bridegroom's gift.

Miss Cheryl Bentley, cousin of the bride was maid of honor, wearing a street length dress of yellow crystalette styled with bell skirt. Her flowers were white fuji mums, daisies and pompons with ivy streamers. Dee Dee Heismeyer, also a cousin, as flower girl wore a similar floor length frock and carried similar flowers in a basket. Hair stylists Jim Thomas, cousin of the bride and Curtis W. Hart, both of Pasadena, Calif., styled the attendants' hair.

Rickey Heismeyer and Casey Edgar, cousin of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. Frankie Trent of Pueblo, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a heart shaped white satin pillow.

David Edgar attended his brother as best man and ushers were Claude Redford and Steve White of Pueblo. All of the men in the wedding party wore black dinner jackets, trousers and ties. The bridegroom wore a yellow rosebud boutonniere.

The bride's mother wore a gold sheath with matching jacket and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige coat dress with orange accessories. Their corsages were of apricot carnations.

The reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, where the three tiers of the wedding cake were separated by wine glasses. Yellow roses and leather leaf surrounded the cake, which was topped with wedding bells and decorated with yellow roses.

After a short motor trip within the state, the couple left for Sacramento, where the bridegroom is stationed at McClellan AFB.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hiesmeyer, Ricky and Dee Dee, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Heismeyer, Mrs. Ruth Bently and Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Palmer, all of Garden City, Kan., Boyd Fetteroff and Phonda of Farmington, N. M. Jim Thomas, Curtis Winston Hart, Palo Alto; Mr. and Mrs. George Pulver, Mr. nad Mrs. Vernon Edgar, Denver; Janet Divelbliss, Santa Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas, Canon City; Mr. nad Mrs. Don Yeley, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holden and Mr. and Mrs. L. Browning., all of Colorado Springs.

Style Briefs

Teen-age girls too bashful to do their own flirting are expected to spend a few dollars for a white butcher jacket that will do their flirting for them.

Called a winkin' jacket, the back features a full-faced drawing of a dreamboy with a button eye that winks and blinks as the girl moves. Made of washable white cotton, the jacket is cardigan type with a single pleated patch pocket and ¾ length uncuffed, push-up sleeves. The lad on the back comes in three types; blonde, black or red-haired.

A mink coat that zips up the front like old time housecoats are current fuzzy, wuzzy puzzlers. Because the pile is dense, and the zipper one of those new indiscernible kinds, it's impossible to tell by looking just how the wearer gets in and out of it.

Giant pancake-type tams cling precariously to the sides of gram-in-faced heads. Often they're worn with tweed walking suits, wide meshed stockings and knee high boots.

Grandma Made Better Coffee

By VIVIAN BROWN

What this country needs is a better cup of coffee, the kind grandma used to make.

Coffee growers are the first to agree.

A tireless band of scientists, private investigators and dedicated coffee drinkers have been on the prowl for 10 years to discover the secret of her brew. They follow up every clue.

"We know more than we ever did about coffee, coffee making and the ways equipment give best satisfaction. But how did past generations with simple methods get better results?" asks Dr. E. E. Lockhart, scientific director of the Coffee Brewing Institute, a non-profit organization supported by coffee growing countries.

The institute's laboratories are equipped for study with every conceivable type coffee pot.

"We train the armed forces, restaurant groups, coffee salesmen, show films to ladies clubs, home ec groups, schools. But the large variety of equipment used makes it difficult to get the message across," says Lockhart.

One problem is blend switching: tho companies have spent millions to keep blends the same, housewives change from one to another. Their attitude is: you can't tell a blend you prefer until you learn how to brew coffee. They have arrived at some pointers that can be considered a norm.

The trick of good coffee making starts with a clean pot, fresh coffee that is steeped for six minutes whether cloth or paper filtered or 6 to 60 cups, using a drip or percolator. The time can vary from four minutes with drip to eight minutes for percolator, but two level tablespoonds of coffee must be used for each six-ounce cup or water.

But a bride who tries to make two cups of coffee in an eight-pot percolator is inviting her husband's sarcasm.

"A shallow layer of coffee in a big pot will just let the water run thru too fast to make a good extraction," advises the institute. "You must make the quantity of coffee required for the pot."

If she lives in Galveston, Sarasota and certain other areas of the South, her problems increase. She may never make a good brew; the water is against her.

Many are tactless or malicious when they ask personal questions. Parry with a question of your own. You are not expected to answer impolite probing.

Pauline Catholic Chapel in Broadmoor was the scene of the wedding of Miss Mary Anne Carr and Lt. Lawrence R. Eastman at 10 a.m. July 6. Col. Stephen O'Connor, Chaplain, U. S. Air Force Academy, officiated, and traditional nuptial music was played by the church organist.

Carnations and roses formed the setting for the ceremony and white carnations were placed on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. George M. Jones, was given in marriage by her stepfather, Sgt. George M. Jones. The bridegroom is the son of Col and Mrs. John R. Eastman of Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

The bride's floor length gown of white peau de soie was sleeveless, and styled with scoop neckline and bell skirt, topped with waistlength bolero of Chantilly lace, with three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a peau de soie pillbox embroidered with seed pearls and her flowers were tropicana roses with stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Jefferey W. Jowory, sister of the bride from Washington D. C. was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Artis of Boise, Ida., and Miss Nancy Hoag of Manson, Ark., both recent graduates of the Seton School of Nursing. All of the attendants wore street length dresses of tangerine silk shantung, with bell skirts, with matching shoes and hats. Mrs. Jowory's flowers were tangerine and white carnations, and the bridesmaids carried white carnations.

Robert Eastman was best man for his brother, and ushers were Abel Manzanares of Pueblo and Donald Goodbar of Colorado Springs. Terrence and James Eastman were altar boys.

The bride's mother wore an ensemble of moss-green shantung with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink ensemble also with matching accessories.

Mrs. Warren Green served the punch at the reception which was held at the Ent AFB NCO Club. Miss Bea Oliver and Mrs. Theo Manganello served the cake, and Miss Leta Sue Green presided at the guest book. Arrangements of tangerine gladioli and white asters decorated the bride's table.

After a wedding trip to Glenwood Springs and Estes Park, the couple will live at Enid, Okla. while the bridegroom is stationed at Vance AFB. He was graduated from the U. S. Air Force Academy, class of '63.

The bride wore for traveling an aqua shantung ensemble and a white carnation corsage. She was graduated from the Seton School of Nursing, class of '63.

REVEAL ENGAGEMENT — Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCumber of Divide announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Larry Paul Ellett of Arapahoe, at a dinner honoring the couple last Sunday at the Trout Haven Cafe in Divide. Mr. Ellett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ellett of 625 Union Blvd., Colorado Springs. He is a graduate of Arapahoe High School, class of '60, and is a rancher at Arapahoe. No date has been set for the wedding.

Their Job: Selling a Block

TORONTO (AP) — The ultimate in specialization has been reached by Ruth Schmeizer and Dian Feraru, partners in a real estate firm.

They concentrate all their efforts on a single block-long stretch of Toronto real estate, one of the most valuable in Canada.

In three years they have sold many properties at more than $5,000 a foot frontage and have rented dozens of business premises at healthy prices.

The area in which they specialize is in the heart of the city, a district dotted with prestige shops.

Miss Schmeizer, a tall, blonde from Baden, Germany, and Mrs. Feraru, a Romanian-born widow who fled her homeland and came to Canada in 1952, concede that one goal is to make money.

But they add that an important reason for the decision to specialize in this area is that it reminds them of the intimate and exclusive shopping districts characteristic of fashionable boulevards in European cities.

Preserve autumn leaves for winter bouquets by dipping them in hot parrafin and then immediately in cold water.

Tonight Go Italian

Like Italian food? Then you'll welcome this recipe for manicotti, one of the most popular Italian dishes with Americans. This version has been adapted to American cooking techniques. Serve it with a savory tomato sauce.

Manicotti With Tomato Sauce
(Makes 6 servings)

Tomato Sauce:
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup olive oil
¼ teaspoon sweet basil leaves
One 1-lb. 12-oz. can tomatoes
One 6-oz. can tomato paste
½ teaspoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Dough:
3¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup enriched corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 eggs
2-3cup water

Filling:
½ lb. ricotta cheese
1 egg
¾ teaspoon salt

For tomato sauce, saute onion and garlic in olive oil. Stir in basil, tomatoes and tomato paste. Simmer, uncovered, about 45 minutes. Stir in sugar, salt and pepper.

While tomato sauce is cooking, prepare dough and filling. For dough, sift together flour, corn meal and salt into bowl. Stir in melted butter and eggs. Add water; mix until well blended. Divide dough in half.

Turn one half out on lightly floured board or canvas. Knead gently until smooth. Roll dough to form a 10x15-inch rectangle. Cut to form six 5-inch squares. Repeat with other half of dough.

For filling, combine all ingredients; mix well. Spread 1 tablespoon filling on each square. Roll up as for jelly roll. Pinch edge to each roll to seal seam; tuck ends under or trim with pastry wheel. Cook these roll-ups (manicotti) in a large pot of boiling salted water (about 4 quarts) about 20 minutes. Make sure they do not stick to the bottom of the pot. Drain. Serve immediately topped with the hot tomato sauce. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired.

According to industry spokesmen, 1963 will witness the greatest assortment of sun specs in history. Estimates run to as high as 1,000 styles and colors.

MR. AND MRS. CARL ALBERT LEON NELSON

* * *

Carl A. L. Nelson Weds Sharon Lorraine Van Gundy

Baskets of apricot gladioli decorated the altar of the Westmoor Park Evangelical Free Church at 2 p.m. June 22, for the wedding of Miss Sharon Lorraine VanGunday and Carl Albert Leon Nelson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. VanGundy of 3010 Chambers Circle. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson of Marquette, Neb.

Seven-branch candelabra lighted the nuptial scene and aqua satin bows marked the center aisle pews. The Rev. Lorne Sanny performed the ceermony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who also sang "Because." "Whither Thou Goest," and "O Perfect Love" were sung by Nelson VanGundy, cousin of the bride from Salina, Kan., and Sonnie Blatt of Colorado Springs was organist.

The bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta was made with chapel train, with lace bodice and lace inserts on the skirt. The sleeves were long and pointed, the bateau neckline was scalloped and the long sleeves formed points over the hands. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was held by a pearl tiara, and she wore pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. Her flowers were white roses arranged in a crescent and centered with a detachable corsage.

Miss Cheryl VanGundy attended her sister as maid of honor wearing an apricot sheath styled with scoop neckline and white tulle overskirt attached to an apricot band finished at back with a bow. Her flowers were apricot carnations and white daisies.

Bridesmaids, who were identically attired, were Miss Quay Oaks of Pueblo, Miss Nancy VanGundy, a cousin from Salina, Kan. and Miss Kristen VanGundy, a sister, who was junior bridesmaid.

Flower girls were Miss Elizabeth Hull, a cousin, of Woodston, Kan., and Debbie Cleveland, niece of the bridegroom from the Air Force Academy. Their dresses were in aqua with bodices of white eyelet and their headdresses were aqua bands with chapel veils.

Darle Erickson of Omaha, brother-in-law of the bridegroom was best man, and groomsmen were Earl Cleaveland, USAFA, and Roger Knutson, Omaha, both brothers-in-law. Stephen Nelson, cousin of the bridegroom from Lexington, Neb. was ring bearer Ushers were Tom Huffman of Colorado Springs and Clayton Nelson of Marquette.

The bride's mother wore a silver brocade dress with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore blue lace with white accessories. Their corsages were of white tropicana roses.

Mrs. Max Huffman served the cake at the reception which was held in the church parlor. Miss Pat Kayes of Pueblo poured punch, assisted by Miss Diane Golob, also of Pueblo. Miss Marlene Guggenberger was in charge of the guest book and Miss Madre Hedlund, of the gift table.

For their wedding trip to Estes Park, the bride wore a beige brocade suit with yellow accessories.

The newlyweds are living in Pueblo.

The bride attended Colorado State College, Greeley, and is teaching in Pueblo. The bridegroom attended the University of Nebraska and is serving with the U.S .Army at Ft. Carson.

Conner-Breeden Ceremony Held in U.S. Navy Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell E. Breeden of the Black Forest Community, announce the marriage of their daughter, Yvonne Marie Breeden, to James Harold conner, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Conner, of Sussex, N. J. The wedding ceremony was performed by Lt. Cmdr. Otto Schneider, CHC, in Oceana Chapel, United States Naval Station, Virginia Beach, Va.

The bride is a graduate of the class of 1961 at the Air Force Academy High School, U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado. She enlisted in the U. S. Navy in April, 1962, and is stationed at the Naval Air Station at Norfolk, Va.

Mr. Conner is a Sussex High School graduate, class of 1959, and attended Randolph-Macon College in Ashland, Va. He enlisted in the U. S. Navy in February, 1961 and is now stationed at Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center, Dam Neck, Virginia Beach, Va. as a petty officer, third class.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner are now residing at 732 Norman Ave., Norfolk, Va.

Soak Soothes

Spring fever puts us in a rush of unaccustomed activity. Often we jump into sports after a relatively sedate winter, or feel that the house needs cleaning immediately. The result can be painful sprains or just plain stiff and aching muscles.

A bracing shower will wash away much of the fatigue at the end of the day, but a long soak in a hot tub soothes the ache. Follow this with an alcohol rub and you'll feel less achy the next morning.

The value of the nation's farm assets was placed at more than $206 billion in the last census.

TO WED IN AUGUST — Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Burson of 624 Williams Ave., Stratton Meadows, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Deloit Beatty, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Lloyd Beatty of 1707 S. Wahsatch Ave. Both attended Harrison High School, Mr. Beatty is a barber with Leo's Barber Shop. The wedding is planned for Aug. 11 at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Double Duty

A good way to get some use out of your wedding slippers of white satin is to have them tinted to match your favorite summer cocktail dress, and wear them all summer.

Fun Afoot

Rope-soled, rope-trimmed casual fabric shoes came in a wide assortment of colors and textures to match any ensemble. They're fun to co-ordinate with summer sportswear, and are scrubbable, lightweight and easy to pack.

INFLATION

UNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Paul Runyan was the leading money winner on the PGA tour in 1934 with $6,767. By contrast, Arnold Palmer set the all-time record for money-winnings in 1962 when he collected $81,448.33.

Valley-Hi Ladies Plan Tournament

The Valley-Hi Ladies' Golf Association is making plans for the Invitational Tournament to be held Thursday at the Valley-Hi Country Club.

Coffee and rolls will be served from 7:30 to 8 and players will begin teeing off at 8 o'clock.

Players from the local area clubs as well as entrants from Canon City and Pueblo will be competing for a beautiful trophy and other valuable prizes awarded in each flight.

Pairings will be made according to handicaps and arrangements are also being made to accomodate players with high handicaps in the beginners flight.

The committees are making every effort to provide a memorable day of golf for all the ladies in the Pikes Peak area.

Reservations for the day must be in by Monday and may be phoned to the Valley-Hi Golf Chairman, Mrs. O. E. Husser, 633-8233

TO THE MOON

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — An alloy manufactured by the Aluminum Co. of America is being readied for a trip to the moon. Designated alloy 2219, the high strength composition will be used as the major structural material for the giant booster stage of the Apollo moon rocket.

Local Men Serve In Military at Home and Abroad

Dwain E. Vanable, EMFN, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Venable, 1710 W. Kiowa St., and Robert D. Daugherty, SA, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Daugherty, 3217 Pennsylvania Ave., recently departed Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, on the USS Savage. A unit of the Cruiser-Destroyer Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet, this Destroyer-Escort Radar Picket is assigned to escort Squadron Five and Destroyer Flotilla Five.

Naval Aviation Cadet Roger D. Heckman, son of Walter H. Heckman, Route 4, Colorado Springs, recently reported to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., as a student at the Naval Pre-Flight School. Upon completing the 16-week Pre-Flight and Officer Indoctrination course he will be transferred to the near-by Naval Auxiliary Air Station Saufley Field for primary flight training, leading to his designation as a naval aviator.

Navy Lt. Commander Robert L. Kelsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Kelsey, 1406 Alamo Ave. is serving aboard the nuclear-powered submarine USS Plunger, which recently arrived in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii for duty in the Submarine Force of the Pacific Fleet.

Marine Pvt. Gerhard F. Arnold, son of MSgt. and Mrs. Gaylord Arnold, 1613 MacArthur St., is at home on a 21-day leave from the Marine Corps.

He has just finished his initial four months of recruit and individual combat training at San Diego and Camp Pendleton, Calif. While in "boot camp" he qualified as a Marine rifle marksman with the M14 service rifle.

Marine Pvt. Jackie L. Blackburn is spending a 23-day leave from the Marine Corps with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Blackburn of 2732 Ben Court. He has just completed his initial four months of recruit individual combat and advanced weapons training at San Diego and Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Blackburn is a 1962 graduate of Wasson High School. He enlisted in the Marine Corps for aviation duty last February, leaving for active duty March 14.

Army Maj. Samuel R. Combs, 46, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Combs, of Manitou Springs, is on temporary duty at Ft. Benning, Ga., supervising and supporting the training of 1,900 cadets at the six weeks general military science Reserve Officer Training Corps encampment. The session will end July 26.

Maj. Combs, who entered the Army in July, 1942, is regularly assigned as an assistant professor of military science at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. He was graduated from Colorado State University in 1938. His wife, Elsie, lives in Knoxville.

The following airmen are on two weeks active duty with the 9531st Air Reserve Recovery Squadron, Stapleton Airfield, Denver:

SSgt Robert W. Wallace, 1119 E. Platte Ave., Munitions and Weapons Section, NCO in charge, and Airman 1C. Keith M. Bogren, 1604 E. Kiowa St., Aeromedical Specialist, Medical Section.

BIG RIG — A familiar sight in the Pikes Peak Region these days is well drilling as residents seek underground water for irrigating lawns due to restricted watering hours resulting from drouth conditions. Shown here is a $40,000 rig, a Portadrill built by the Winter-Weiss Co. of Denver, which can put a hole into the earth 2,000 to 2,500 feet. Bought recently by the Joe Coniff Co., the rotary drill "could drill an oil well," its owner says. While most water wells he drills are 10 to 12 inches, the rig could drill up to a 30-inch diameter hole. The rotary drills mast is 36 feet long. Shown at the right of the Portadrill, operating the setup, is M. J. Novak of 1618 E. Kiowa St., employed by Joe Coniff since 1952.

Drouth Condition Brings Boom to Well Diggers

By BYRON L. AKERS

Under the spur of severe and prolonged drouth, one Pikes Peak Region industry ranks in the boom category. That's the well drilling business.

Daily new holes are bored into the earth in search for water to keep alive parched lawns and thirsty trees and shrubs.

Consequently, well drillers find themselves busy trying to keep up with demand for their expert services. The volume of orders for new wells is in direct proportion to the persistency of rainless skies and lawn irrigation restrictions imposed to check the drain on shrinking storage.

Drillers estimate 500 wells have been sunk in recent months in Colorado Springs and the metropolitan areas bordering the city. Not all, of course, are adequate producers, but wells drilled by experienced local outfits rarely turn into dry holes.

Average depth is 50 to 75 feet before a dependable irrigation supply is tapped. In some sections deeper bores are necessary. Several areas are designated dry spots where adequate subsurface water is difficult to find.

Generally, water tables are higher and a steady supply available in natural drainage areas, such as land near Fountain, Monument and Cheyenne Creeks, Shooks Run and Little Shooks run.

The North End section of Colorado Springs, extending in Bonnyville, has good water well records. Ivywild and much of the Cheyenne Canon area residents also have excellent luck with wells.

In Broadmoor, deeper drilling is usually necessary. Austin Bluffs and land immediately adjoining often find well water unsuitable because of high iron content. Well drilling in Manitou Springs and some mountain sections present special problems.

Local drillers, licensed by the state and bonded, have learned the region's subsurface water sources. Because of this knowledge and long experience in this area, their drilling records are excellent.

Many of the wells sunk by experienced drillers date back to the 1954 drouth year. Proper drilling and subsequent expert maintenance make these wells good producers to the present time. A few wells go back to the dust bowl era of the early 1930's.

MOST WELLS USED TO WATER LAWNS

Probably 90 per cent or more of the new wells for private homes are intended for lawn irrigation. Yield may range from five to 70 gallons a minute, sufficient for irrigation needs of most residential landscaping.

Few wells in the Colorado Springs area are for domestic purposes. In rural sections and some small towns of El Paso County, wells are the sole domestic water source.

These wells should be safeguarded against contamination, something expert local drillers are equipped and able to do. The City - County Health Department and the Ground Water Division of the State Engineer's Office have information and regulations governing wells for domestic wells.

The state law exempts wells used for domestic purposes having discharge pipes of two inches or less. Other state law exemptions include wells solely for stock watering and artesian wells with discharge pipes not exceeding three inches in diameter. However, driller licensing provisions apply to these types of wells.

Drilling equipment used by established companies in the area is designed for different types of sub-surface conditions and for depths varying from shallow to medium and to deep. Some deep drilling has been done recently and more is scheduled.

W. V. Harding and Sons, Colorado Springs drilling firm, recently completed six wells ranging from 400 to 650 feet deep. One just completed was in a so-called dry area at Highway Junction, east of Colorado Springs, W. V. Harding said. A 20-gallon-a minute well was brought in at 630 feet after penetrating below the shale.

Joe Conniff, another of the major drillers in Colorado Springs, has just purchased a rig, mounted on a 10-wheeler truck, which is capable of drilling to depths of 2,000 to 2,500 feet.

The quest for water is not confined to individual homeowners. Urban water systems such as that of Security, rely entirely on wells for all water supplies. Fountain, too, has wells. Colorado Springs, South suburban and Broadmoor systems supplement their supplies with well water and are seeking additional amounts. Under a joint agreement, Colorado Springs, South Suburban and Broadmoor share a million-gallon flow from the high-producing wells on the Ventucci property south of the city. This three-way water deal has existed since the acute dry spell nearly a decade ago.

Colorado Springs also has taken steps to obtain 2,000 acre feet annually, at $60 an acre, from the Clear Spring Ranch south of the city. Well equipment is being installed now so that the Clear Spring ranch water can be delivered to the city.

200 WELLS SAID 'ILLEGAL'

Of the 500 new wells in the metropolitan area, drillers estimate about 200 of them are illegal under the state law. Some are post-hole wells, which seldom produce to their potential.

The drouth-caused demand for new wells has attracted numerous newcomers into the field. Some, of course, are capable and reliable operators. Others, according to the State Engineer's office, fail to comply with the state law requiring licensing and bonding for the protection of the well owner, fail to take the necessary permits, use substandard equipment and leave the property owner with a job poorly done at considerable expense.

"Whenever we find drillers operating illegally and neglecting sound drilling practices, we seek an injunction to stop the practice," George W. Colburn, senior engineer of the Ground Water Division in the State Engineer's Office, said.

"Anyone planning to have a well drilled should write our office at 232 State Services Building, 1525 Sherman St., Denver, for a booklet, 'Before You Have a Well Drilled,' or obtain a copy from a licensed and bonded contractor."

Colburn pointed out that the ground water law, in effect since May 1, 1957, provides "no new wells shall be drilled, nor the supply of water from existing wells increased or extended, unless the user shall make an application in writing to the state engineer for a permit to use ground water."

The law prohibits a well driller from drilling without a permit and also requires him to file a log of each well drilled.

The law states a permit shall not have the effect of granting or conferring ground water right upon the user, but states "a permit shall be a necessary prerequisite to the initiation of a new or additional supply and shall be prima facie evidence of the date and extent thereof."

The booklet the state issues lists approximately 200 licensed well drillers. Seven are in El Paso County and one in Teller County.

Besides Joe Coniff and W. V. Harding and Son, those listed in El Paso County are Herman A. Kile, Palmer Lake; Mateyka Brothers, Route 2, Colorado Springs; Ray L. Smischny, Green Mountain Falls; V. J. Stewart Drilling Co., Colorado Springs, and W. H. Townley, Calhan. The Teller county driller listed is Calvin R. Smith, Woodland Park.

Colburn said several others had been licensed recently in El Paso County.

"Experienced contractors who have worked in the area will be familiar with conditions," the booklet stresses. Prospective well owners are advised to ask these questions:

"What is the contractor's reputation? Statements from satisfied customers are more reliable than hearsay.

"Does he have adequate liability insurance to protect you?

Will he furnish a written contract, specifying the terms and conditions for the job?

"Will he be in business later on if if you need service?"

The booklet also states that "unless you know what the contractor will do for any specified price, you have no way of comparing offers and deciding which party to hire. A low lump sum price may result in an expensive job if the workmanship and materials are poor.

"To protect yourself as a buyer against any dissatisfaction or court action that may follow, you should have a written contract.

The established contractor will ordinarily have a contract form or will prepare one specifying in detail what is to be done and what it will cost. The contract is not only a protection for you but also for the contractor.

The contract, the ground water division said, should specify size of hole of proposed well, size and type of pipe, well seal, whether well will be developed if necessary, screen or perforation, whether well will be test-pumped on completion, whether the driller will furnish a well log and drilling report, whether the contractor will guarantee the well on materials and workmanship, and what will be the charges.

Altho "well water" signs are blossoming in yards at an increasing rate, not everyone in need of water is trying to bring in a well. Some are buying water from tank truck to keep their trees alive.

Neighbors of Ed Abrahamson in Cresta Vista are luckier than many others in need of irrigation water. Water from the abundant Abrahamson wells south of Colorado Springs is distributed by trucks in his neighborhood.

CC Choral Sings Open to Public At Shove Chapel

The choral summer sings held every Monday evening at Shove Chapel on the college campus have been highly successful. Conducted by Leonard Taffs, visiting professor of music for dance on the summer faculty of Colorado College and music director for Hanya Holm, well-known Broadway choreographer conducting the summer school of dance again this year, the sings are open to the public without charge. Beginning at 8:45 p.m. there are no requirements for admission other than an ability to carry a tune or read music.

A feature of the fifth summer sing to be held Mnday, will be a reading of a new choral composition "Toward the Unknown Region" (text: Walt Whitman), especially composed for participants by Mr. Taffs. Also included will be selected choral readings from "Carmina Burana," in response to many requests, and the Randall Thompson "Allelulia."

Hanya Holm, has invited summer sing participants to perform "Toward the Unknown Region" in her final workshop, August 8.

Music read through at previous sings has included portions of the "Elijah," a Stravinsky "Ave Verum," music of the Renaissance period, folk-arrangements and spirituals.

Locally well-known accompanists have been Jo Boatright and Ben Gahart.

Taffs, acclaimed in the field of modern dance as composer and accompanist, is also an experienced choral conductor who has studied with and served as assistant to Mr. Paul Boepple, conductor of the Dessoff Choirs of New York City. The term 'sing' or 'summer sing' is borrowed from the Dessoff Choir's similar choral activity's name.

Anyone wishing further information should call the summer session office, telephone 634-7744, extension 369, or Don Oden, director of student activities, extension 340.

Men's Invitational Opens at Broadmoor

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The men pick up where the gals left off at the Broadmoor Monday morning as the 42nd Annual Men's Invitational gets underway with the first of two days of qualifying rounds.

Another large field is assured for the tournament, which is one of the top competitions for men in the Rocky Mountain area.

* * *

Missing will be defending champion Fred Brown, who has made the championship mantle a personal possession during the past few summers—thus a new champion is assured when the competition winds up with the 36 hole finals Sunday.

Brown, who won titles in 1956, 1958, 1960, and 1962 and was runner-up in 1957, is sitting out the tourney for the second time in three summers, thus opening the title road for a number of top contenders.

Moving into the favorite's role will be Denver's Claude Wright who, altho nearing the seniors' age, seems to be more steady than ever. Wright won the crown in 1949, then went thru a 12-year drouth before he upset Cal Carlson in the sensational 1961 finals. Wright followed by finishing as runner-up to the proficient Brown last summer and thus will have to be the man to beat during the week - long struggle upcoming Monday.

Others of the top challengers from the past few years will be missing also, including Dick Norville of Oklahoma City, Herb Pollock of Salt Lake City, and Steve Creekmore of Fort Smith, Ark. Norville, who reached the semifinals last summer and is one of the finer amateur swingers in the nation, passed due to business committments and Creekmore is inelgible after turning professional more than a year ago.

Several outstanding golfers will be on hand to challenge Wright, however, including his eldest son Gary. Claude downed Gary during his attempted defense of his title last year and may have to contend with the muscular product of his own household again this trip. In addition to Gary, a third member of the family, Ronnie, will again be entered.

There will be a number of other top competitors on hand, such as 1955 champion and perennial contender, Jim English of Littleton, Beryl Anthony of El Dorado, Ark., a southern belter who has challenged the past two years is a prime threat as is Mike Moore of the Broadmoor Club, the youthful medalist a year ago.

Other outstanding entries in the field include Ron Moore of Denver, Harold Bolas of Littleton, R. J. Clements of Oklahoma City, Rex Eaton and Larry Eaton of Greeley, Dr. Jim Foust of Denver (the runner-up in 1958), Dick Spangler of Lincoln, Neb., Frank Tallman of Pueblo, Harold Watson of Denver, Gene Zuspann of Denver (the 1950 winner), and Harold Berglund of Denver.

Contestants will begin teeing off early Monday in the first day of qualifying. Tuesday has also been set aside as a qualifying day with the 18 hole scores of the entries determining the flights in which they will be placed. The 32 man championship flight will lead the way but there will be 10 other flights of 16 each and consolation divisions will be established for the losers in all first round matches.

Matches in each division will be over the 18-hole route — more or less, until the semi-finals of the Championship Flight on Saturday. Both the semis and finals in that division will be determined over 36 holes with 18 in the morning and the final 18, more or less, in the afternoon.

LONGTIME FAVORITE—Claude Wright of Denver will be a top favorite in the Broadmoor Men's Invitational which gets underway at the local course Monday. Wright has won the title twice, in 1949 and 1961, and was the runner-up last year. 1962 champion, Fred Brown, will not return. (Photo by Bob McIntyre)

Yankees Nip Cleveland; Ford Wins 11 Straight

NEW YORK (AP) — Although he needed help in the ninth inning, veteran Whitey Ford ran his victory streak to 11 games—tops in the majors—as the New York Yankees edged the Cleveland Indians 5-4 Saturday.

Joe Pepitone and Harry Bright each hit two-run homers to provide Ford with the cushion he required to chalk up his 15th victory against three defeats.

Ford had shackled the Indians with three hits and one run—Max Alvis' 12th home run in the fourth inning — when he was knocked out of the box in the ninth inning. Hal Reniff saved the game for the chunky lefthander when he got pinch-hitter Al Luplow to ground into a game-ending double play.

With one out in the ninth, a walk to Willie Tasby, a single by Willie Kirkland, and a triple to left center by Alvis brought in two runs and got Ford out of the game. Whitey had thrown only 86 pitches before he was replaced by Reniff.

Pinch - hitter Fred Whitfield singled to score Alvis and Johnny Romano followed with another single. Reniff then grabbed Luplow's bounder to the mound and started the finishing double play.

The Yanks got all seven of their hits in seven innings off veteran Dick Donovan who suffered his seventh loss against six victories.

Crampton Grabs PGA Lead

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI) — Bruce Crampton, the 27-year-old "iron man" from Australia, grabbed the third round lead in the PGA golf championship Saturday with a six under par 31-34—65 for a 208 total while Arnold Palmer's hopes died when he fell 12 strokes off the pace.

Crampton, who has played more tour tournaments the last two years than any man in golf, on this blazing day ignored 105 degree heat as he smashed his way to a two stroke lead over 1958 champion Dow Finsterwald and three ahead of Masters champion Jack Nicklaus.

His sun-blistered scoring featured a day in which Palmer, trying for the only big one which has eluded him, blew his hopes with a 73 for 220; Gary Player blew his stack at a photographer and unknown Dick Hart, the assistant pro from Hinsdale, Ill., blew a three shot lead he had carried into the third round with a "tight collar" 76.

Finsterwald shot a 33-33—66 with a putter which was as hot as this scorching day while Nicklaus fired a 69 to finish one stroke behind slender Dow. Another shot away at 212, one under par for the distance, was young Dave Ragan.

At Even Par

At even par 213 came Billy Maxwell with a 69, Doug Ford with a 71 and Doug Sanders with a 70. And one over par at 214 were Dave Hill and Al Geiberger with 69's, Sam Snead with a 70, Julius Boros with a 73 and the broken-hearted Hart with a 73.

Art Wall fired a 66 which moved the former Masters champion into the 215 bracket with Mason Rudolph, who had a 71, and Bill Johnston of Phoenix with a 72.

Player shot a 32-35—67 which he said "might have been a 63 or a 64" if he hadn't been upset by a photographer when he was lining up a six foot putt for a par on the 15th hole.

"Don't you realize you could cost me the tournament?" Player shouted at the photographer. "Don't you have any feelings?"

Gary blew the putt and then, still upset, three-putted the 16th from 30 feet — missing the second time from a mere one foot.

That put him at 216 along with Jim Ferrier and Tommy Jacobs, who shot 70, Wes Ellis with a 71 and Manuel De La Torre with a 74.

Lema Hits 76

Champagne Tony Lema, who had been making a big run at the front, zoomed to a 76 which placed him at 217 along with Shelley Mayfield, Dan Sikes, Big Mike Souchak, British Open champion Bob Charles, Paul Harney, Bo Wininger, and Earl Stewart.

Billy Farrell and former U.S. Open champion Gene Littler were at 218; former winner Jerry Barber at 219, and at 220 along with Palmer were former champion Jackie Burke and Don January.

Crampton, who played in 38 tournaments on the tour last year and in 28 straight this season, started his blistering round with an eagle three on the 521-yard par five first hole when he chipped into the cup from 30 feet off the green. He reached the green of the 573-yard par five fourth in two to birdie that one and rammed home a 30-footer for a bird on the sixth. Then, on the ninth, he wedged to within three feet for a birdie which put him out in 31 — five under par.

Starting back, Crampton fired six straight pars before he knocked his approach over the green on the 16th for a bogey. But the man from down under wasn't finished yet. For he calmly step- the 17th and an eight footer on the 17th and an eight footer oon the 18th to close it out with two birdies for his 34 in and front-running 65 which put him five under par for the tournament and two shots in front in the race for the $13,000 top prize.

Edison, Buena Vista Win Cub Scout Titles

Edison School Cub Pack 92 defeated Buena Vista Pack 24 for the Junior Division Cub Scout Softball Championship. Howbert School Pack 6 defeated Buena Vista Pack 24 for the Senior Division Championship at Memorial Field, Saturday night.

More than one thousand parents and friends attended the game that completed the Senior and Junior Divisions of the 1963 Cub Scout Softball tournament.

RED HOT GOLFER — Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, mops his face as he waits to putt on the ninth green of the Dallas Athletic Country Club during the third round of the PGA Championship. The temperatures soared to the 100-degree mark during Saturday's play. Crampton grabbed the third round lead when he fired a six under par 31-34-65 for a 208 total. (AP Wirephoto)

Houston Veterans, Rookies Set to Knock Heads, Monday

CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The 30 returning veterans of the Houston Oilers took to their second day of practice at Colorado College's Stewart Field, Saturday, in preparation for their exhibition game, Aug. 3 against the Denver Broncos at the Denver University Stadium.

After a day of rest, the corps of rookies joined the regular gridiron specialists in Saturday's agenda which called for conditioning drills prior to Monday's first day of contact. The Houston rookies lost to the Bronco newcomers last Thursday, 17-14, at Washburn Field before a crowd of 7,000 football buffs.

This Saturday night Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy will have another opportunity to view the nearly 30 professional hopefuls in action as the Eastern Division American Football League titlist team will split up for a full-type encounter at Washburn Field. The game was the conceived by Ivy and with the cooperation of Jerry Carle, CC's athletic director, will be played for the benefit of the Heart Fund.

Kick-off time has been set for 8 p.m. and advance tickets for the intra-squad game may be purchased at the Heart Fund office, 126 E. Cimarron St. Starting Monday tickets will be available at Blicks and Lucas Sporting Goods stores and Security Savings and Loan Co. The tickets are priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for youngsters 12 and under.

Saturday's schedule was a carbon copy of Friday's initial day of practice as the returning regulars went thru conditioning drills. Today's agenda calls for a light practice before the pros knock heads on Monday.

The rookie camp, already whittled down by seven players, is the scene of keen competition as the former college players fight for a berth on the three-time Eastern Division winning squad. Nearly 40 professional hopefuls took to the practice field last week with the knowledge that only 10 per cent of that number would probably make the team.

Such veteran stars as ace quarterback George Blanda, a 14-year-veteran of professional football warfare; 5-6 rambling fire-plug fullback Charlie Tolar; and LSU All-American Billy Cannon, halfback; gave the local spectators a preview of football at its finest.

The morning stint was rather routine for the Oilers as they went thru conditioning drills. But the afternoon workout, despite a recent rain shower, proved interesting to the onlooking football buffs. In Friday's drill, Blanda and Tolar proved popular with the spectators. Blanda, who guided the Oilers to their best season with a 11-3 won-loss record last year and 198 pound Tolar were the main topic of conversation among the sideline Monday morning armchair quarterbacks.

Blanda's bullet-like passing, altho far from peak form during Friday's session, was sheer entertainment for the onlooking spectators. It was difficult to realize that Tolar was one of three AFL backs to crack the 1,000 yard carrier in a single season when comparing his height to the surrounding giants in the Houston camp. But Tolar's powerful legs carried him to 1,012 yards rushing last season for a 4.1 average per carry.

The Colorado Springs Quarterback Club has announced that it will conduct its next meeting, Monday, July 29, at the Alamo Hotel since they are expected the Houston coaching staff as their feature guests.

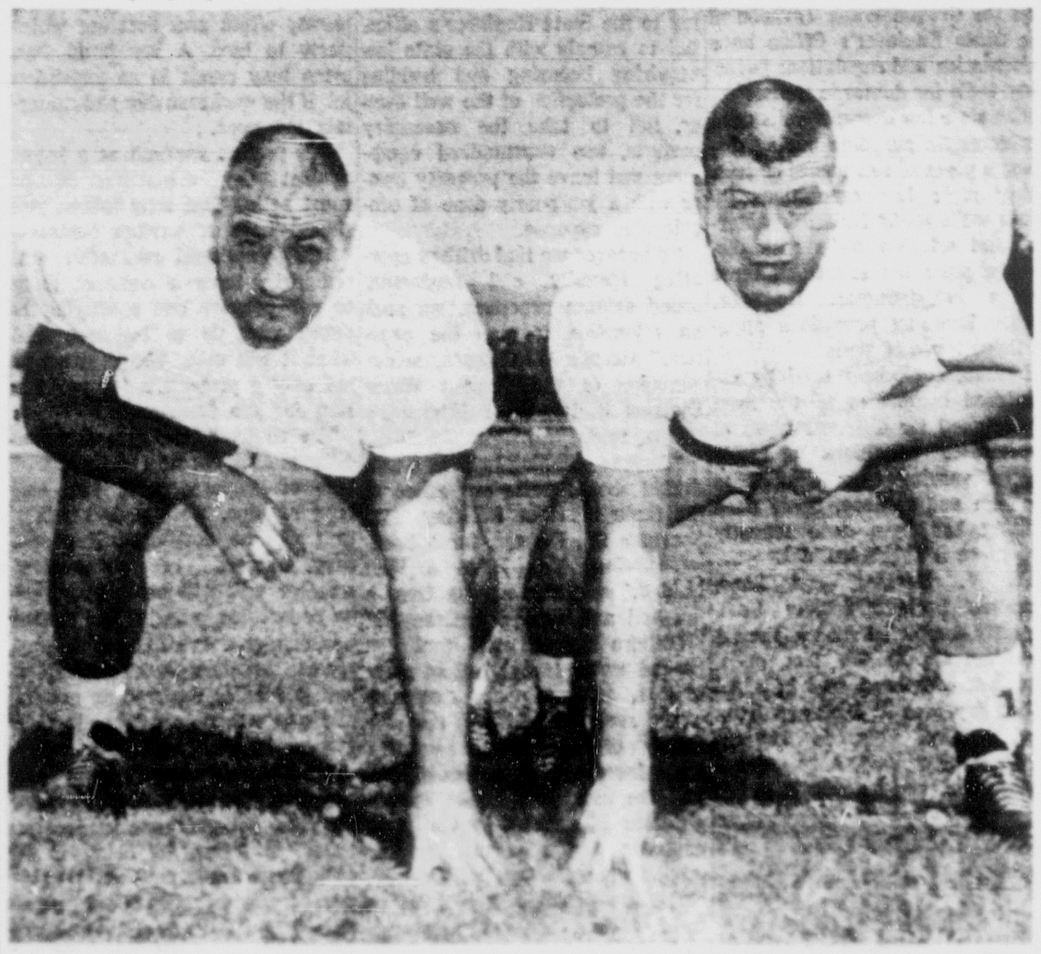
CHATTANOOGA (AP) — West Point football coach Paul Dietzel says an athlete can be almost anything he wants to be if he wants to pay the price.

Speaking to a group of high school gridders here, Dietzel told the players: "You have a chance to be a champ or a chump. The only difference between them is 'u'."



LOTS OF BEEF — Two huge linemen of the Houston Oilers display the power in the Eastern Division title holder's front line during practice at Stewart Field, Saturday. Will Patterson Run?

Far too many boxing fans, including those who follow nearly every blow around the world and those whose interest is only aroused about once a year when certain individuals feel it's ripe to offer another heavyweight title fight, are taking Monday's scheduled re-run of the Liston-Patterson affair as only a joke.

* * *

The fact that the fight was even proposed IS a joke. But that's about the only thing that could be funny, even to a twisted sense of humor.

The real fear here is that should they take that first bell (and I'll believe it when I see it with all the delays they've already dreamed of) is that it could turn out to be a great tragedy to the sickly sport. I'm quite serious in the belief that another ring death could occure.

There is no comparison between these two men, other than both have held the world's title. The official odds should point up that about the only money that's flowing for this fight is over which round the end will come. You can take Patterson as the favorite only if you predict the round for a kayo and even then if your choice is the third, fourth or fifth it's only 1-5 which is hardly a golden opportunity with this type of speculation.

Sure, there have been instances of the smart money being upset. But if it happens Monday night you can bet your bottom buck that the fix was on. And this remains a possibility in this filth-infested business, no matter who's inside the ropes.

SONNY LISTON

* * *

The very nature of the two fighters, however, makes this a dangerous bout for the health and welfare of the so-called sport.

Sonny Liston's damaging power with either hand perhaps has never been equalled. Altho many resent him as champion, with a background of many arrests and one stint in the Missouri State Pen, still his ability with fists must draw respect as strictly a pugilist.

The chance of Liston being defeated by Patterson is slim as the odds of snow in July. He has never touched the canvas with his back, and few have even been able to sting his tough hide. I still remember the night in Denver when Sonny lowered his guard and all but stuck out his chin as a target for Zora Folley, a good puncher, and then laughed off all that Folley had to offer before landing one of his bombs that nearly orbitted poor Zora all the way out of the ring.

On the other hand, Floyd Patterson has been decked by every bum he's been matched with, altho his much-cussed manager Cus D'Amato babied him to the title thru a fantastic job of prevaricating promotions with exaggerated amateurs and has-been punch-drunks.

What Patterson lacks in staying strength and the power to knock down a giant like Liston, he makes up for it in an overwhelming desire to prove his critics wrong. The former glass-jawed chump champ is obviously bothered by a psychopathic inferiority complex when he sneaks a disguise of mustache and beard into his dressing room before a fight so that he can escape the darts of his public after what he considers humiliation indefeat.

This will be his deathly dangerous downfall!

The only merciful way this fight could end is with a knockout in approximately the same time as Liston's first round victory in Chicago last year.

But the fear here is that Patterson will be dodging disgrace with so much "vigah" that he might try to struggle to his feet after taking a ticket to dreamland. If he should repeat the performance which saw him get up some eight times in one round against Ingemar Johannson, this time they would have to pick him up with a blotter.

It's a frightening sight to see the latent power of Liston's 16-inch fists. If these weapons were pounding on a relatively defenseless object, like a semi-concious Patterson, it could be lethal as a .45 slug.

There are those who think Floyd will be able to run long enough to hit and get out and eventually make Liston so angry that he will forget boxing technique. This probably would be a fine plan, if Patterson is to escape with his life.

But they evidently haven't followed the habits of Floyd on his well-directed career from Olympic champion to the farcical skit with co-actors like Harris, London and Rademacher, all written and directed by D'Amato. It's against Patterson's nature to run from anyone — even when he knows obliteration is near — and he'll not run for long against Liston.

This one should end in four rounds or less. . .and you should know the winner by now.

So much for Monday's quick workout. But how about the future?

Both sides have been making much noise over a proposed fight between Liston and lippy Cassius Clay for this fall. Most of this talk comes from the Clay camp since he is working the angle of being the youngest champion in history.

Liston's manager, too, has voiced a desire for these two to meet, since Sonny has already run out of competition. But I seriously doubt that this multi-million dollar show will come off until at least next year — if ever.

The main reason for this thought is that there are too many big money boys backing the precious mouth of Cassius and they would just as soon see their meal ticket stay around as long as possible. He is already drawing capacity crowds no matter where, when or who he fights. And this type of backing must have enough sense not to toss away a good thing when it's in hand.

U.S. Tracksters Nip Soviets; Hayes Ties Own Century Mark

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—It was a bad day in Red land for the U.S. track and field team Saturday as the Americans got off to their worst start ever in the annual struggle with the Soviet Union.

The Americans, dropping sure points all over the giant 100,000-seat Lenin Stadium, eked out a slim 61-54 point edge after the first 11 men's events.

* * *

To the delight of the announced crowd of 67,000—it looked slimmer—the Russian runners won the high hurdles the first time, split the Americans for the first time in the 100 meters and 400 meters and grabbed the men's 400-meters relay when the Americans made two sloppy passes and an illegal one.

On the girls' slate—where the Yankee lasses had hoped to make their best showing—it was even dimmer. The Russian girls ran up a 35-17 margin over five events.

The combination absolutely washed out any American hopes of completing their self-appointed task on this mission to Moscow of taking the meet on combined men's and women's score.

The meet winds up Sunday with 11 more men's events and five in the women's division.

Only slightly optimistic American forecast for the men's events had the Yankees in front 73-45 after the first day's schedule.

* * *

The chances of that happening were nailed in the opening moments. Hardly had the two national anthems been played and the athletes pulled off their sweat suits when the expected American sweep in the 100 meters failed to materialize.

Robert Hayes, world record holder for 100 yards, bolted off the blocks, took a three-yard lead and coasted home in meet record tieing time of 10.2 seconds.

* * *

But John Gilbert, only a shade behind Hayes at the American nationals, faded to third behind Edvin Ozolin of the Soviet squad and the Yankees were in the hole.

The men's 100 followed a disaster in the women's 100, which the Russians won for the first time. Galina Popova caught America's Edith McGuire at the 80-meter mark, and ran past her to win. Wyomia Tyus, the other American, was fourth.

John Uelses won the pole vault with another record-equalling effort of 16 feet, ¾ inch. John Pennel was second at a sub-normal 15-5.

Dave Davis edged veteran Parry O'Brien by ½ inch in the shot put, tossing the ball 61-11¾.

Hal Connolly, the world record holder, won that event for the third time in the five U.S.-Soviet meets. He tossed the iron ball 219 feet.

Al Hall slipped to fourth, for another American disappointment.

Even the 800 was a struggle. Jim Dupree of Pompano Beach, Fla. jumped into the lead in the middle of the last lap and had what looked like a comfortable margin going around the turn. Then Valery Bulyshev, a Russian who sharpened up in the United States during the last indoor season, made a run at him. But Dupree finally choked him off with a final kick and won by two yards. Morgan Groth of Alhambra, Calif. was third.

Ulis Williams took the 400 with comparative ease, but Vadim Arkhipchuk of Russia slipped in front of Lester Milburn of Houston, Tex. for second.

The men's relay team — who ran right after the American girls had absorbed a stunning defeat in their relay—did a sloppy job of baton handling all the way, but with Hayes running the anchor galloped to a six-yard margin in the relatively slow time of 39.5.

But that victory was denied them. Both the second and third passes by the Americans looked illegal, but the judges were content to disqualify the team on the last one.

They ruled that Hayes had been given the baton too soon by Paul Drayton.

Roberts Hurls Baltimore Over Kansas City, 6-3

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Robin Roberts pitched a no-hitter for 6 1-3 innings Saturday night, then weakened in the late innings and had to have relief help from Stu Miller in Baltimore's 6-3 victory over the Kansas City A's.

Roberts, now 7-9 for the season, lost his no-hitter when Jose Tartabull singled in the seventh and his shutout on eighth inning doubles by Ed Charles, Charley Lau and Wayne Causey.

Miller came on after Tartabull beat out a bunt leading off the bottom of the ninth and gave up a run on a walk and Charles' run-scoring single.

The Orioles jammed in all the runs they needed—five—in he fifth on an A's error, a walk, singles by Russ Snyder, John Orsino, Bob Johnson, Jackie Brandt and a double by John Powell.

Dave Wickersham, 6-8, was the victim of the big burst and the Orioles completed their scoring in the ninth on Jim Gentile's solo homer, his 17th of the season.

Lancers, Jets Tally Wins In YAL Heavyweight Loop

The Elks Club Lancers, Jets and Babe's Market Red Sox recorded victories in heavyweight baseball action Friday night.

The Red Sox blanked the Eagle's Lodge Oilers 6-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Jim Krug who struck-out 12 Oilers in game at Memorial Field.

Rick Donaldson powered a pair of homeruns to lead the Elks Club Lancers to a 10-4 win over the Ranch Supper Club Braves, and the Jets clobbered the corpus Christi Colts 12-5 in a pair of contests at Monument Valley Park.

Sloop Solveig To Receive Boating Award

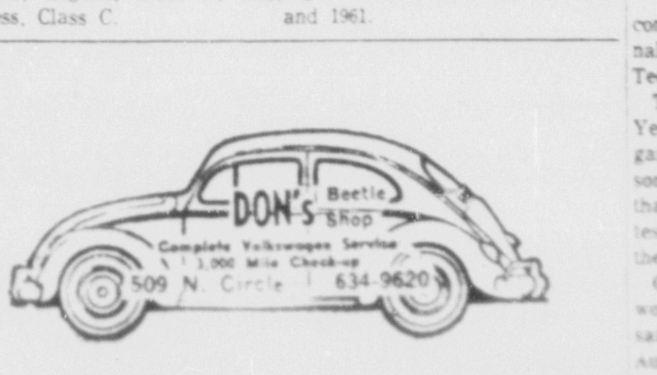
HONOLULU (AP)—The sloop Solveig was the only boat yet to reach Diamond Head Saturday in the 2,225-mile Los Angeles-honolulu yacht race, and will receive the "tail-end Charlie" award as the last finisher.

The crippled yacht Tyboon crossed the finish line Saturday, making Solveig—still 221 miles out—the race's orphan.

Tyboon's mast snapped last Wednesday, and its crew sailed it over the last 340 miles with a makeshift mast.

Winners of the race were decided Thursday, the Islander winning both the Class D and overall championships.

Other winners were Orient, Class A; Legend, Class B; and Mistress, Class C.



St. Louis Gunners Bomb Houston

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Backed by a 16-hit barrage, including seven doubles, St. Louis left-hander Curt Simmons pitched an eight hit, 8-1 victory over the Houston Colts Saturday night, finally winning his eighth game after three straight losses.

Simmons had a five-hit shutout going into the ninth, but the Colts broke the string of zeroes on consecutive singles by Jimmy Wynn, Bob Aspromonte and Howie Goss.

Curt Flood and Tim McCarver each hammered two doubles as the veteran southpaw Simmons struck out five and walked only one. Simmons had difficulty getting his eighth win, this start being his sixth attempt for the elusive victory.

The Cards got two runs in the first on McCorver's first double and Gary Kolb's single. They added two more in the third on Ken Boyer's double and McCarver's second two-base hit.

Georgia Tech To Pull Out Of the SEC

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia Tech will pull out of the Southeastern Conference next January to place more emphasis on intersectional football, the Atlanta Journal said Saturday.

The Journal said Tech, a charter member of the SEC, would become an athletic independent at the next annual conefrence meeting in January, according to "informed sources.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd, declined to comment on the withdrawal report. Referring to the Journal report that Tech's schedule calls for more intersectional than sectional games, Dodd said "it's about 50-50."

"Georgia Tech is going to become an independent," the Journal declared flatly, "and Georgia Tech will not be long about it."

The story said Tech's football Yellow Jackets have scheduled games for the next several seasons that are more intersectional than sectional because such contests have proved successful in the past.

Games with traditional rivals would not be affected, the Journal said, and Georgia, Tennessee, Auburn, Vanderbilt and Tulane and possibly Florida would remain on the schedule.

Angels Romps Over Tigers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Sadowski drove in five runs with a single, a double and his first homer of the season Saturday night as the Los Angeles Angels flattened the Detroit Tigers 11-2.

Angel second baseman Billy Moran hit two doubles, a triple and a single in four at-bats, driving in two runs, and ex-Tiger Frank Kostro batted in a pair for Los Angeles with the first homer of his major league career.

Right-hander Ken McBride pitches his ninth complete game of the season, allowing seven hits, and picked up his 11th victory against seven losses.

Looking at Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

(© 1963: By the Chicago Tribune)

HARPO MARX IS FINALLY TALKING — ABOUT ISRAEL

HOLLYWOOD, — Flash! At long last Harpo Marx will break his silence in a documentary titled "Israel Makes Harpo Talk." He visited the country a few months ago, was so impressed he agreed to speak. A representative of the government will be here in a couple weeks to iron out details. Harpo and his wife, Susan, are here for two months; then return to their Palm Springs home. She's on the school board there; he plays 15 holes in golf each morning, beginning at 7 a.m. That's right, 15 holes; the 15th, you see, is right at his front porch, so he stops there for breakfast. Lives next to the 200 acres where Walter Annenberg is building a home, five lakes and a golf course. Marx gave me a rundown on his children: Bill's written a tune, "Dust Is My Tomorrow," for a movie; Minnie (named for his mother) works on a ranch near Pomona College where she studies animal husbandry; Alec is working on a Colorado ranch; Jimmy's trying to decide between the marines and army. Goes into service any day.

"They're wonderful kids," said Harpo. "We lived for them — and it's paid off."

Like Capistrano is to the swallows, Hollywood is to the actor. Those who deserted our village or greener fields are flocking back to nest. Lauren Bacall left us at Malibu happy as a grunion.

Rex Harrison was probably more vocal than anyone when he left us way back when: "Hollywood is done for. We have no future in common, and I don't know if Hollywood has any future of its own. Its social life is one of simply incredible, preposterous boredom." But we mellow as we get on. Now Rex is delighted he's back playing opposite Audrey Hepburn (another returnee) in "Fair Lady." Must be a relief after "Cleo."

Bob Hope doesn't plan to be half safe on his first variety show for Chrysler. He has Dean Martin, Jim Garner, and Anne Bancroft ready to do their stuff on tape for the show-you'll see Sept. 27 — in color yet. Garner's suddenly become the big news among actors. The grapevine's buzzing with how funny he is in "Wheeler Dealers" and "Thrill of It All."

Rick Jason's recent marriage is all over because of what he calls "a personality clash." I asked who got custody of his dog, Buttons: "My first wife got the dog and the house, but I have a new home in Brentwood."

The Michael Lewis in "Man for All Seasons" coming to the Greek theater next Monday is the son of Dorothy Thompson and Sinclair Lewis. He plays young Henry VIII.

Behind a door marked "No Admittance — This Door Must Be Kept Locked" at the Disney studio is Walt's top secret, the reincarnation of Abe Lincoln. There sits Abe, lifesize, in the old familiar clothes down to dusty boots. When a technician pushes the right button, he begins to speak. Looks around the room with eyes you'd swear were real, using fantastic facial movements, every muscle alive. He can even shake your hand. I was flabbergasted. The fellows tell me they're working on a more advanced model that will be even better. Walt has no idea what he's going to do with Mr. Lincoln, but he'll think of something.

The grunion, a slender fish, averaging five to six inches in length, exists only in the waters off Southern California. On most Southern California beaches, be it full or new moon as the high tides occur, the grunion can be seen running on the beaches where they spawn.

Full Integration Is Impossible, Expert Declares

DENVER (UPI)—A civil rights expert said Thursday total integration of schools in large northern cities would not be the answer to the racial question.

He also said total integration was physically impossible.

Abbot Rosen of Chicago, Midwest regional director of the Anti-Defamation League and former chief of the Civil Rights Section of the U.S. Department of Justice, said many persons pushing for total integration of schools fail to recognize limitations of their goals.

"The answer to the problem is to recognize that de facto school segregation often exists because that's the way residential areas are set up," Rosen said.

"We must see to it that more school money is invested per pupil in underprivileged areas than in the middle or upper class sections. That will improve the caliber of education throughout the city."

In an address to a conference of educators at the University of Denver, Rosen said "instead of worrying about using youngsters all across the city to achieve integration, what we must do is to seek ways to improve schooling in poorer sections of the city."

THE SMOTHERS BROTHERS

Smothers Brothers Make Rapid Gain in Popularity

Since 1961, when they fairly blew the roof off the NBC studio by winning thunderous applaus from the audience and high praise from Jack Paar on his weekly TV show, the Smothers Brothers, who will follow Harry Belafonte into the Broadmoor International Theatre on the International Folk Show this week, have progressed steadily up the show business ladder.

Belafonte and his troupe will close tonight at the International Center, and there are still a few seats avaiable. Tickets for the performance and succeeding shows may be obtained at the Broadmoor International Theatre boxoffice, 634-1660.

The Smothers Brothers, African songstress Miriam Makeba and the Chad Mitchell Trio will appear at the theatre July 22 thru July 28.

To hear the Smothers Brothers' gleeful dismantling of commercialized folk music is to partake of comic hi-jinks of a high sort. On the other hand, when they apply their musical talents seriously to a song in which they believe, the result is folk singing in its most artistically satisfying sense.

Alternately singled out as brilliant satirists and equally brilliant musical performers, the Smothers Brothers have displayed both sides of their artistic ability on such highly rated television programs as the Danny Thomas Show, the new Jack Paar Show, the Merv Griffin Show and Bing Crosby's specials. They also have earned the attention and applause of patrons at such notable niteries as the Blue Angel in New York, the Casino Royal in Washingon; Freddie's in Minneapolis; the Crystal Palace in St. Louis, San Francisco's Purple Onion and the Exodus in Denver.

Coupled with their personal appearance and television success has been the emergence of their drawing power in the recording field, as indicated by their best-selling Mercury, LP, "The Two Sides of the Smothers Brothers," whose climb up the sales charts has been most gratifying.

Local Drivers Win Patrol Commendations

Martha A. Melton, 1014 Norwood Ave., and John R. Lawson, of Ft. Carson, have won State Highway Patrol commendations for safe driving. They will compete for the July award to be presented by the Denver Post and Denver U.S. National Bank.

Today, in business and industry, there are more than 25,000 pension plans covering 23 million workers.

New Arrivals Settling Into ADC Jobs

Two recent arrivals at Hq. ADC are now settling down into their new jobs at the Chidlaw Building. Maj. Gen. Paul T. Preuss and Brig. Gen. Charles R. Roadman are the two most recent additions to the Hq. ADC general officer complement.

Formerly commander of ADC's Det. 4 at L. G. Hanscom Field, Mass., Gen. Preuss will fill the position of deputy chief of staff, ADC Plans. He replaces Maj. Gen. Arthur C. Agan, who has taken the reins of the 26th NORAD Region, 26th Air Division at Hancock Field, N.Y.

A command pilot with more than 6,000 hours flying time, Gen. Preuss graduated from West Point in 1938—eighth in a class of 302.

Prior to his assignment to Hanscom Field in May, 1962, he served as the deputy director, research and development, at Headquarters USAF and also served as the military advisor to the Federal Aviation Agency.

Gen. Roadman has assumed duties as ADC's command surgeon. He arrived here from his post as director, Aerospace Medicine Office of Manned Space Flight (NASA) at Washington, D. C. He replaces Col. R. E. Switzer, who is due to retire soon.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Gen. Roadman is a graduate of Northwestern University. He has authored important papers on medicine and psychology.

In 1958, he was honored with fellowships in two organizations: the American Board of Preventive Medicine and the Aero Medical Association.

Small Planes Are Used By Solons for Tour

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Nine congressmen flew into this resort town Friday on the first leg of a three-day airplane tour.

The tour, one of them said, is to demonstrate the advantages of using small airplanes for business and pleasure travel.

Flying in small twin-engine and single-engine aircraft of the type used by businessmen across the country, the congressional group will cover 850 miles before Sunday night.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., led the party in his own Beech Bonanza.

Another object of the flight is to demonstrate the role of air travel in the development of suburbs and small communities.

Rep. Robert W. Hemphill, D-S.C., chairman of the flight, said in a statement before departure:

"Most people think of aviation in terms of the modern airliner with regular routes between major cities. We want to emphasize the use and practicality and advantages of using smaller airplanes by the private pilot for business and pleasure travel."

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Two capable actors, Cliff Robertson and Oscar winner George Chakiris, team up in the movie "633 Squadron."

Filming of the movie about the British Royal Air Force will be done in England.

Would-Be Vagrant Proves He Has Money

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Police received a complaint that an elderly man was rummaging through garbage cans Thursday night.

They rounded up Paul Peter Greco, 73, and were about to book him on a vagrancy charge when he produced:

—Two bank books showing a balance of $5,500 in savings accounts.

—A sheaf of U.S. Savings Bonds a half-inch thick and worth $22,000.

"I have all this and they pick me up for a hobo," he said .

Greco said he has saved some money each pay day since he arrived from Italy in 1927, most of it while working as a coal miner, truck driver and farmhand in West Virginia. He said he was on his way to Sacramento, Calif., to visit a nephew and work in the vineyards.

Many Dangers Presented By Unkept Swimming Pools

The widespread popularity of the home swimming pool brings with it a number of potential health and safety hazards.

Unless the homeowner gives it close attention, the backyard pool may become a neighborhood health menace, the accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies warned today.

"Pools must be kept free of scum, algae, sand, dirt, debris, murkiness and undesirable odors," the ACSC reported in a special hazards bulletin to its member insurance companies.

The ACSC strongly advises testing daily for alkalinity or acidity, and points out that kits are commercially available for this purpose.

Chlorine comes closest to satisfying the requirements of pool sanitation, but it may not be the most practical purifying chemical for the owner of the small pool. Chlorine, standard in large pool sanitation, can be harmful and even deadly to humans when it is handled by non-professionals.

If chlorine is used in the backyard pool, the ACSC urges the homeowner to seek the guidance of skilled personnel. The use of chlorine requires the installation and maintenance of certain equipment, meters, gauges, and valves. It is potentially dangerous and requires definite precautions to avoid accidents.

Some chlorine substitutes currently available on the market are effective but present marked disadvantages and require stringent precautionary measures. Bromine, for example, though a powerful sanitation agent, must be used with extreme caution. In some cases, head-to-foot protection in the form of acid-proof suits may be needed when a pool is being treated.

Iodine and iodine compounds are effective germicides, and they are far easier to handle than chlorine or bromine. Also, there is less eye irrtation and no strong odor such as given off by chlorine.

If the iodine or iodides are used, the hazards are small except for the possibility of skin burns from very concentrated iodine solutions.

The accident prevention department also reports that serious, even fatal, swimming pool accidents may result from electric shock. Wet skin offers very little resistence to the passage of an electric current, and a very small current can cause loss of muscular control and result in drowning.

The department recommends that electrical equipment — such as underwater lights and pump motors — should be given strict care and maintenance.

It a swimmer does receive an electric shock while in the pool, the power should be turned off before anyone else enters the pool. In such an emergency the initial impulse of by-standers is to save the drowning swimmer, though anyone entering the pool before the power is shut off would be similarly shocked and paralyzed.

Since the body is so sensitive to electric shock under wet conditions, the department recommends that installation of equipment should follow exactly the recommendations of the National Electrical Code.

The special hazards bulletins are prepared by the Association to help keep insurance company safety experts informed of developments in the field of accident prevention.

Amusement Park Integrated After 11-Year Struggle

BALTIMORE (AP)—An 11-year battle by Negroes for admission to Gwynn Oak Amusement Park will end Aug. 28 when owners lower racial barriers at the suburban Baltimore park and picnic grounds.

Agreement in the dispute was reached late Friday night, only hours before integrationists had planned to resume mass demonstrations.

Under the agreement, the park owners, James, David and Arthur Price, promised to end racial discrimination at Gwynn Oak Aug. 28 and to drop all charges against about 380 persons arrested in demonstrations July 4 and 7.

In return, the ad hoc committee set up for the sole purpose of integrating the 68-acre park agreed to stop demonstrations immediately.

National attention was focused on the park during the July demonstrations when many clergymen of Jewish, Protestant and Catholic faiths were arrested and charged with violating a Maryland trespass law.

The settlement was arranged by Baltimore County Executive Spiro T. Agnew in telephone negotiations Friday with both sides and with the County Human Relations Commission.

He said the agreement was a verbal one "under which the good faith of the ad hoc committee, the Price brothers and the people of Baltimore County are laid on the line."

He pledged the power of the county administration to "see that this experiment does work."

Guard Battalion Begins Wig Wag At Carson Today

Exercise Wig Wag VI will begin today under the command of Lt. Col. Hershal C. Yeargan, commander of the 140th Signal Battalion, Colorado Army National Guard. The 140th will be encamped at Ft. Carson thru July 28 for the unit's annual active duty training.

Wig Wag VI is a continuation of a series of army exercises involving the use of short distance radio communications as they would be used by combat armies in the field. Col. Yeargan commands Regular Army and Army Reserve units in this operation as well as his own National Guard unit.

A veteran of 19 years of military service, the Colonel took command of the 140th Signal Battalion in June, 1963. A native Coloradan from La Junta, he began his military service with the Army Air Force in 1941.

After a short break in service he joined the Colorado National Guard in March, 1948 and was commissioned in March, 1949.

In civilian life, Col. Yeargan is employed by the National Guard as technician program officer for the Colorado Army National Guard.

AFA Cadets Get Summer Break in Stiff Schedule

Air Force Academy basic cadets are in line for a brief but extremely welcome break from their rigorous summer training schedule.

The third annual basic cadet dining out, which provides basics with their first social contact with Air Force officers and families, is scheduled for July 27 (Saturday).

Academy officers living in base housing areas are being asked to invite two or more members of the class of 1967 into their homes. Basics will be given free time between 6 and 10 p.m. for the event.

Capt. Harvey J. Stewart, 2nd Sq. air officer commanding, is project officer of the dining out.

Originated in 1961, the dining out is designed to give future officers an insight into the life of typical Air Force member and their families.

The evening off is the first departure from the rigid training scheduled for the more than 800 members of the new class.

Swimming Tops In Carson Youth Program

Swimming is the most popular sport with 225 students in Ft. Carson's Dads Club youth program which has 46 interest areas offered for children of military in the area.

Baseball is runnerup with 125 boys making use of the mountain posts sandlots and diamonds. There are two swimming pools utilized full time also in the youth program supervised by Miss Leahe Seymour.

Physical fitness is another program being started or boys from 7 to 17 to provide trained guidance in body building.

Girls have charm and modeling classes offered.

The volunteer instructors offer talents gained from coast to coast and overseas including top schools in the United States.

The Ft. Carson Dads Club supplies sponsoring units and financial help to supplement the nominal fees charged for the various activities with the Ft. Carson Youth Center.

Presidential electors meet to cast their votes in their respective states.

You Like Boiled Peanuts? Some People Can Stand 'em

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I don't care what anybody else says about boiled peanuts, me and old Billy like them.

Me and Billy think that boiled peanuts are just about the best things a person can put in his mouth. To me and old Billy, they are plumb scrumptious.

I got kind of riled, and I imaging Billy did too, at some of the things they said about boiled peanuts on the floor of the House of Representatives this week.

But they were Yankees mostly, so a body doesn't have to pay them any attention. What does a Yankee know about good eats?

Billy, he's a congressman from Florida. Name's D.R. Mathews, but most folks call him Billy.

Brings Up Bill

He brought up this bill to exempt boiled peanuts from acreage controls. Billy explained that a boiled peanut isn't really a peanut. Billy said it's a vegetable.

"If boiled peanuts were air conditioned they would taste like artichokes," Billy told his colleagues. "If boiled peanuts were dehumidified, they would taste like swamp cabbage."

Since boiled peanuts are vegetables, Billy said a peanut farmer oughtn't to have to count them in with the rest of his peanuts under his government planting allotment.

I had a little trouble following his reasoning, but Billy put it over all right. The House passed the bill by voice vote. That Billy is a great talker.

Congressmen Act Strange

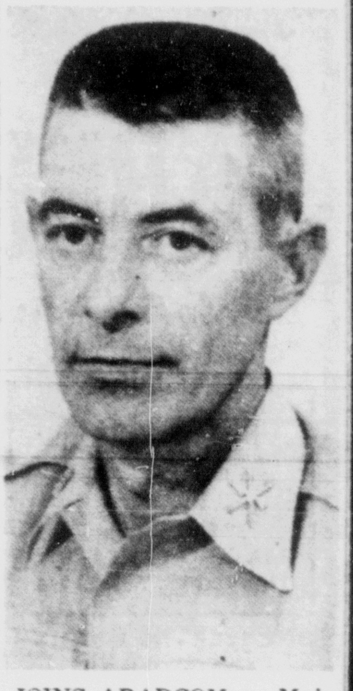
What got me was the way some of the other Congressmen acted when Billy passed around a few boiled peanuts for them to sample.

Some of them came out of the cloakrooms gagging and making faces. Rep. Harlan Hagen, D-Calif., said he fed one to a pigeon on Capitol Hill and it wouldn't eat it either.

"Many people eat these things and many survive," commented Rep. Robert Dole, R-Kan. dolefully.

If, as Gertrude Stein once wrote, "a rose is a rose is a rose," then it follows that "a peanut, is a peanut, is a peanut," Dole argued.

Shucks, if I didn't know the difference between a rose and a peanut I wouldn't admit it. The next thing you know somebody will be claiming that a rose is a vegetable, too.



JOINS ARADCOM — Maj. Robert E. Hughes, who has served in Germany since June of 1960, has been assigned to Army Air Defense Command Headquarters in Colorado Springs. He is in the Weapons and Fire Coordination Branch of the Plans Division, G-3 (Operations and Training) Section. Maj. Hughes' last assignment was as an Army surface-to-air missile officer on the staff of the U. S. Air Force, Europe, at Wiesbaden. Before his tour in Europe he served as commander of B Battery, 2d Battalion, 56th Artillery, a Nike guided missile unit of ARADCOM at Ansonia, Conn. Hughes, his wife Chris, and two children, Christine, 9, and Marsha, 7, live at 1409 Bowser Dr.

CU Receives $17,500 for Glacier Study

The University of Colorado has been awarded a grant of $17,500 by the National Science Foundation for topographically mapping Rocky Mountain glaciers with the use of photography.

Directing the 18-month project is Assoc. Prof. Donald D. MacPhail, chairman of the CU Department of Geography.

The seven glaciers to be mapped and studied are of the "drift type," which are believed to be possible indicators of climatic change. "Drift type" glaciers are those that have been created by the drifting of snow and are found below the normal areas of permanent snow fields.

The purpose of the study will be to produce accrate maps and subsequent analyses of the characteristics of each glacier, including melting and evaporation patterns.

Another goal will be to improve techniques of time-lapse aerial photography of glaciers in a single season.
